FrontLine Leadership course set

FrontLine Leadership is the title of a series of six training sessions for managers and supervisors to be offered through the Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls beginning Wednesday, January 20, at 6:30 p.m.

The sessions are scheduled for 6:30 to 10 p.m. and the series will run weekly through February 25 in room 131 at the technical college. Cost of the series is $210 per person.

Instructor will be Rich Chandler, owner of a risk management and leadership training firm. The series is said to "provide the foundation of critical core, interpersonal skills needed to succeed in almost any specialized aspect of supervising others."

Sessions will be Wednesday night except the last session, which will be on Thursday. Topics for the sessions are as follows: January 20—"FrontLine Leadership: Your Role and the Basic Principles;" January 27—"Giving Constructive Feedback;" February 3—"Getting Good Information from Others;" February 10—"Getting Your Ideas Across;" February 17—"Dealing with Emotional Behavior;" and February 25—"Recognizing Positive Results."

Co-sponsors of the series are the Small Business Development Center and the customized training division of Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Registration deadline is January 15. To register or for further details contact the Small Business Development Center at 681-5424 or 1-800-222-2884.

Chamber banquet January 16

Thief River Falls chamber of commerce will hold its 79th annual Chamber of Commerce banquet January 16 at the Eagles club in Thief River Falls.

Chamber members are asked to contact the chamber of commerce office if they plan to attend.

Theme for the annual banquet this year will be "United We'll be in '93". After a short program, members are invited to stay and enjoy an evening of entertainment with "Sparky and the Time Pirates". The program typically includes an awards presentation and turning over leadership of the chamber to the next president.

Members are asked to contact the Chamber by January 8 if they plan to attend. The cost of the banquet is $25 per person. The reception will be held at 6 p.m. with dinner following at 7 p.m.

First baby of 1993 at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls is Ryan Matthew James Thompson, born at 11:09 p.m. Saturday, January 2, to Denise Counter and Roger Thompson of Thief River Falls. He weighed seven pounds, nine and three-fourths ounces and was 20 inches long. Maternal grandparents are Jim and Marilyn Counter of Thief River Falls.

Schematic drawings approved for school

Schematic drawings for the new Thief River Falls elementary school were approved recently by the School District 564 board of education as the $10 million project enters a new year and a new design phase.

According to Larry Belmont, board chairman, a team of people representing community, staff and administration is spending many hours piecing together specifies to form a complete plan from the concept approved by voters last fall.

"The time and effort put into this building has been phenomenal," Belmont said. "Each committee member seems to have been totally involved in this plan and it shows. The school is going to be an exciting place for our district's children. It's what this school board hoped for and it's true to the plan presented to the community."

Belmont commended the work of the design group, especially its sensitivity to community input that was gathered during the more than 30 presentations on the new school in July and August, prior to the September bond election.

"Changes in the plan are really a response to questions from the community before the bond issue," the board chairman said. "One example is an activity area added to each of the 'school houses' in the complex, each of which could flex for classroom space if elementary numbers exceed current projections. The physical education space has been re-designed to better meet the needs of differently abled and specially challenged students.

"The cafeteria has become a multi-purpose space that will also provide a comfortable, easily supervised area for children to gather before and after school. The bus unloading area was also re-designed to create an unloading and loading situation for kindergarten and first grade students that is separate from the older grades."

Belmont said it has not always been smooth sailing on the project.

"The design team had some difficult issues to deal with and we were not very pleased with original soil borings at the site on south Pennington Avenue. Without the support of the neighborhood, we also would have lost the separate bus entrance on the north side of the property."

A more complete soil survey provided a much brighter picture than the initial testing did, Belmont said, and the final analysis shows the school can be constructed within budget and without changing sites. Support for street improvements on Evergreen street have allowed the district to continue a strong division of school bus and private traffic at the school site, he added.

Belmont said the design team still has to work through some classroom options as it enters the next phase, incorporating advanced technology, electrical detail, cabinetry and color into the plan.

"It's also time to begin to talk about transportation and involve community residents in a plan for new elementary routes and bus stops. He invited anyone interested in joining the transportation advisory group to contact Marcia Sandahl, administrative assistant, at 681-8711.

While the elementary plan is proceeding toward a spring construction start, a schematic drawing of comprehensive improvements at Lincoln high school is almost ready for review by the facility project steering committee and Lincoln high school group. Plans for renovation of Franklin middle school

Busy year complicates decision on top 10 stories

Every year the news staff at The Times takes it upon itself to determine the top 10 stories of the year. We feel it gives readers an opportunity to reflect on what they have accomplished, lost, argued about, or missed. We base our decision on impact and interest.

A review of this year's stories quickly confirmed suspicions that this was not a typical year. After reviewing the last three months of the year we had 10 stories that could easily have been top 10 stories.

Outside perspectives such as the ones offered by Life magazine and Midwest Living magazine portrayed Thief River Falls as a proud rural community.

Life Magazine helped improve our sense of humor by pointing out some of the more unusual events and activities in and around Thief River Falls "(pop. still 8,010)". Midwest Living presented the local chapter of the Zehlians with its Hometown Pride award. The award recognized the club's and community's Follow the River project.

If anything, the two magazines focused outside attention on Thief River Falls, generating interest in our way of living. It also caused us to reflect on what our image as a community is to the "outside" world.

Civic achievement, as with the Follow the Rivers project, were recognized last year in many ways. The local DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program graduated 200 students in its first year. A new Lake Association was formed to represent the interests of property owners along the rivers and recreational users. Community residents demonstrated their interest in forming a Civil Air Patrol chapter and eventually formed a chapter, which was quickly recognized by the state for its accomplishments.

Events, such as the 91st Pennington County Fair, the 53rd IWVA convention in July, the 43rd Dairy Day and the Thief River Falls Stampede Professional Rodeo, a first for the county, were examples of civic pride and achievement. They also had an impact on the community's economy.

Area residents also showed their civic mindedness by turning out for elections. A total of nearly 75 per cent of voters in Pennington county got out and voted in the general election. Voters also turned out for the Presidential primary and a referendum on a proposed $18 million school bond issue.

A proposal to put a sales tax issue on the ballot before residents of Thief River Falls, was approved by the state legislature. The idea, however, was later shelved temporarily in order to avoid conflict with the school bond issue and the need for refinement of proposed projects to be financed by the sales tax. No matter the eventual outcome, the issue will have an impact on the lives of residents.

How could residents forget all the construction that took place last summer. Residents and visitors to Thief River Falls watched in amazement as construction workers completed the Main street, Highway 32, project through downtown in one summer. Construction was also underway at a number of private businesses and at the Water Treatment plant. In addition, the completion of the construction of a new hangar for the aviation pro-

Donation of $1,000 was made to the Zehliens Riverwalk project at the annual Rotary club Christmas party recently. Barbara Kalinoski (right), president of the Rotary club, presented the check to Bunny Dondelinger, treasurer of the Zehliens. Funds for the donation were from the "Back to the '50's" dance sponsored by the Rotary club in October.

Pabst TRF 200 snowmobile race begins Fri.

Pabst Thief River 200 snowmobile race begins on Friday with registration and a driver's meeting at the Best Western in Thief River Falls. For the past several years, thousands of racing enthusiasts have attended the annual event in Thief River Falls. This year should be no exception.

Friday's list of events is mainly for drivers. On Saturday, however, races begin at 9:30 a.m. An interesting twist to the annual event begins at the start. That is, the race starts at the Arctco test track area. The race actually starts near the track and heads south in the ditch along Highway 32 south to Red Lake Falls where drivers travel on the Clearwater river and head towards Plummer. Eventually, the racers finish at the LaFaye Park beach area.

Tom Wang, one of the race organizers, said they are expecting as many as 125 drivers in the 1-500 division. Racers will be coming from all over. Wang said one driver from the Yukon has registered.

A purse of $24,000 is guaranteed, but it could reach $40,000 or more. Wang said the total paid out depends on the number of registrants.

Snow conditions are good, Wang said. There's plenty of snow in the ditches. The ice on the river is also pretty thick. The only concern is the expected cold temperatures. Wang said, however, the racers are used to the cold.

Admission tickets for spectators will be $5. That ticket will allow spectators to watch on both days. Parking will be in the Centennial park area and Northland Community College parking lot area again. Very few vehicles will be allowed in the ice. There will be concessions at the track.

Pro-Stock oval races on Saturday begin at 1:30 p.m. and are expected to continue until about 4 p.m. Following the races on Saturday, a driver's meeting and race reception will be held at the Best Western from 7 to 9 p.m.

Sunday's events include stock class and Kitty Cat races. Stock class registration begins at 7 a.m. Kitty cat race registration begins at 11 a.m. at the track. Following the stock class registration a driver's meeting will be held. There are seven divisions in the stock class.

Races on Sunday begin from the Neptune bridge, which is where the race began last year. Racers will finish near the LaFave park beach area.

As mentioned earlier, Kitty Cat race registration begins trackside at 11 a.m. Kitty Cat eliminations begin at 12:30 p.m. Finals for the Kitty cat race begin at 2 p.m.

Speaking Of...

Sharon LaCoursiere

...Dieting in the New Year

Many people make New Year resolutions. Very often those resolutions have something to do with losing some weight or—the bad word—DIETING.

Some people like to tell you all about their New Year resolution to lose 10 or 20 or 30 or more pounds. I bet you know a few of these people.

They came to work Monday morning just brimming over with enthusiasm about their resolution and how well they were doing on their diet. Never mind that they just started it that morning, they aren't having a bit of trouble and it is so simple to just stop eating and why doesn't everyone do it and why are there so many fat people in the country, anyway.

By Tuesday, these dieting people can't talk about anything but food. They regale you with what they ate for dinner last night and what they ate for breakfast today.

When they have told you all about every single morsel and every single calorie and every single fat gram they have taken into their bodies, and exhausted that subject, they begin to tell you what they plan to eat for lunch today, and what they will have for dinner, and what they are going to have for breakfast tomorrow, and then they tell you how they are going to prepare and cook it, and so on, and so on, and so on.

By the time we can escape from these people and their endless menus, we have heard so much about food that we are ready to run right out and devour an entire bag of chips or a dozen chocolate-covered doughnuts and gain 20 pounds ourselves.

Other people don't tell a soul about their New Year resolutions to lose weight. They are very silent about their dieting and no one notices for several days. Let me tell you a few signs that will let you know you have a dieter in your midst, whether at home or at the work place.

First of all, people who are dieting usually chew on something. Of course, people who are quitting smoking also chew on things, but you will be able to tell a dieter from a person who had stopped smoking because the dieter never chews anything with calories or fat in it. The non-smoker always chews something that is fattening. This will become obvious to anyone around him or her in a couple of weeks, which I will explain in a minute.

Anyway, I was speaking of dieting and not smoking. Dieters chew on sugar free gum or eat sugar free candies or chew peppermint toothpicks. Sometimes dieters even chew on pencils or their own fingernails.

After a couple of weeks, dieters can be differentiated from non-smokers because the clothes of dieters begin to look bigger, where the clothing of non-smokers begins to look smaller. Trust me, I've been there and I know all about this!

If you are standing near a dieter, you might hear a strange sound. Do not be afraid. It is a true fact, you know, that stomachs with nothing in them but air do grumble and mumble.

I suppose it depends on the size of the stomach, but I have heard some very loud tummy grumbles coming from people who are dieting. I have even heard these sounds coming from my own tummy.

Nothing seems to stop these grumbling tummies, either. I've tried to hold my breath or cross my arms tightly over my tummy or tighten up my muscles as best I could, but nothing seems to stop the noise.

The best thing to do with the tummy grumbles, is just to smile sweetly, look extremely startled when the noise starts, and stare at people around you. This way, whoever heard the noise will never blame you, since you are looking so surprised and startled about it and all.

Haven't you noticed how tummy grumbles kind of echo around so no one can tell where they are coming from? It is so easy to blame the sound on the next person. That is the best thing to do with tummy grumbles.

Dieting people tend to get a little crabby sometimes, too. It is best to tip-toe around them, and be extra kind to them, especially if it is getting to be near meal time. They seem to get extremely edgy right before meals.

Sometimes they are crabby after they eat a meal, too. I think that is because they are not getting much to eat except lettuce, celery and carrots.

After a few weeks, dieting people get awfully crabby if anyone near them is eating something. They glare at whoever is doing the eating, and stare a lot at the food. It is best not to eat anything with calories or fat grams near a dieter. Some of them have been known to snatch such succulent tidbits out of someone else's hands.

Dieters sniff a lot too. I don't think it is from crying. I think it is because they can sometimes catch a whiff of something tasty and this helps them feel better. A good gift for the dieter in your home or work place would be a whole variety of rich, fattening smells wrapped up in a pretty box.

Dear Readers,
Many people feel the committal is the most difficult part of the traditional funeral. It is true that nothing is more final. This is where the earthly relationship between the deceased and those who loved him comes to an end. When a family leaves the cemetery, they are painfully aware of the void now in their lives. It is an important step toward accepting the reality and finality of death.

Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Quebec man sentenced

Joel Dostie of Quebec, Canada, was sentenced in a Roseau County district court Monday for attempted murder in the second degree.

Last month, Dostie pled guilty to four charges stemming from the shooting incident that was reported on October 29. In that shooting incident Judy Borgen of rural Badger was seriously injured. Charges against Dostie, who required a French-speaking interpreter in court, originally included a charge of attempted murder in the first degree. That charge was later dismissed, but Dostie did plead guilty to attempted murder in the second degree, burglary in the first degree, aggravated robbery and assault in the first degree.

Monday, even though Dostie pled guilty to several charges he was sentenced only on the most serious offense — attempted murder in the second degree. Because the incidents involved a single behavioral incident, Dostie could only be sentenced on one charge. According to sentencing guidelines, the presumptive sentence for attempted second degree murder is 153 months. Roseau County Attorney Martin Berg, however, filed a motion to depart up from sentencing guidelines because subjective and compelling circumstances of the case justified a departure.

Ninth District Judge James Wilson granted a durational departure sentencing Dostie to 240 months (20 years), which is the statutory maximum. Dostie was given credit for time already served and transported Monday evening to the state prison in St. Cloud. Dostie was represented in court by Assistant Public Defender Brian Hardwick.

Two people injured Sun.

One person was treated at Northwest Medical Center for injuries sustained in a two vehicle accident one mile north of Thief River Falls on Sunday.

A Minnesota State patrol spokesperson said they received a report of an accident one mile north of Thief River Falls on Highway 59 at about 5:30 p.m. According to the accident report, a car driven by Lloyd Peterson, Kennedy, was going south on Highway 59 and had slowed to make a left turn onto County road 63 when a 1987 Chevrolet Wagon driven by Diane Hanson, Thief River Falls, was unable to slow in time and collided with the vehicle driven by Peterson. There was severe damage to the Peterson vehicle and moderate damage to the Hanson vehicle.

Diane Hanson complained of a sore knee, and her passenger, Wayne Hanson, 9, bumped his head on the windshield and was treated at Northwest Medical Center.

Memo To Ag Secretary: "Don't Forget Family Agriculture"

No little apprehension is being felt by the American public as it awaits a new Presidential administration in Washington. While it is true that the bureaucracy runs itself and could function quite well without an administrative branch of government, each special interest wants to know the type of treatment it will receive from the new chief administrator—in this case, an unknown quantity in former Gov. Bill Clinton.

Much of how the new President intends to function may be estimated from the people he appoints for his cabinet. And one of the appointments that will have a definite impact on rural Minnesota is the Secretary of Agriculture.

In an editorial in CA Highlights prior to the appointment of Rep. Mike Espy of Mississippi as U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, suggestions were made for consideration by whoever would get the appointment. The basic suggestion was "Don't forget family farmers and family ranchers. And don't forget rural America."

"It would at first glance seem so very obvious that family farmers, family ranchers and rural America should be one of the very top concerns of a secretary of agriculture," the editorial states. "But a person in such a position hears a lot of competing voices: Large corporate agriculture. Big agribusiness. Consumer activists. Environmentalists. Nutritionists. Anti-hunger activists. Animal rights activists. Government reformers. And probably others, too. As a matter of fact, spokesmen for some of these interests are consciously trying to play down family farm and ranch agriculture and rural America.

"They are repeatedly saying to anyone who will listen (and many who won't) all manner of things that we consider downright unfriendly: that agricultural production is such a small part of food and fiber considerations that concern about it should be de-emphasized; that family farm and ranch agriculture is an inefficient means of production; that many agricultural products are unsafe and/or unhealthy; that animal agriculture is particularly inefficient, unhealthy and brutal; that public support for agriculture is a luxury we can no longer afford; that farmers and ranchers are ruining the environment; that it is more efficient to have everyone live in urban areas; that rural areas should be turned back into wilderness, etc., etc.

"Family farmers and ranchers and rural America need a strong advocate now more than ever before. Occupational attrition in family agriculture is overwhelming and continues to gain momentum. Many rural areas are rapidly losing economic support and population and are termed by the media to be 'in a state of natural decline.'

"But this does not have to happen," the CA editorial continues. "If family farm and ranch agriculture and rural America had a really strong advocate in a U.S. Secretary of Agriculture (backed by a sympathetic President), some of the destructive dynamics could be reversed, despite pressures from many directions."

The editorial concluded that President-elect Clinton may know that family agriculture and rural America are worth saying and that he could be expected to appoint a secretary of agriculture who would do something about it.

Farm and agribusiness interests in this area will certainly be attuned to immediate actions by the President and the ag secretary early on in the new administration. Generally dissatisfied with appointees of the George Bush Presidency, they should be eager for change and easy to please.

But don't bet on it. Farming is diverse enough so that what is good for one segment is not always good for another. Perhaps the best an ag secretary can hope for is an equal degree of dissatisfaction among all factions. But we join CA in its hope that rural America is not overlooked when U.S. agricultural policy is considered in the next four years.

The Silly Season Is Still Upon Us

Just when we thought campaign politics would take a vacation for at least a few months, we find ourselves in the midst of more bickering on the Seventh Congressional District level. Rep. Collin Peterson won reelection but he, or his political party officers, must already be worrying about what is to come in the 1994 election.

Rep. Peterson won a squeaker over IR challenger Bernie Omann, but that is nothing new for this district. Winning with 50.7 per cent of the vote as Peterson did may be considered a comfortable margin in the sprawling Seventh District where close elections are the norm.

A release from Lorraine Cecil, Seventh District DFL chair, questions Omann's claim to be a farmer. "According to the (financial disclosure) report which Omann himself signed," she writes, "he doesn't live on a farm, he doesn't receive any income from farming and he is neither an owner nor a partner in any farm."

Cecil also said it is ironic that "Omann attacked so-called professional politicians in his campaign ads because his own financial disclosure shows that he has been a full-time politician his entire adult life. He was elected to his father's House seat when he was 21 and has been on the government payroll ever since."

The DFL chair said she had heard Omann was promised a government job if he ran for Congress and lost. She referred to speculation that he might be given a job in the Minnesota Department of Agriculture which would involve traveling around the state so he could campaign for 1994.

"I'm not sure the voters would appreciate Governor Carlson and the IRs setting Omann up on the government payroll in a position where he can, in effect, campaign the next election at the taxpayers' expense," Cecil said.

Taxpayers might not like it so well, but neither do we like incumbents spending their time and our money on the campaign trail instead of being about the business a majority of us elected them to perform. Further, there is nothing uncommon about positions in government going to people who are known to government officials.

In a news release responding to the Cecil questions, Omann only chides Peterson for being critical of him.

"What is Collin Peterson so worried about?" he asks. "The 1992 election is over, Peterson managed to get reelected and still his first shot out of the gun is to attack me, rather than pay attention to his responsibilities as a Congressman.

"The fact that Peterson is attacking me within weeks after the election proves a point I was trying to make throughout the campaign. Peterson's principal concern is to maintain his fancy Washington life-style, rather than deal with the real concerns of the people of the 7th District."

We called Omann at his residence at 4762 383rd Street in St. Cloud to inquire about the DFL chair's allegations. He said that he grew up on the family farm his mother still owns, his brother operates the 85-cow dairy herd and he has continued to work on the farm during the spring and fall. He said that in the past half dozen years times have been difficult for farmers hit by drought in his area and he has received no income for his work there but still considers himself to be a part of the Omann farm operation.

What is Ahead of Us?

"Aluminum, magesium and other light metals are available in undreamed of quantities. Enough aluminum already has been produced in a single year to build as many passenger cars as operated on all American railroads or seven times as much as was produced in '39. Twice as much magnesium is being produced from sea-water in a single year as our entire aluminum output in 1939. Our latest automobiles are already 20 years out of date. We shall have better, newer cars with sealed cooling systems, with power outputs per cubic inch of displacement quadrupled, with fuels yielding 50 miles per gallon. We have an aviation industry now geared to produce twice as many planes in a single year as in all the 37 years since the Wrights first flew at Kitty Hawk, giving us aerial freight cars that can lug 20 tons of pay freight to Europe and back nonstop; and airplanes towing gliders, dropping off cars here, picking them up there. Glass that is unbreakable and can float. Wood unburnable. Laminations of plastic and wood to compete with steel. Shoes without leather. Window screens with wire. Machinery without steel. High pressure synthesis of ammonia has given new producing capacity rated as comparable to a discovery of a sixth continent. Food available in great quantities, with easier effort, and with qualities possessing the power to prolong life."

Diphtheria Update

"All of the diphtheria patients are at present doing nicely, in fact much better than could be expected. There have been no new cases reported for several days and it looks as if the disease had been checked. The board of health has instituted a strict quarantine on everyone who comes in contact with a diphtheria patient and if a spread of the disease can be prevented it will die out in a week or two. Our citizens have generally been very careful to obey all instructions and every place in town has been thoroughly disinfected and cleaned. At present none of the patients are reported dangerous and all stand a good chance to recover. The trouble is not yet over however and all should take every precaution to prevent the disease from spreading."

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Looking Backward

A new year means looking forward to a new year and backward to the year just completed. It is sometimes fun to help your child keep a sense of time by looking over the last year together. You can remember and discuss things that happened that were important such as birthdays, trips and family celebrations. It is sometimes very interesting that the events that we as adults look at as important may not be the same as your child may remember.

Then draw a picture of some of the events. When your child finishes, write down what he or she thought about or portrayed in the drawing. Be sure to date the drawing. These may become some of those "treasures" that you save and share at a later date.

(Contributed by Discovery Place child care center.)

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need butcher paper and crayons or markers.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through the wide assortment of books for preschoolers that it has including the following:

Carlstrom, Nancy White. Rose Marie. Rose Marie is not so sure she likes having to deal with a baby sister. Then something happens and Rose Marie realizes having a sister means having one more person to love you.

Winter, Jeanette. Klara' New World. A Swedish family faces many hardships when they immigrate to America in search of a better life. A short segment at the end describes immigration in the 1880's and is a good way to begin conversations with children about grandparents or great-grandparents who immigrated to America. Since Klara and her family settled in Minnesota, children from our area will feel a kinship to the types of conditions Klara describes.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Thief River Falls library has a number of great Walt Disney video cassettes available for check-out including:

The Jungle Book. Based on the Rudyard Kipling series, The Jungle Book is the tale of Mowgli, an orphan boy raised by wolves, who is encouraged by his animal friends to leave the jungle before the return of the fearsome man-eating tiger, Shere Khan. Fun for the entire family.

PARENTING TIPS

Cabin Fever

Cabin fever, what is it? It is a term we use in northern Minnesota to describe what can happen to us during the long cold winter. As the weather gets colder and colder we go out less and less and only when we have to. Especially when you have small children. This means we are probably getting less exercise, less fresh air and less interaction with other people. The end result is often short tempers, depression and family members who "get on each other's nerves."

Cabin fever is very preventable. With a little thought and planning people of all ages can spend a very enjoyable winter. As you plan your time, keep the following in mind.

- Physical exercise is important and possible without going outdoors.
- A balanced diet helps everyone to feel better.
- Mental stimulation is important for all ages. This may include spending time with other people. We adults need friends and so do our children.
- On the days you don't have to leave the house, you may be tempted to forget all about your regular routines. This could be a mistake. Young children usually function better if schedules are kept fairly regular. Try to keep all meal times and nap times the same ever day.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about something you plan to do in the future. It could be later today or next week. This helps children to prepare by knowing what to expect.

Strandquist Community News

F. Myrtle Vagle

The Strandquist Senior Citizens are taking time off for the holidays after several months of meetings and working together on quilts, etc. The snow and cold up here in northern Minnesota is very conducive to keep older people at home around the fire. This is the time we get a good look at our Christmas presents and determine where will be the best place to hang or store them. It also takes time to look at all the "Rockwell pictures" on the new calendars and find all the names and birthdays of friends and relatives on the local Birthday calendar. Unless you mark in red ink the ones you have to remember, there are some that will be late getting their cards or gifts.

Earl and Ebba Sihlberg says it isn't too bad to be older folks as UPS and U.S. Mail has been busy bringing them "goodies" galore, after reading about Ebba's dilemma this last summer in the Life magazine, when a horde of potato bugs tried to take over her garden. It isn't funny when you have babied a dozen tomato plants, and can only hope for one "BLT." But even one from the garden right now sounds heavenly. Other folks who brought "goodies" and food for Christmas dinner were Janice Borowicz of Stephen, LaVol Thun, Gene Kleinvachter, Donna Donarski, Donovan and Kelly and children, and the church folks.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

How to commit your ways to the Lord

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

One should continually remind himself that Jesus Christ said His Ways are easy and very pleasant (Matt. 11:30).

Jesus Christ says one must have the mind of a child to understand His true message (Matt. 11:25). A child is teachable, correctable, willing to change, and willing to admit he's been wrong about many things (Mark 10:15). One must have this attitude to enter the kingdom of heaven (Matt. 18:3-4; 19:14). With this attitude of a child, then, let the mind be in you that is in Jesus Christ (Phil. 2:5; Eph. 5:10).

Jesus always did things to please the Father (John 8:29). The words that came from His mouth were, as it were, the Father's. We are to do the same (1 Peter 4:11; Col. 3:8, 10; Eph. 4:29). Whatever is good, peaceable, respectable, admirable and uplifting, we are to think on these things (Phil. 4:8-9). We are not to have a tongue that says good things one minute and bad things the next. Instead, we are to use it for good all the time (James 3:9-10).

By practicing these Scriptures in our daily walk with God, we will be committing our minds and tongues to Christ. Remember, we must be diligent and zealous, and we must persevere in order to make headway.

Now the only thing left is to get the body to zealously do good for God (1 Peter 3:13). Remember, doing good is how God is glorified (Matt. 5:16). It is how He is well pleased (Heb. 13:16). Doing good for God's glory is His Will and the Way He wishes to be spiritually worshiped (Heb. 13:21; Rom. 12:1-2).

Ask yourself, "Have I ever been weary in doing good for God?" (Gal. 6:9, 2 Thess. 3:13). If you have, you will know that you are in the process of committing your ways to the Lord (1 Peter 3:11; 1 Tim. 4:7). If not, then it's time to begin.

These are just a few of the hundreds of photographs that appeared in the pages of The Times during the past year. They include pictures from touching features, such as the feature on heart transplant recipient Gary Rux and tiny CeJae Peterson. They also show people at work and at play. Each picture evokes emotion and is a small snapshot or slice of life in our community.

Busy year complicates decision on top news stories

gram at the Technical College at the regional airport was recognized at a ceremony, dedicating the hangar to Lowell and Marge Swenson.

Speaking of dedications, the new sports arena will no longer be referred to as the new arena. The facility, which is over 20 years old, was dedicated to Huck Olson, a former sports reporter for The Times. The sports arena is now known as the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. The same person who helped make the dedication possible with a $20,000 contribution, Ralph Engelstad, owner of the Imperial Palace in Las Vegas, NV, also contributed $180,000 for a new farm machinery storage and display building at Pioneer Village.

As the year came to a close, readers learned that Gary Rux had received a new heart. Rux's need for a heart transplant was made known in the pages of The Times for the past two years. His recovery from the successful operation was also reported. Other "heartening" stories recorded among the pages of The Times included:

- A story about the Vigstol boys building a house for their mother in Plummer;
- A story about a successful kidney operation for Troy Carlson;
- And a story about tiny CeJae Peterson. CeJae, the daughter of Neil and Brenda Peterson, weighed just under two pounds at birth on June 2. A fighter, she came home August 23 at nearly four and one-half pounds and has been gaining weight and strength steadily.

Gambling came to Thief River Falls this year. A proposal by the Red Lake band of Chippewa last year to start a casino in Thief River Falls was turned down and seemed a dead issue after the Governor issued a statement declaring his intent not to approve any more applications. The Red Lake band of Chippewa, which already had approval for gambling facilities, located reservation property outside of Thief River Falls in the fall. The casino, called River Road Casino, opened in December. In between that time the Mahnomen Shooting Star Casino opened.

Thief River Falls and the surrounding area had their share of problems during the year:

- Cool temperatures and rainfall slowed harvest in August;
- The city's liquor store manager resigned in October;
- A Thief River Falls attorney was disbarred and sentenced for thefts;
- The state lifted the license of the ambulance provider;
- Hartz Foods closed its downtown store in Thief River Falls and announced cuts in salaries and benefits at its warehouse; and,
- The Pennington county sheriff retired at the age of 39.

How could the news staff of The Times evor decide on the top 10 stories of the year? Wo couldn't decided on a top 10. We did decide on a top four, however. They are as follows:

1. Highway 32 reconstruction project because of the disruption in our lives, the interest it generated and especially because of how fast it was completed.

2. Voters in School District 564 approved of a nearly $18 million bond issue that would provide for, among many things, one elementary school for all elementary school students. While construction hasn't begun, there was a great deal of interest in tho bond issue and it will have an impact in our lives.

3. During the general election, nearly 75 per cent of registered voters turned out at the polls to vote. Among the reasons, other than the presidential election, were the local races for county commissioner. Because of redistricting that took place last year, all of the county commissioner seats were on the ballot.

4. The interest in area casinos resulted in a number of articles. Residents were interested in reading about where they were being built, how they were approved and what they would do to the economy. What impact they will have, will be determined years from now, but in the wake of construction, new businesses, such as charter limousines and buses have cropped up and others have been strengthened.

Three accidents reported to Mon.

Minnesota state patrol responded to three accident reports near Thief River Falls on Monday, January 4.

At 9:10 a.m. the state patrol received a report of a one vehicle roll over. The vehicle, a 1990 Plymouth wagon, owned by David Mark Paulson of Goodridge, was involved in the accident. The vehicle was west bound on Highway 1 when it rolled in the ditch. No damage amount was available. There were no injuries.

At 11:55 a.m. the state patrol received a report of a two-vehicle accident at Highway 59 and Barzen avenue in Thief River Falls. According to the report, a 1992 Ford Explorer driven by Kevin William Hatfield, 31, Bemidji, was stopped facing south on Barzen at Highway 59 when a 1980 Chevrolet pickup driven by John Walter Hamberg, 77, Strathcona, was traveling west on Highway 59. Hamberg tried to avoid a third vehicle, swerved and his vehicle collided with the Hatfield vehicle.

Damage to each vehicle was considered light.

At 7:27 p.m. the state patrol received a report of an accident at the intersection of Highway 59 and County road 7. According to the accident report, a 1982 Plymouth wagon driven by Eric James Oakland, 21, Thief River Falls, had just turned off county road 7 and onto Highway 59 when a car traveling north on Highway 59 and driven by Stacy Lynn Lambert, 16, Thief River Falls, collided with vehicle driven by Oakland.

Damage was considered moderate to both vehicles. There were no injuries. Charges are under investigation.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

The year 1993 has been with us now for a few days. This new year surprised me. I was still celebrating Christmas when I found myself in a new year! This is the time of year when resolutions are made by us. Did you make any resolutions this year? As this new year surprised me, I didn't make any resolutions, but I did some thinking about resolutions.

I have concluded that resolutions are first of all made to be broken. It's a rare person who actually keeps his New Year's resolutions. I know that if I resolve to lose weight, or exercise more, or read more, or be more kindly, I will most certainly decide that another cookie would be great, or it's too cold to exercise, or I don't have time this week to read, or that person is really to nasty to treat kindly.

So, what use are the resolutions we make?

The answer to that came in the form of the first spring gardening catalog which arrived in my mailbox early in this new year. Resolutions are like garden catalogs in the middle of winter—both give us hope. Both nurture dreams.

Resolutions may be broken by us, but in the actual making of a resolution, we dare a bit to dream. We can dream of what we would look like if we lost those extra pounds. We can dream of how great we would feel if we exercised. We can dream of how relaxed we might feel if we took the time to read more. We can dream of a better world in which everyone treats each other more kindly.

Garden catalogs also help us to dream. In the bleak of winter, to dream of gorgeous flowers and wonderful vegetables is a treat. In the bleak of winter these garden catalogs give us hope that surely someday the ground will once again be warm enough to let a seed grow.

This next year, I am hoping for a better producing garden than I had this past year. I can dream of just the right amount of sunshine and rain. I can also hope with a bit of confidence that my dreams for a beautiful garden will come to be because I know that this past summer and fall I did all that I knew how to do to help better my next summer's garden. I enriched the soil and started a compost pile. I weeded. Both of these are basics for preparing a good garden. My hope for a better garden is a hope founded on action that I have taken. So, as I dream of the gorgeous gardens I could produce, I can dream with a bit of confidence.

Resolutions are a bit like gardens. We can dream and hope that the things we resolve to do better will actually come to be. But, without acting upon our dreams and without preparing ourselves to be able to fulfill our resolutions, the resolutions die as if they were never dreamed.

The dreams and hopes we all have are often forgotten. But we all do cherish some dreams more dearly than others. For those dreams we cherish we can also attempt to accomplish. We may not fulfill our dreams, but without dreams, without hope, without a vision, our lives would be fairly dull.

Our nation is at the beginning of a new political era. A new Congress and a new President are soon to be taking their places in Washington. Dreams and hopes are currently rampant among these new lawmakers. Accomplishing these dreams will take hard work. Not daring to dream is when a nation stagnates. Not daring to dream is also when a person stagnates.

Early in this 1993, dare to dream, dare to hope. May you all have a wonderful New Year.

Say What?!

By Karmen Lee Ortloff

Writing a column every week is not easy. In fact, if there is such a thing as hell on earth, this is it.

I am always desperate for stories; anything to write about. I will go to anyone for ideas for stories. My mom is a pretty good source. Other people give me advice too. Most often, however, I haven't asked for it. I appreciate these suggestions, but some are just not things that I...how should I put it? They're not things that I feel I would be able to do justice to in a column. (Got out of that one pretty good, huh?)

For instance, one lady whirled me around in the grocery store the other day and said, "Are you the one who writes those articles?"

I was more than a little hesitant; after all, perhaps she was offended by the piece I wrote on turkey bingo. You never can tell. "Ummm, yes. Yes I am." What could she possibly do to me? After all, I was in the grapefruit section. Any sudden moved on her part and I would wollop her with a papaya.

"If you don't write them, then who does?"

I was confused. "No, I'm the one who writes them."

"Well! Why didn't you say that in the first place?" (Where was that papaya?) "I have a story for you to write. Write about how hard it is for people to live on $425 a month. How am I supposed to raise a family on $425 a month?" she continued.

"I really don't know, you see, I don't exactly have a family that I have to raise. Furthermore..."

"Don't interrupt me child." (Yikes!) "I have bills to pay; I have to send my son to..."

"As much as I appreciate the suggestion, my column isn't usually about things like that."

"Well that's the trouble with children today. They just don't care about the social injustices going on in the world today."

She continued for several minutes, creating a little tussle. Meanwhile, I couldn't get to that papaya because she blocked me. The lady was tricky.

Grant you, not all the suggestions are that serious and most of the people I meet are not that...passionate...about their suggestions. In fact, some suggestions have nothing to do with big issues at all.

"I think that you should write about peanut butter and jelly."

"Peanut butter and jelly?" I manage to stutter.

"Ya! You could write about how you have to go through a ritual. First you have to spread a thin layer of peanut butter, then you have to pile on the jelly and then..." Thank-you so much for the suggestion. However, again, I don't feel I could do justice to such a sacred event like sandwich making. I just don't have the talent required.

I appreciate all the suggestions. in fact, if anyone has anything they would like to see me write about, drop me a line!

I don't recommend that you send it to my house (besides, I'm not going to say where I live—a sad result of the turkey bingo thing) and I don't recommend that you attack me from behind in a supermarket (I might toss up my cookies—it's stress from college applications), but everyone knows where The Times office is. My suggestion is to send it there (they will love me down there not).

I will pick up my hopefully abundant supply of letters and read them all. If I use your letter on the air you will receive a free copy of the latest self-help book entitled... oops! Sorry! I suddenly had a Magic 96 flashback!

Actually, if I get a suggestion that is really helpful to me, then I'll give you credit (unless, of course, it's so good that I just decide to take all the credit myself).

By the way, you can also settle a little disagreement I have with a certain member of my family who says that no one reads this column. I say they do, she says they don't. So, if you have a comment, hopefully good, write to me at: The Times, 324 Main Ave., North Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Please refrain from negative comments. First of all, they hurt my feelings. Secondly, this does not help me in my creative process at 10:30 p.m. Sunday night when I usually write. Lastly, I am not going to fly off to the planet (—bad word—), so just stop sending me one-way tickets!

Editor's Note: Karmen is facing what all columnists experience from time to time...writer's drag. Come on, you would-be columnists, help her out of her dilemma. Take the best ideas you have and make a few suggestions. Send them to the address listed and we'll see to it that she gets your help. Thanks.)

INSURANCE Update

PREPARING FOR A LOSS

Anyone who purchases property insurance should go through the exercise of assuming that he will have a total loss.

1) By documenting every item (including its value), one is put in a better position to file a claim, should the need arise.

2) Policyholders should pay particular attention to the "exclusions" section of their policies.

3) Anyone who is faced with the prospect of filling out a claim form should enlist the aid of their insurance agent when doing so. Incorrect completion of the form could deter you from collecting the full amount to which you are entitled.

NORTHERN STATE AGENCY offers you service, understanding, and experience in the world of insurance. As an independent agency, we will work with you in assessing your protection needs. Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys basketball...

Gators win TRF title

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River beat Kittson Central 65-59, Clearbrook/Gonvick 74-64 and Fertile-Beltrami 69-50 to win championship honors in Thief River Falls tenth annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament Dec. 28-30.

Defending Section 8A champion Clearbrook/Gonvick, an 88-64 first round winner over host Thief River Falls, bounced back from the semifinal loss to beat Argyle 58-50 in overtime for third place.

"We were very pleased with our performance," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "We struggled a little bit the first day, but we played as good a basketball game as we're capable of playing at this time of the year against Clearbrook/Gonvick. It was a very high-intensity game – and probably as good a basketball as you'll see in Minnesota for this early in the year."

The first-year Gators had a bit of a letdown after the win over the Bears and found themselves trailing Fertile-Beltrami by 10 points in the second quarter of the Wednesday finals before coming back to take charge in the third quarter.

The three-game sweep put the Gators at 5-0 for the year. "It's coming together better than I thought it would," acknowledged Sparby. "We played some good defense in all three tournament games, and we had good balance on offense."

Marshall County Central dropped a first round 58-52 decision to Argyle, but rebounded with wins over Roseau 55-51 and Kittson Central 59-50 for the consolation title. The Nordics are 3-3 for the year.

"We were pretty pleased with our overall tournament," noted Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "I felt we played better every time out. It's hard not to lose something playing three tough games in a row like that, but we came out and got the job done."

The Nordics' first two games were close and could have gone either way, pointed out Ueland, whose team gained an early edge and maintained control in the consolation final against Kittson Central.

"We think we've made some progress," offered Ueland. "We're playing much better defensively. We've got some things to work on offensively, but we'd be worried if we were playing perfect basketball at this point. We think we'll be in every game. People will have to be ready to play us."

Thief River Falls went 0-3 with the first round loss to Clearbrook/Gonvick, a 54-47 consolation semifinal defeat at the hands of Kittson Central and a 63-49 seventh place game setback against Roseau. The Prowlers are 0-6.

"We played all right at times," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke, "but we've got to cut down on our turnovers and fouls. We made a lot of mental mistakes which led to the turnovers, and we're giving teams way too many free throw opportunities. We've got to cut down on the number of fouls we commit, and we've got to be more aggressive offensively to draw some fouls and get some free throws ourselves."

The Prowlers could also do a better job on the boards, explained Brekke. "We've giving up too many offensive rebounds," he noted. "Rebounding is just hard work and positioning. You have to make up your mind that you want the ball."

With Detroit Lakes, East Grand Forks, Fergus Falls and Warren all coming up in the next two weeks, the schedule will not be getting any easier for the struggling Prowlers.

"We really need a win," admitted Brekke. "That would solve a lot of our problems. The kids are starting to feel the pressure. They sometime try to do too much. They're playing hard, but they're just not playing real smart basketball right now."

Moorhead forward Ryan Kraft put the puck past Thief River Falls goalie Eric Dowers for one of his four goals in the Spuds' 13-3 Saturday night high school hockey win over the Prowlers.

Spuds drill Prowlers 13-3

Moorhead might have to take a back seat to Bloomington Jefferson at the state level, but the Spuds showed they have every intention of maintaining their No. 1 status in Section 8 high school hockey Saturday with a 13-3 rout of Thief River Falls at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Second to Jefferson in the 1992 Tier I state tournament, the Spuds are currently ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press state poll – behind the Jaguars, who beat them 7-2 in in the finals of the prestigious Met Center Classic completed Tuesday.

While nobody has come close to beating Jefferson this winter, the Spuds showed why they are considered the best of the rest with an overpowering effort against a Thief River Falls team that was expected to be one of the top challengers to Moorhead's Section 8 championship reign.

It was the most goals scoring against a Thief River Falls varsity hockey squad since a 13-5 defeat at the hands of Warroad during the 1976-77 season, and was the most lopsided defeat for the Prowlers since a 12-0 drubbing by Roseau in 1987-88.

The blow-out featured a 4-goal, 2-assist night by Ryan Kraft, two goals and two assists for John Haberlach, two goals and an assist for both Josh Arnold and Justin Wegner, a goal and two assists by Matt Cullen, three assists from Rob Gramer, plus single goals by Ryan Frisch and Louis Paquin. The Spuds out-shot the Prowlers 37-20 while scoring two shorthanded goals and once on the power play.

"They're a great club," said Thief River Falls coach Glenn Chiodo in assessing the Spuds' power. "They do so many things well. They beat us in every phase of the game. It takes a supreme effort on your part to beat a team like that, and obviously that didn't happen. We just got beat by a better team, that's all."

After early Thief River Falls pressure was turned aside by several eye-opening saves by Moorhead goalie Troy Brekke, the Spuds took over. It started with Kraft slipping a soft shot under Thief River Falls goalie Eric Dowers at 4:04, and then included a three-goal burst in 3:37 – Haberlach slamming home a centering pass at 6:31, Haberlach putting one through Dowers' pads at 9:20, and Arnold finishing off a Moorhead rush at 10:08.

Kraft bounced one off the goalie at 13:22 for a 5-0 spread before a slap shot from the point by Thief River Falls defenseman Brent Kleinvachter caught a screened Brekke by surprise with just nine seconds left in the first period.

Fourteen of Brekke's 17 saves came in the first period.

"I really don't know if we would have beat them, but we had some excellent scoring chances early, and didn't cash in," pointed out Chiodo. "Then they came down and scored. It was a real momentum thing at that point. If you're going to have a chance to pull it off, you have to have those early chances go in for you."

Trevor Haugen was brought to face the Moorhead shooters to start the second period, and he was met by an Arnold slap shot from the point at the three-minute mark that made it 6-1 – while the Spuds skated shorthanded.

Brekke was taken out on a scramble around the Moorhead net and the Prowlers' Carter Rogalla put the puck into the open target at 6:17. But the Spuds got that one back just 44 seconds later as Frisch finished off a neat-looking passing display with a goal mouth flip.

It really got out of hand when Wegner scored a controversial goal at 8:48, Kraft put his own rebound into the net at 9:56, Wegner beat Haugen with a long ice-hugging power play slap shot at 10:44, Paquin got into the scoring act at 11:06, and Cullen polished off a 3-on-2 rush at 13:29 to make it a head-shaking 12-2 by the time the second intermission arrived.

Kraft scored again just 1:25 into the third period and Thief River Falls finished the scoring when Rick Ostby was set up in front at 10:24.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 5-6 for the year heading into a Tuesday (Jan. 5) trip to Roseau and continued the season-long win-lose-win-lose pattern that has kept them at or below the .500 mark all winter.

TRF girls go 1-2 at Brainerd

Three consecutive match-ups against North Sub-Section 8AA opponents await the Thief River Falls girls as the Prowlers begin the 1993 portion of their 1992-93 high school basketball season.

The upcoming draws include a Thursday night make-up game at Fergus Falls, a Saturday trip to Moorhead and a Tuesday assignment at home against Bemidji.

Thief River Falls is 3-5 for the year after winning one of three starts in the Dec. 28-30 Brainerd Holiday Invitational.

"We're just not shooting a high enough percentage to win on a consistent basis," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse, whose team dropped a 64-38 first round game to No. 1-rated Brainerd, held off Proctor 44-43 in the consolation semifinals, but lost to Hopkins 51-44 in the consolation finals. "We're not putting four quarters of good, solid basketball together."

Lori DeLap led the Prowlers with 15 points, while Amy Adams had a 14-point, 10-rebound game.

Lokstad, a 5-6 junior, was 13-for-18 from the field as the Nordics improved their record to 3-4. It was their first game since Dec. 15.

"You can't say enough about Sara," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "She was unstoppable."

Mjelde was also happy with the Nordics' supporting cast, including the 1992-93 debut by 5-10 senior Sandy Gustafson.

DNR News

Minnesota has developed one of the most successful and well-known Nongame Wildlife Programs in the United States since the beginning of the checkoff in 1980. Many other states have patterned their state nongame wildlife programs after Minnesota's example, Henderson noted.

Minnesota's Nongame Wildlife Program currently has more than 100 conservation projects and activities underway. They include efforts to help many species like wood turtles, bald eagles, peregrine falcons, common terns, piping plovers, trumpeter swans and dozens of other species.

The program has accomplished this on a tight budget, however, according to Henderson. Donations this year will not reach the $1 million funding goal.

"Reasons for the decline are apparently a combination of economic conditions and a lower percentage of persons who receive tax refunds," Henderson said. "People are more willing to donate when they have a refund coming."

So far, the average donation is $7.02, but only 5.9 percent of all Minnesota taxpayers are making donations, Henderson said.

Nongame programs in other states have had similar experiences, according to Henderson. "After several years of increases in tax checkoff donations, the checkoff income undergoes a gradual decline and becomes inadequate as a sole source of support for nongame management and research. We are studying additional funding methods."

Henderson said conservationists who would like to donate directly to the Nongame Wildlife Checkoff may send donations to the DNR.

Snowmobile races held in bitter cold

Some of racing's best participated in the Pabst Thief River 200 held Saturday and Sunday in Thief River Falls. One of the last events in the race was the pro-stock oval races. Bitter cold temperatures didn't keep racers and racing fans away from the tracks. In addition to the bitter cold, racers also had to overcome fading light and snow crystals which formed into dust clouds as racers roared around curves in the track. The overall winner in the pro-stock division was Eric Loge.

Despite the bitter cold, race organizers believe last weekend's Pabst Thief River 200 was a success.

Race organizers had hopped for 100 entries in the pro-stock division. There were only 84, but that still represents a significant increase over the number entered last year.

Most of the racers participating in the events held last weekend seemed prepared for the bitter cold. However, there were a number of racers who were treated for frost bite. Race organizers were also prepared for the bitter cold. They had set up a warm up tent for racers in LaFave park. Race organizers also allowed spectators to park in Red Robe park where they could get a view of the oval track and cross country finish.

This year's winner, Eric Loge of Brainerd, won $12,730 in cash and contingencies, and a trophy so big that it will probably require a new addition to his home. The successful race was made possible by a large number of sponsors. One of the featured races, the Dash for Cash, was sponsored by Commercial Sewing.

Sunday evening, the awards presentation was held at the Best Western. Winners in each division are as follows:

Homestead application cards due

Homeowners in Pennington, Marshall, Red Lake and other area counties can avoid massive property tax increases by filling out and returning the 1993 homestead application cards they received in the mail recently, according to county assessors in the three counties.

Pennington county taxpayers are to return their application cards by this Friday, January 15, according to county assessor Gerard DeHaan. In Red Lake county, assessor Nancy Amberson also has requested that application cards be returned by January 15. Marshall county assessor Bob Hansen has asked for return of cards in his county by January 31.

Neglecting to complete the 1993 homestead application by the date indicated on the application could result in 1993 property tax bills that may more than double homeowners' property taxes. For example, the owner of a $60,000 home that does not have the homestead classification will pay an average of $1,125 additional property taxes than if the property were classified as homestead. The owner of a $90,000 home will pay an extra $1,400 in property taxes without the homestead classification.

January is the month when all Minnesota assessors send out homestead application cards to nearly one million Minnesota homesteads that qualify to receive the homestead property classification.

To qualify for the homestead property tax classification, homeowners must meet the following criteria:

- own the property in which they live on January 2, 1993;
- have the property as their primary residence; and
- be a Minnesota resident.

A new state law also extends the homestead classification to homes that are not occupied by the owner but are the primary residence of a qualified relative of the owner.

Qualified relatives include the owner's child, stepchild, daughter- or son-in-law, parent, stepparent, father or mother-in-law, grandchild, grandparent, brother, sister, brother- or sister-in-law, aunt, uncle, husband or wife. The qualifying relative also must be a Minnesota resident and live on the property on January 2 of the year in which the homestead application was made.

Seasonal-recreational property occupied by qualified relatives as their primary residence does not become eligible for the homestead classification until 1995.

Under a new 1992 state law designed to help county govern-

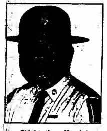
Captain Lynn Daniels



Chief Anthony Kozojed

Kozojed gets transfer back to TRF office

Anthony Kozojed, a native of Thief River Falls who has been serving as Chief of the Minnesota State Patrol, will be returning to Thief River Falls next week as Captain in the state patrol office in Thief River Falls.

Kozojed will replace Capt. Lynn Daniels who is being assigned to direct the state patrol office in St. Cloud. Both assignments are effective Monday, January 18.

Daniels has served as a state patrol officer in Thief River Falls for 16 years, the last 11 as Captain. He said he had requested and anticipated a transfer but did not expect it until May or June.

Kozojed was appointed Chief of the state patrol in January of 1991 by Ralph Church, Minnesota Commissioner of Public Safety. The Chief and Assistant Chief serve at the pleasure of the commissioner.

Since Kozojed's appointment the department has had three commissioners. Kozojed told The Times this morning that Commissioner Michael Jordan, who was appointed by Gov. Arne Carlson December 15, informed him about 11 a.m. Monday that he was putting together a new team in the department and that he would be assigned to head the Thief River Falls district office. He said he was unaware of the change until informed by the Commissioner on Monday.

Kozojed began his career in law enforcement with the Thief River Falls police department in February of 1963, serving here until July of 1967. In October of 1967 he was assigned with the state patrol to the Warren station and served there until October of 1979 when he was assigned to Marshall.

In August of 1984 he left Marshall to return to Thief River Falls and in July of 1990 he became Captain in charge of the district office in Detroit Lakes. He had served there for six months when appointed to the position of Chief of the state organization.

"I had expected to be in the state position for four years," Kozojed told The Times, "because the Commissioner of the department usually serves during the term of the Governor and I would serve at the pleasure of the Commissioner. When the Commissioner leaves, you lose your advocate."

Kozojed said he had no direct input into his assignment to Thief River Falls since it was part of the announcement he received on Monday. In earlier casual conversation in the department, however, he had mentioned that if at some time he would be reassigned he hoped it would "be up north."

He said that his assignment and that of Capt. Daniels were part of about half a dozen assignments made to various offices in the patrol Monday.

The assignment of Kozojed to the Thief River Falls office quells some of the uncertainty of the future of the state patrol office here. Had Capt. Daniels left his position here without a successor assigned, there was the possibility the office could have been consolidated with the Detroit Lakes office rather than a promotion made within the patrol for a Captain to serve here.

Kozojed said he and his wife Sharon will be moving to Thief River Falls when he can make arrangements for the lease on his apartment and take care of other matters in the Twin Cities.

Drug investigation results in arrests

An investigation that began in Thief River Falls has resulted in arrests and seizures in Elk River, MN, and San Bernadino, CA. Four people in Thief River Falls have been arrested and 46 grams of methamphetamine confiscated.

On Friday law enforcement officials announced that the Thief River Falls police department had received information about a quantity of schedule III control substance arriving at a local Thief River Falls residence. A search warrant was obtained and executed. Individuals were then brought in for questioning and subsequently two additional search warrants were obtained for residences in Thief River Falls and Sanders township and additional individuals brought in.

Police in Thief River Falls sought the assistance of law enforcement for a combined effort. The Pennington county attorney's office, Thief River Falls police department, Pennington county sheriff's department, Bureau of Criminal Apprehension and Paul Bunyan Task force all participated in the investigation.

Monday morning in Thief River Falls, it was announced that four individuals had been arrested: Kenneth Gordon Matthew, 34, Thief River Falls; Keith Allen Matthew, 32, Thief River Falls; Vicki Hutchinson, 18, Thief River Falls; and Kay Lynn Richter, 30, Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said he isn't sure whether the individuals arrested will be charged in federal court or state court. The individuals arrested were released pending the filing of formal charges.

A total of 46 grams of methamphetamine was confiscated. One gram of methamphetamine has a street value of $120. Street value methamphetamine may be cut (diluted) from its pure state. The methamphetamine confiscated in Thief River Falls is believed to be in a pure and uncut state.

As a result of information obtained in Thief River Falls information was provided to officials in Elk River. According to law enforcement in Thief River Falls, Wright County officials conducted their own investigation and confiscated one ounce of methamphetamine and one pound of marijuana. In the process, two individuals were arrested and a house confiscated.

As a result of information obtained in Thief River Falls and

Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . We are all Hardy Souls

So, what about the weather? If all else fails, people who live in northern Minnesota have always got something to talk about. In fact, doesn't just about every conversation you have with someone nowadays begin with the weather and how cold (-30) or how warm (0 or even -1 through -10) it is?

I recently heard a comment from someone who doesn't live in this area that has caused me to ponder the cold weather situation and reevaluate why I live here. They said they really think we (up here) must be hardy people, daring to live in this part of the country.

Perhaps the person was just being tactful. Perhaps if I substitute the word, "stupid," for "hardy," that may be what they really thought of us (up here).

Nonetheless, the statement has stuck with me and was somewhat a comfort through last weekend's minus double digit temperatures. I've been smiling a little pie-faced smile thinking of myself as a "hardy soul." (Certainly better than a wimp, isn't it?)

I took a drive through town last weekend and looked at all of the other people driving along (or at least what I could see of them through their face masks, scarves, hoods, and other necessary cold weather gear) and thought, "Oh, yes, what hardy souls we are," and smiled my little pie-face smile to myself.

Actually, when it comes down to it, not only are we hardy people, but we drive hardy cars. On my little drive I saw that exhausts were smoking, sometimes completely obliterating the vehicle itself, as well as other vehicles around, motors were grinding and chugging, but I saw that (most of) our hardy cars rolled on. It seemed like a miracle that they actually started in the minus 30 some degree temperatures.

Every winter about this time I usually start to wonder why I live here. Why do I subject myself to temperatures that can freeze exposed skin in a minute, when the air is so cold that it doesn't even snow, when every step I take or every time the car tires turn the snow squeaks and creaks with the cold like stepping on an old staircase, when frost forms on the inside of face masks and noses and whitens eyelashes and eyebrows, when the inside of my car never warms up to anywhere near the temperature inside of my refrigerator, when I must dress like an Eskimo and never stand still in one place for more than a minute lest I freeze?

This year I have a little consolation when the temperatures drop and drop and drop. Yes, I can smile my little smile and feel special because I am a hardy person sticking it out another year instead of moving myself to a warmer climate. I can enjoy telling people from out of the area or out of state about the minus 40 or minus 30 degrees today or yesterday and listen to the "Oh" and "Ah" and "Oh, my goodness, how do you stand it?" and I can smile my little pie-faced smile and say, "Well, we're hardy souls up here. And besides, it is really good for the complexion." It is; look at all the clear, rosy cheeks around you on a cold day!

INSURANCE Update
by Ron Hanson
WHAT IS SUBROGATION?
Under the principle of subrogation, a policyholder gives his right of recovery against liable third parties to his insurance company. The insurance company will pay the policyholder under his own policy coverage, then in turn take action to collect, or "subrogate" against the party that is liable for the damage. One of the purposes of a subrogation clause is to make sure that a policyholder does not make a profit from his insurance. This clause prevents one from collecting from both his own insurance company and a third party. The intent of insurance is that a policyholder's property is brought back to its original condition prior to the loss. Insurance is not to be considered as an investment from which a profit can be gained. Insurance is one of the tools available to protect your investment.

Dear Readers,
A man diagnosed with cancer returned to work with his illness in remission. The first day was difficult. "My co-workers seemed uneasy and were especially careful not to mention my illness. I knew everyone was aware of my condition, and the conspiracy of silence was not helpful." Denying one the opportunity of sharing their innermost thoughts increases the sense of loneliness. Do not be afraid to show your concern.

Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Screening clinic on Jan. 18

Thief River Falls Early Childhood Screening will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. on January 18. This next screening clinic will be held at Redeemer Lutheran church, 305 East Nora and is free of charge.

The January screening is intended for children who had their fourth birthday in September, October, November or December, 1992. Screening clinics will also be offered in March and May for the rest of the 1994 kindergarten students. However, any child between the ages of three and five can participate in the screening if there is the slightest concern about any area of development.

If a child qualifies for this screening and an informational letter has not been received, please call 681-8670 for an appointment as soon as possible.

Minnesota now requires all children to be screened prior to entering public school, preferabley around age 3 and one-half to four and one-half. The screening includes a family interview, a health and immunization review, and a check for vision, hearing, speech, language and general development.

Early detection of a child's health and developmental problems can reduce the need for costly care at a later time and such difficulties can be addressed before kindergarten.

The screening is conducted by trained professionals from the public school system and the county public health services and is provided at no cost.

A screening is not required if the child has already had a comparable developmental screening by Headstart, EPS or a doctor or if the child will be taught at home or will attend a private school.

Rod Sletten (far left), Pepsi route manager, and Wally Walseth, Hugo's grocery manager, present a $309.30 check to Jan Fessler for the area food shelf. Ten cents was donated for every case of Pepsi products sold at Hugo's.

Prayer week for unity planned

"Bearing the Fruit of the Spirit" is the theme for the 1993 Week of Prayer for Christian Unity to be observed February 14-19 in Thief River Falls.

Sunday service to open the event will take place at 3 p.m. February 14 at United Methodist church. Daily sessions will be held Monday through Friday, February 15-19, from 12:10 to 12:25 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran church.

Refreshments will be served and a fellowship period held following the February 14 service at United Methodist. Participants at the week day sessions are invited to bring sack lunches for a fellowship period to be held between 12:25 and 1 p.m.

Theme for the week is based on Galatians 5: 22-26. The observance began in 1908 and has been held annually.

The week has been planned by a committee from the Greater Thief River Falls Area Churches Ministerial Association headed by Rev. Curtis Anderson, pastor of the Evangelical Free Church in Thief River Falls.

Co-chairing the committee are Rev. Duane Pribula, pastoral associate at St. Bernard's Catholic church and Rev. Gary Johnson of Zion Lutheran church. Assisting in the planning were Rev. Anderson; Rev. Tom Wilson, United Methodist; Rev. George Davis, Faith Lutheran; and Rev. D. Josh Nelson, Trinity Lutheran.

Small grains workshop set

University of Minnesota team of small grains production experts will be at the St. Hilaire senior center on January 15 to talk with farmers on the 1993 growing season. The workshop will help producers decide on varieties to plant and how to effectively control certain pests of small grains.

Dr. Erv Oelke, Extension agronomist will begin the session at 9:30 a.m. with an overview of the available varieties for wheat, barley and oats. A number of area certified seed producers grew the new University wheat, 'Norm' with success. Dr. Oelke can compare 'Norm' to the standard wheat varieties as well as give a sneak preview of the new barley and update producers on oat varieties.

The rest of the program will feature experts on the pests of small grains. Each growing season brings a new set of challenges to farmers and these experts will help producers deal with some of those pest related struggles.

Dr. Bev Durgan, Extension weed specialist has information about the newest herbicides and the track records of the herbicides last year.

Dr. Roger Jones, Extension plant pathologist, has had several projects running on small grains in the area, particularly on the use of fungicides. He will update small grains producers on the fungicides effectiveness in 1992 and the outlook for 1993.

Finally, entomologist Dave Noetzel studies the aphid problem of last year and has practical recommendations about future aphid infestations and control.

Coffee and rolls will be provided by St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator. All persons interested in small grains production are invited to participate. The Pennington and Red Lake county extension services will be hosting the program. Contact either office for more information.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

I am one of that mysterious breed of persons called the preacher's wife. We are indeed a curious creation.

A preacher's wife is basically a figment of the imagination of the congregations of this land. Preacher's wives are as diverse as they are individuals. Preacher's wives do not follow the set of rules which are so often placed before them. They are not all docile. They are not all Bible experts. They are not all the absolutely perfect housewife. They are not all the best or worst dressed person in the congregation. They do not always have the worst kids in the church. They are not all the perfect hostess.

But, all preacher's wives may be some of the above. Sometimes they have just the right insight from the Bible to help out a person in need. Sometimes, they can entertain just perfectly. Sometimes, they can have the house in top shape. Sometimes their kids are just like everyone else's—not perfect. Sometimes they have a classy outfit to wear. All of the time they are human.

We preacher's wives have to tolerate the idea that we are supposed to be "perfect," even as we know without a question of a doubt that we are just a mite imperfect—just like everyone else.

I, though, am not only a preacher's wife, but I have also the dubious problem of being also a preacher's daughter, and a preacher's sister.

Being a preacher's daughter must mean that I was one of those terrible creatures known as the P.K.'s (translated as Preacher's Kids). P.K.'s are also a figment of the imaginations of the congregations across our land. P.K's are not all the worst kids in the church. P.K.'s are not always the perfect angels, either. P.K's are most often typical children—just like all children.

P.K's do have the terrible responsibility of growing up in a fishbowl existence. They have the knowledge of who and what they truly are and with that knowledge they need to keep themselves safe from the image imposed upon them by others.

Preacher's sisters do not usually figure in the imaginations of the congregations their brothers serve. I suppose that is because to most in the congregation we do not even exist. But, exist we do, if only to remind our kid brother of his humanity from time to time!

Preachers families are simply families. The children and spouse of a preacher are to that preacher his most precious possessions. Congregations would do well to remember that from time to time. Treating a pastor's family well is by far the best way for a congregation to honor its pastor.

So, how does a congregation treat its pastor's family well? For starters, make them feel as if they are most welcomed in your church and in your community. From the moment they arrive, go out of your way to see that their moving in and settling in needs are met. If you are providing a parsonage, see that it is spotless. If the furnace needs repair, see that it is repaired. Provide meals while the family is settling in. Provide someone to watch the children as the boxes are being unpacked.

As the family takes its places in your congregation, honor your pastor by seeing that you allow him to take guilt-free time to be with his family—not just when he escapes and goes on vacation. Allow the family to be a family, not a figment of the entire congregation's imagination. Allow the individuals of that family to do the things for which they are best suited—and let them decide what that might be.

Support your pastor's family. Pray often for them. Find ways in which you may befriend them. You may be surprised at the individual friends you will find to cherish in that family.

ACTIVITIES

Dinosaurs

Children seem to really enjoy dinosaurs. This may be a good time to go to the library and collect books that tell about dinosaurs and show pictures of dinosaurs.

Then buy some butcher paper or tape many sheets of paper together and draw a huge dinosaur as you think it may have appeared. Be sure to write the kind of dinosaur it is, and then your child can name his dinosaur. Hang it up in an important place and enjoy the newest member of your family.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need paper and a scissors.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

When explaining Martin Luther King Day, it is sometimes easier when using books and videos and so the Thief River Falls public library has these suggestions for you:

Lowery, Linda. Martin Luther King Day. This book briefly recounts the life of the black minister who devoted his life to civil rights and also discusses the national holiday which was named after him.

Young, Margaret B. The Picture Life of Martin Luther King, Jr. A well-written book for the young on the life of the civil rights leader who changed a nation.

VIDEO VARIETY

In Remembrance of Martin. While this video is not geared for pre-schoolers, parents can view it with their children and help these children understand the impact Martin Luther King had on this country. Personal commentary from friends, classmates, family and advisors are included and give us a well-rounded view of the man himself.

PARENTING TIPS

Redirection

Redirection means substituting an acceptable activity for a less acceptable one. It is a useful tool for anyone who works or lives with young children. For example, if a child is jumping on the couch, explain that "couches are for sitting, not jumping. You may jump in the basement or outside." (Be sure to tell your child what he/she may do.)

This simple approach usually works better than nagging or scolding or punishing a child. And it is especially helpful with babies and toddlers who are too young to understand why they cannot play with or do certain things.

So the next time you want to stop what a child is doing without calling special attention to the behavior or punishing the child, try directing the child's interest to a new activity.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

As program coordinator for the Little Brother/Little Sister program of Northwest Minnesota, I would like to thank the Snowdrifters Snowmobile club for sponsoring the snow sculpture contest.

Our snow sculpture was truly a new adventure for our group. It was great to see cooperation among our volunteers to put together a sculpture that we were proud to put our name on. Many hands and feet were cold throughout this adventure but the recognition of not only our work, but also the program's goal of "Get on Board" was worth this discomfort.

We were very fortunate to have chosen the C'mon Inn as our location. The manager and entire staff were just great to help us with anything from moving a snowbank to helping thaw out people and equipment.

It was fun to work with so many enthusiastic volunteers and have enjoyed the many compliments that we have received. Thanks again for the chance to participate in such a worthwhile adventure. Our $500 for second place will be put to good use to keep our program in operation in the Thief River Falls area.

Sincerely,
Bev Rupprecht
Program Coordinator

To The Editor:

This letter regarding Hospice and one of its workers is long overdue. Over the past several years I have been involved with families who have required the services of one of the Hospice employees, Linda Ronchetti.

The compassion, love and caring that Linda gives to families in need is remarkable. She is a skilled and competent support to the families with whom she works. I have first hand knowledge of Linda's work and, time and time again, have seen her do much more for the families who need her services than her job requires.

As you are well aware, the families who need the services of Hospice are going through a very emotional and difficult time. Linda understands the needs of the families and has the personality, as well as the expertise, to help them through their difficult time. Thief River Falls is indeed very fortunate to have Linda Ronchetti as part of the Hospice program and I, for one, would like to commend her.

Sincerely,
Mary L. Reierson

Ortloff chosen as youth delegate to national meet

Karmen Ortloff, daughter of Irene Ortloff and a Lincoln high school senior in Thief River Falls, was recently featured in Our Northland Diocesan. Ortloff was recently appointed as a Youth Delegate to the National Board of the National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry (NFCYM).

Ortloff will represent Region VIII as a youth delegate at the national meetings of the NFCYM, according to OND. (Region VIII is one of the 14 regions in the nation that comprise the NFCYM, and it includes the 10 dioceses within Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.)

Ortloff was selected by her peers and affirmed by the diocesan directors of Region VIII. She will serve a two-year term on the National Board as a youth delegate. Along with the other 13 youth delegates from around the country, Karmen's responsibilities will be to assist in setting the direction the NFCYM, a major national organization dedicated to the on-going growth and development of Catholic youth ministry. The youth delegates also serve to keep the Federation connected with today's youth and help assure that the Federation is working to meet the needs of today's young people.

Ortloff also serves as one of two Diocesan Delegates to the Regional Youth Council of Region VIII. Aaron Kuznia of Sts. Peter and Paul Parish in Warren is the second Diocesan Delegate to the Regional Youth Council. Together with delegates from the other dioceses in the region, Ortloff and Kuznia assist in program development and implementation on the regional level helping to plan and carry out such events as the Region VIII Youth Leadership camp. They will also have an important role in planning both diocesan and regional plans for the Pilgrimage to Denver in August of 1993.

Ortloff is actively involved in her parish. She is involved in the youth board and serves as a teacher in the confirmation program. She also served as youth representative to the St. Bernard's parish council.

Homestead cards are due

ments, save money by cutting processing costs, counties have the option to send out homestead application cards once every four years, instead of annually. Therefore, this year, it's critical homeowners fill out and return homestead applications, since many counties will not send out homestead application cards again until January 1997.

In addition to extending the homestead classification, new laws:

- require new homeowners of property who buy a house that already receives the homestead classification to fill out another application form for the homestead classification before December 15 of the year in which the house is purchased;
- require homeowners who sell their property or change their primary residence to notify the county assessor within 30 days of the change;
- prohibit relatives of the owner who occupy the owner's property as their primary residence from applying for the Minnesota tax refund based on rent payments they make to the owner; and
- authorize the Minnesota department of revenue to provide county assessors with the names and Social Security numbers of all persons who receive the homestead classification on their property and receive a state property tax refund on the basis of rent payments they make for their housing.
- double the penalty from 50-per cent to 100-per cent of the amount of tax reduction wrongfully obtained for applying for the homestead classification for a property that does not qualify;

Remember, if homeowners' property qualifies for the homestead classification and they forget to return the application by the deadline, they will not receive the benefit of the substantial property tax savings that result from a homestead classification.

To obtain a homestead classification application for homeowners and/or qualified relatives, contact the county assessor in the county the property is located.

This racer relaxes for a moment, assessing his race performance and cold fingers. Quite a few racers suffered minor frost bite injuries at the Pabst Thief River 200 held in Thief River Falls last weekend. Paramedics treated many of the injuries in a tent at LaFava park. Racers were able to warm up in the tent and receive treatment if they needed assistance.

Sunday afternoon youngsters on Kitty Cats raced around a small oval track. Kitty Cat races are always a crowd pleasing event, and Sunday was no exception.

Earl and Ebba Sihlberg have had "Peace in the Valley" again this week, and the only visitor was Gene Kleinwechter, who came to plow out the road to the highway for them. Ebba, who is a self diagnosed 'Romantic' is cozy in the easy chair reading love stories, and Earl is nursing the flu. Some of her friends children has been exposed to scarlet fever this past week, and Ebba recalled that her father used to doctor the kids up when they had the whooping cough, with a couple of drops of kerosene in a spoon of sugar. He thought it did the trick, not realizing they were so weak they couldn't cough. I don't recommend anyone trying some of Ebba's remedies in this day and age.

The new year has brought in more snow and the thermometer is stuck below zero. We are promised by the weather reporters that this beautiful sunshine today is going to push it up to 15 degrees above.

We had a letter from George Rasmussen from Minneapolis, and he is waiting for spring so he can come and check on the farm. George is staying with his son, Virgil and wife, Ruth, so we all know he has the best of care, and as he nears his 94th birthday, it is wonderful to think that he feels well. He spent some months in Chicago with LaVerne and Bev Rasmussen last fall, and told us all about how he had lived and worked there during the second world war. We certainly wish him a very Happy New Year.

Kal, Maureen and eight year old Kelsey Banyon on Bancock, Thailand, visited Mary and Gonne Renstrom on Sunday afternoon. They had been the dinner guests of Lois and Chris Carrico earlier. They will be returning to Thailand in a short while.

Men's portion of the Saturday afternoon men's/women's Northland Community College vs. Grand Forks Air Base basketball doubleheader was not played because the Air Base failed to show up for the scheduled 2 p.m. match-up.

Women's games will kick off both twinbills. The Northland-Hibbing games will be played at 6 and 8 p.m. while the Northland-Rainy River games at International Falls get underway at 12-noon and 2 p.m.

Twins tour group will be in TRF January 20

Abbott

Gardenhire

Pitcher Paul Abbott, outfield prospect David McCarty and third base coach Ron Gardenhire will be in Thief River Falls Wednesday, Jan. 20, as part of the 1993 Minnesota Twins Winter Caravan off-season promotional tour.

The Twins group will be at the American Legion Club for a 12-noon dinner gathering that will be sponsored by KTRF Radio and Sjoberg's Cable System. Dinner tickets, priced at $4, will go on sale beginning Thursday at KTRF. One dollar from each ticket sold will be used in a special program this summer to provide tickets for Twins games for under-privileged people.

The 33rd annual Twins Winter Caravan promotion will be visiting 41 communities throughout the Upper Midwest Jan. 11-21. Six groups of players, broadcasters and front office staff will form the tour groups.

Abbott, a 6-3, 194-pound righthander, was in and out of the line-up at Minnesota and Portland last season because of shoulder problems. He was 0-0 with a 3.27 earned run average in six games with the Twins, and was 4-1 with a 2.33 ERA in seven games with the Beavers. He has been a member of the Twins organization since 1985.

McCarty, a 6-5, 210-pounder, was the third pick overall in the 1991 free agent draft after being named college baseball Player of the Year at Stanford University. He made stops at Visalia, Orlando and Portland during his first two years of professional baseball.

Gardenhire played professional baseball in the New York Mets organization before moving into the coaching ranks. He served as a minor league manager at Kenosha and Orlando before stepping into the Twins coaching line-up in 1991.

Moorhead depth decides first Prowler Invitational...

Spuds win wrestling title

Individually, East Grand Forks came out the winner, but team-wise Moorhead emerged the champion Saturday at the first Prowler Invitational high school wrestling tournament.

East Grand Forks walked off with six individual titles, but the short-handed Green Wave also had four open weights and wound up behind both Moorhead and Red Lake County Central in the team totals even though the Spuds had only three individual winners and the Mustangs had just one champion.

"Lee (Nieland) had a good, solid tournament," added Anderson. "He did what he had to do to win."

Poor shooting hurts TRF girls

Hard work on defense was undermined by a poor shooting night on offense Saturday as the Thief River Falls girls lost a 48-41 North Sub-Section 8AA high school basketball game at Moorhead.

"Defensively we played an excellent game," said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "The kids were really focused and played with a lot of intensity. I was really happy with their effort."

However, 26 percent shooting proved to be too much of a handicap for the Prowlers, who were 17-for-66 from the field. That included a frustrating first quarter when the visitors were just 5-for-18 from under the basket.

Thief River Falls, despite it shooting woes, led 15-12 at the end of the first quarter and had a 24-17

Swimmers led by relay team efforts

Bemidji Invitational championship trophy stayed home Saturday as the host Lumberjacks easily out-scored an eight-team boys high school swimming field.

Thief River Falls turned in a runner-up effort, but the Prowlers finished well behind Bemidji, 379 1/2 points to 213, followed by Moorhead with 180 1/2, Crookston/Tollefson Home School 161, Bagley/Fosston 131, Staples Area 114, Park Rapids Area 108, and Detroit Lakes/Frazee 108.

"We swam well," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "Our younger kids – our eighth and ninth graders – really came through for us. They've really improved."

Thief River Falls' Adam Jacobson, Brad Kragness, Matt Carlson, and Daryl Kiesow set a meet record in the 200 freestyle relay, and that same foursome won the 400 freestyle relay.

Gators beat Bears 56-35 for 7-3 mark

A 24-point second quarter carried Badger/Greenbush-Middle River past Lake of the Woods 56-35 Saturday in a girls high school basketball game played at Badger.

"Defensively we were doing a nice job," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "If you keep teams below 40, you have a pretty good chance of winning."

Offensively, sharp Badger/Greenbush-Middle River passing found holes in the Lake of the Woods zone as Kristi Super scored 18 points, Jessica Borgen 16 and Raquel Kilen 10. Super and Borgen also hit double figures on the boards with 13 and 10 rebounds, respectively.

The winners were 26-for-69 from the field (38 percent) and 4-for-7 at the free throw line.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River is 7-3 for the year.

Green Wave holds off TRF

Fifty-eight percent shooting from the field did not compensate for 24 turnovers and a 21-8 beating on the offensive boards Friday as Thief River Falls lost a 73-67 boys high school basketball game at East Grand Forks.

"We didn't play bad," reported Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke, whose team fell to 0-8 for the year. "It was a much improved effort. The kids really hustled, and you can't shoot much better than that. But we had twice as many turnovers as they did, and they killed us on the boards. You can't give teams that many extra opportunities and still expect to win ball games."

The Green Wave led just 20-16 and 34-32 at the first two quarter stops, but opened up a 61-51 third quarter spread. The Prowlers came back to make it a 67-66 game with just under two minutes left, but East Grand Forks held off the Thief River Falls comeback with free throws and rebounds off missed free throws down the stretch.

The loss spoiled a strong 27 point performance by Thief River Falls senior Tony Greene, who was 8-for-10 from two-point range and hit all three of his three-point shots. "Tony had a good all-around game," praised Brekke. "He did a nice job shooting the ball, and he played well on defense."

But Greene was the Prowlers' only double-figure scorer. The Green Wave got a 23-point game from Pat Whitty and 20-point efforts from both Justin Knowlton and Cy Monley.

Thief River Falls was 26-for-45 from the field and 14-for-23 at the free throw line. East Grand Forks went 27-for-62 from the floor (44 percent) and 12-for-23 at the line. The Green Wave finished with a 33-28 rebound edge overall, and had half the number turnovers the Prowlers showed.

Lincoln girls top Otters in overtime win

Sophomore Lisa Rendulich put in a lay-up with five seconds left in overtime – her only points of the night – to give Thief River Falls a 50-49 win over host Fergus Falls in a late reported Thursday girls high school basketball game.

The Prowlers had a 33-23 halftime cushion and took a 43-36 lead into the fourth quarter, but were out scored 9-2 as the Otters tied it at 45 all and forced overtime.

A three-point play by Amy Adams gave Thief River Falls an early edge in overtime, but the Prowlers found themselves trailing 49-48 when they got their hands on the ball with 37 seconds left.

They ran the clock down until Rendulich put in the game-winner.

Adams led the winners with a 21-point, 15-rebound game, and teamed with Lisa Ulrich to provide leadership down the stretch when fouls took out starters Toni Chiodo and Lori DeLap, pointed out Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We played an excellent first half, but we got tired in the second half," said Wiltse. "We were playing for our lives at the end."

Cara Paulus had 18 points to lead the Otters, getting 14 of those in the third quarter to key Fergus Falls' second half comeback.

Thief River Falls was 22-for-68 from the field (32 percent) and 6-for-12 at the free throw line. Fergus Falls went 20-for-49 from the field (41 percent) and 9-for-18 at the line. The Prowlers had a decided 34-18 rebound advantage, and the Otters topped the turnover charts 24-17.

Huskies fall to Bears 80-66

A game Goodridge couldn't keep pace with a high-power Clearbrook/Gonvick attack Friday as the defending Section 8A champion Bears out-scored the host Huskies 80-66 in boys high school basketball.

"I thought we played well," said Goodridge coach John Reha. "They're a good team. I was real proud of the way we played. I was real pleased with the effort. It was probably our first complete game of the year – where we played a full 32-minute game."

Clearbrook/Gonvick had quarter leads of 25-19, 46-31 and 59-47. Goodridge stayed within 10 points until Clearbrook/Gonvick pulled away at foul line down the stretch.

Help us welcome the newest additions to our Pepsi family album...

Take them home with you today.

Like most new parents, we're real proud of the newest additions to our family...7–UP and Diet 7–UP. Sure, neither of them look a whole lot like the rest of the family. And they've been hanging around with the red and white crowd for quite awhile. But you know as well as we do that deep inside, 7–UP and Diet 7–UP are as good as they are clear. We're going to do everything we can to make them as at home in the Pepsi family as they ever were over at...well, you know where.

To make sure you can help make 7–UP and Diet 7–UP feel at home, we're giving you, for a limited time, a FREE 20-oz. non-returnable bottle of either one. All you have to do is shop in the area shown on the map above, and present the coupon we've included at right. Look for 7–UP and Diet 7–UP in the same places you've bought them all along. They'll be in a little different place on the shelf...they won't be with that old bunch anymore. They'll be with the rest of the Pepsi family — Pepsi, Diet Pepsi, Mountain Dew, A&W and Squirt. We hope you can take 7–UP and Diet 7–UP home with you...and maybe some of their new friends, too.

DARE program begins second year in county

Second year of DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) begins this week in Thief River Falls. The program focuses on students in grades 5 and 6 who are not yet likely to have been led by their peers to experiment with alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs.

One of the officers providing instruction to students, said he has already noted results from the first year of instruction. Chief Sheriff's Deputy Ray Kuznia, said students still stop and talk to him and some have talked to him about problems.

The other officer providing the instruction, Police Officer Craig Mattson, agreed with Kuznia's assessment and added that the program promotes positive attitudes toward police and greater respect for the law.

Last year over 200 sixth grade students graduated from the program. This year, the program will include 17-weeks of instruction to fifth and sixth grade students at elementary schools in Thief River Falls and Goodridge. Earlier this year, the board of directors for the program decided to target fifth graders instead of sixth graders. Because they didn't want to miss a year, they included instruction this year for fifth and sixth grade students. That means that this year's graduating class will be about 400.

Project DARE is at the forefront of substance use prevention education programs. It is designed to give young people the facts about drugs and alcohol and to "inoculate" them against negative peer pressure by teaching them self-management and resistance skills. This unique program, developed in 1983 as a cooperative effort by the

NW Tech College establishes center for global training

Northwest Technical College, of which the Thief River Falls campus is a part, has announced the establishment of an international division designated "The Center for International Training."

"Development of the center grew out of an increased recognition of the importance of the global community on our economy and the demonstrated potential for marketing training internationally," states Mary Eaton, vice president for custom services at the Northwest Technical College office in Bemidji.

"The success of established programs that serve the international community and recent marketing contracts made to several countries strongly support a more active movement into the international market."

"The Center for International Training will create a coordinating element to market training from Northwest Technical College and the Minnesota Technical College system to the global community as well as enhance our ability to focus on markets beyond our borders," added Ray Cross, chief executive officer of the college.

"The center will bring students to our campuses and offer customized training at locations around the world. The interaction with the International community will influence the way we teach and have a positive influence on our faculty."

Dr. Cross said the center is designed to be financially self-sufficient and fiscally sound.

"The Minnesota Technical College system is recognized to be the finest in the nation," Eaton said, "and our ability to offer demonstrated competency and knowledge in agriculture, business management and technology to the international market will greatly enhance our financial standing. Our industries and communities will benefit greatly from the enhanced international marketing of Minnesota products and equipment as a result of the service training provided to those world market customers."

Blood drive in TRF set for January 19-20 at hosptial

January 19 and 20 have been set as the dates for a blood drive at the CNC chapel at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. On January 19 the blood drive will be from 1 to 7 p.m. and on January 20 from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Coordinators of this event are Sharon Odegaard at 681-6637 and Rhonda Joppru at 681-4423.

Eight million blood donors across the country, who supplied more than 12 million pints of blood to others in need last year, are being honored by President George Bush and the American Association of Blood banks.

The president has declared January as National Volunteer Blood Donor month. And to help make sure an adequate supply of blood is available in the coming year, the AABB has joined with United Blood Services of Fargo, ND, and other blood banks across the country to promote the 1992 donor months theme: "Blood. Give a little so someone can live."

Because of recent publicity of techniques that allow some patients to donate their own blood and receive it back after surgery, people may feel it is no longer necessary to donate blood to the community supply. In fact, according to Rhonda Ellefson, community relations representative, the need for blood is constant, and volunteer blood donors contribute nearly all blood used for patient care in the United States. If all those who are eligible would donate on a regular basis, blood needs would be met and shortages would be a thing of the past, said Ellefson. Even in today's high technology medical environment, the need for human blood continues — no synthetics or substitutes have yet been found.

More than 700 units of blood each week are needed to satisfy the needs of 50 area hospitals, said Ellefson. We depend on blood more than we realize. Nationally, about four million ill and injured patients need blood transfusions each year. Without blood from the community supply, many medical surgical procedures would not be possible, and lives of cancer, cardiac and organ transplant patients as well as seriously ill newborns would be lost.

According to Ellefson, giving blood is completely safe because all equipment is used only once. Blood bank personnel discuss with every prospective donor his or her medical history to find out whether he or she is qualified to donate. In addition, potential donors fill out a confidential questionnaire on his or her medical background. They also perform a "mini-physical" to check whether the donor is healthy. These measures safeguard the health of the donor as well as the health of the patient who will receive the blood.

Independent Bankers to change name

Name change for the former Independent Bankers of Minnesota to the Independent Community Bankers of Minnesota has been announced by the statewide association of small and medium sized banks in the state.

Allen I. Olson, president of the association, said the new name "better reflects the fact that our members are community-based banks that are not part of some big chain of banks headquartered in a distant major money-center urban area."

Now with membership in every state in the nation, the Independent Banker Association of America was formed in the 1930s in Sauk Centre.

18th Ag-Arama at Crookston January 22-23

To provide students an opportunity to showcase their knowledge and skills in individual interest areas, the 18th annual Ag-Arama will be held Friday and Saturday, January 22 and 23, at the Red River Valley Shows building in Crookston.

There are contests in horticulture, agriculture aviation, agronomy, soils, natural resources, mechanized agriculture and animal science showmanship.

Ag-Arama is planned by a committee of students advised this year by Dan Svedarsky, professor of natural resources in the agriculture division of the University of Minnesota—Crookston. It is open to anyone who has an interest in any of the contests. All of the events during the day are open to the public, including UMC students and alumni.

"We try to involve students from all divisions and all majors on campus," states Bill Thielke, UMC agriculture graduate and student. "We encourage everyone to come and see what Ag-Arama is all about and join in the fun."

Schedule of events is as follows:

Friday, January 22—Ag aviation contests at the Crookston airport, agronomy, soils, agricultural chemicals, mechanized agriculture and horticulture contest on the UMC campus;

Saturday, January 23 (all events take place at the Red River Valley Shows building)—Animal science showmanship and natural resources and soils and mechanized agriculture contests, noon luncheon, coronation of Ag-Arama royalty, crop show, Ag-Arama finals and awards.

The event will end with an Ag-Arama dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the American Legion club featuring UMC's Stony River country band.

Dare program begins second year in county

Los Angeles Police department and the Los Angeles Unified School District, uses well-trained uniformed police officers to teach in the classroom. Employing a formal, semester-long curriculum, Project DARE focuses special attention on students in elementary school exit grades (5 or 6) who are not yet likely to have been led by their peers to experiment with alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs and are, therefore more receptive to prevention education.

This law enforcement/eduction partnership program has several noteworthy features: DARE targets elementary school children. Junior high and high school drug education programs have come too late to prevent drug abuse among some youth. Substantial numbers of young people have reported initiating use of alcohol, tobacco, or marijuana by junior high school.

DARE offers a highly structured, intensive curriculum developed by health education specialists.

A basic precept of the DARE program is that elementary school children lack sufficient social skills to resist peer pressure and say no to drugs. DARE instructors do not use the scare tactics of traditional approaches that focus on the dangers of use. Instead, the instructors work with children to raise their self-esteem, teach them how to make decisions on their own, and help them identify positive alternatives to substance use. The DARE curriculum addresses learning objectives consistent with those of many state departments of education and conforms to health education standards.

BIBLE STUDY

Feeling bad

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

How many people do you know who feel bad about things (Matt. 11:28-30)? They feel bad because they don't have more money. They feel bad about the cars they drive and the houses in which they live. They feel bad about their neighbors. They feel bad because they're on the heavy side or too thin. They look in the mirror and say, "If I only had dark hair, a prettier nose, or was taller..." White people spend hours in the sun to turn a golden brown. Sometimes dark-skinned people use a cream to lighten their skin.

Human beings are never satisfied. They are overcome by their anxieties. One minute they are up and the next minute they are down. One minute they feel like throwing in the towel, the next minute they say, "I have no problems. I would be perfectly all right if it weren't for those good for nothing..."

Why do those who profess to be Christians continue to live to the flesh, when it's so easy to live to the Spirit and feel good about everything (Gal. 5:16, 25)? The word of God tells us to seek peace and earnestly pursue it (I Peter 3:11). It says, "Whatever is peaceful, lovely and good, think on these things" (Phil. 4:8-9)

Disciples of Jesus Christ have bad moments, not bad days! When we do good works to glorify the Father, as Jesus commanded us to do, we allow the Father to form Jesus Christ's nature within us (Rom. 2:6-8; Matt. 5:16; Gal. 4:19). We may even do greater works than Jesus did, because He had to return to the Father (John 14:12).

We overcome our natures by keeping the works of Jesus Christ (Rev. 2:26). We discipline ourselves according to godliness by imitating God and by doing His works, which are good works (1 Tim. 4:7; Eph. 5:1; 1 Cor. 11:1; Matt. 25:33-46).

Jesus died so we could be free of guilt. When we live to please Him, we no longer need to feel guilty or have bad days. Instead, we will only have bad moments, which never turn into bad days because we cast all our cares into God's lap. God said He will provide us with everything if we practice His righteousness and seek His kingdom first (Matt. 6:33; Rom. 10:3). So have a good day!

St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota January 18, 1893

From Newspaper Files Of One Hundred Years Ago

St. Hilaire Post Office

"Postmaster Rapp has made application to have the St. Hilaire post office made a money order and postal note office and the request has been granted. Nearly all of the blanks have already arrived and they will be ready to do business in a few days. Money orders or postal notes can be purchased ranging from one cent to one hundred dollars, the exchange being from five to forty cents. As a means for sending money it is absolutely safe as a new order will be issued if the old one is lost."

St. Hilaire Debating Club

"The debating club will hold its meeting at Dainard's hall next Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. The question for debate will be, 'Resolved: that teaching school is preferable to the practice of law.' An interesting program consisting of declamations and music is being prepared. All are invited to attend especially as debaters are to be chosen for the debate with the club at Thief River Falls."

Diphtheria Update

"The diphtheria has been slowly disappearing and in a few days will be entirely gone. There have been no new cases the past week and all have been improving rapidly. At present the only places where the disease exists are at Andrew Berg's and C. A. Skele's. They are doing well and the last of the week will probably see all well. The people of St. Hilaire are to be congratulated upon the rapid termination of that terrible disease without further deaths. It might be well, however, not to relax precaution for some time yet."

Is Clinton To Be "New Democrat" Or Just Big Labor Warmed Over?

Judging from a three-page summary of proposals affecting labor unions and the American workplace, President-elect Bill Clinton appears to be less of a "new Democrat" than an advocate of the warmed over positions of big labor. It may be unfair to judge the President-elect before he has had a chance to prove himself, but a review of the Clinton proposals by Washington correspondent Chris Warden says they are a good indication of what to expect.

"One of the most telling proposals," Warden says, "Is Clinton's call for repealing Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act." Section 14b is the federal statute allowing states to regulate union membership policies, including right-to-work laws which forbid compulsory unionism. Twenty-one states now have such laws, meaning unions may not require membership as a condition of employment.

In right-to-work states, non-union employees in union shops may be required to pay only the costs of collective bargaining, not the portion of union dues that go for political action committees, special interest lobbying and related activities. In states that do not have right-to-work laws, people employed in union shops pay the equivalent of full union dues for the "privilege" of employment. This has always appeared to us to be an infringement of personal rights.

Unions claim that right-to-work laws hurt all workers economically. A study in 1990 by James T. Bennett for the National Institute for Labor Relations Research find that such is not the case.

According to Bennett, worker standards of living in the 21 right-to-work states are higher than for workers in the 29 other states. By examining incomes, taxes and costs-of-living, Professor Bennett of George Mason University found that "a typical urban family in a (right-to-work) state has $1,377 more in after-tax purchasing power than its counterpart in a non-right-to-work state—a statistically significant difference.

Another study by the National Institute for Labor Relations Research found that right-to-work states created jobs faster during the 1980s than non-right-to-work states—27 per cent growth compared with 18 per cent. The number of manufacturing jobs actually fell by almost 10 per cent in non-right-to-work states while growing by 3.4 per cent in the other 21.

Idaho provides a striking example after enacting right-to-work legislation in 1985-86. Gary Glenn, writing in the Twin Falls Times News in 1991, pointed out that "during the five years since voters approved the law, Idaho has led the nation in both per capita income growth and the creation of new manufacturing jobs. The number of Idahoans employed reached record highs. Unemployment hit its lowest point in 20 years. State coffers filled with surpluses."

Most of the 21 right-to-work states are located in the South, West and Midwest and are traditional Republican strongholds—perhaps one reason for Clinton's being in favor of repealing Section 14b

According to his three-page summary of proposals, Clinton also appears to favor a number of new business regulations, including pegging a minimum wage to the inflation rate, legislating family and medical leave policies, mandatory job re-training and education programs for displaced workers, restricting businesses from hiring replacements in the event of a strike and increasing unemployment benefits in the event of another recession—all big labor agenda items.

At any rate, business interests will be watching closely for early indications of adverse activity in the Clinton administration. We predict they are likely to find a number to be disturbed about.

Court News And Same Names; A Constant Problem

A public opinion letter in today's issue of the Times brings up a problem which comes to our attention from time to time but for which we have found no practical solution. The problem is in reporting law enforcement and court news when the people involved have the same names as other people in the community.

When we are aware of duplicate names we attempt to work with law enforcement and court news sources to identify which specific people are —or are not—involved. This usually results from repeat offenders who are charged with multiple offenses over a period of time so that we are made aware of duplicate names.

How can we differentiate? One means is to use middle names or initials. Another is to use a specific address. Yet another is to use the age of the offender. When all else fails, we may simply state that the offender is not so-and-so and identify the person whose name may be confused with that of the offender. But when names come up the first time or appear infrequently, it is nearly impossible to avoid potential confusion and we know this holds the potential for mistaken identity.

We would ask our readers to not be too willing to make assumptions that people listed in our news reports are always the people they know. This is particularly the case in a community where there is an abundance of families with the same or similar last names. When such a report does occur, we have no objection at all to being alerted to the duplication in names so that we can attempt to differentiate in any future circumstance and/or print a clarification with the following week's report.

We also stand by our decision to continue to use reports on the activities of law enforcement and the courts. Our free society demands that these be institutions in our government that are open to public inspection and review.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Not guilty. The other day a friend asked me if our son got a DWI, informing me his name was in the paper and someone had mentioned it to her. I looked at the newspaper and there was his name, but with a different middle name.

Why do we and others have to go through embarrassment of this kind? How many other people thought this was our son? Kurt left for the armed forces the day this happened, stating to us "What are my friends' parents thinking, that it was me?"

I called the Times and expressed our feelings. Mr. Lundin, the editor, seemed apologetic but there wasn't much he could do!

Why does this sort of garbage have to be printed in our newspaper? I see no purpose other than to give people something to gossip about. I was informed that they use middle names, but how many middle names, other than your family, do you know?

My family really doesn't care who went though a red light, who exceeded the speed limit, who got a DWI, etc. Does our newspaper not have better things to print? If some people are guilty, think what you're doing to the families by airing these things. I think the Times could improve its image by covering news that's important.

Thank-you.
Howard and Margie Nelson

River Valley News

Mrs. Orlando Chervestad

Happy New Year! Thanks for your news, its like a letter from home for folks who live far away!

A cow moose and her yearling calf came for breakfast New Year's Day at the Brad and Lana Nelson home. Lana was making coffee and happened to look out the kitchen window, and saw the moose helping herself to crabapples, and the offspring was nearby in the lilac trees. She looked, and looked some more at nature. How much fun to watch. Lana and family dashed to the living room picture window, opened the curtains and the moose had moved to the shrubs near the house, looked up to Lana and family, and stared for a while and said Happy New Year, and dashed away. Lana frightened her away with the camera.

A bull moose came to visit Sharol Wilde and family shortly before Christmas. The mad moose totally destroyed their mailbox, and also came back a second time and did some more harm. Their dog was scared to death of him. The DNR was called, but I imagine their reply was, a moose don't do things like that!

River Valley Homemakers had their Christmas party at the Vincent and Geline Lundeen home December 4th, at 7 p.m. Stuffed pork chops and all good things besides gifts were exchanged. Members and husbands who came were Mr. and Mrs. Juell Chervestad, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lundeen, Mr. and Mrs. Kim Chervestad, Mr. and Mrs. Orlan Stolaas, Mr. and Mrs. Darrow Lundeen, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Nelson, Gloria Rustan, Kathy Dulka, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Lundeen, and Helen Chervestad. Next meeting January 8th at 1:30 p.m. at the Thief River Falls courthouse meeting room. New Life for your Home Workshop. Hostesses, Rita Lundeen and Lana Nelson, and luncheon at the Evelyn Myrum home in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Peterson and Paul motored to Winona, to pick up the strained glass window in memory of Adolph Peterson for the Oak Park church. While there they toured Reinarts stained glass studio. When they pulled the Oak Park church file, the name on it was the Orlando Chervestad file. The file was started when stained glass was put in the Oak Park church. It was interesting to find out that the red glass in stained glass is now imported from Russia, and is made with gold dust. On the way to Winona they were overnight guests of Joan and Tony Chevalier of Belle Plaine. Joan is a college friend of Karan's. On the way back they stayed with Karen's cousin, Rozie, and her husband, Chuck Laceks of Rochester. While there they celebrated Chris Laceks 9th birthday. They returned home on Wednesday.

Christmas Eve guests at the Virgil Radniecki home were John Radniecki of Fargo, Gayle and Steve Grossman, Joshua and Travis, and Tom and Bruce Radniecki. After a traditional lutefisk and lefse dinner they attended church in Oklee. The storm hit while they were in church, and it took them over an hour to make it home from Oklee. They were thankful everyone made it home safely. Christmas Day they were joined by Mary and Randy Robidoux, Cam, Craig and Carrie of New Berlin, WI, Penny and Dick Kalar and Gary of Coon Rapids, Gen and Mitch Hayle of Eden Prairie, Dani and Gary Parenteau and Ryan of Fargo, Roxanna and Fred Sorenson, Dreg and Freddie of Red Lake Falls, Stephani and Jessica Sorenson of Fargo, Geri and Errol Rustan, Sam, Anna, Emma, Gus and Clara of Oklee, Steve and Renee Radniecki, Tyler and Tara of Twin Valley.

Oliver Hofstad entertained a chicken supper Sunday at Third Base in Brooks for Helen Chervestad, Ethel Wiseth and Robert Flatan.

Sunday morning the Errol Rustan family watched their cousin, Nicole Perreault, march in the Fiesta Bowl parade with the Waseca Blue Jays Marching band. Nicole is the youngest of Debby and Richard Perreaults family, all of whom have had the excitement of marching in a parade for a "bowl" game on New Year's Day during their high school years. The band is led by Richard Dufali, a former Oklee resident.

Gloria Rustan was a coffee guest at the Andy Peterson home Saturday, and coffee guest at Lyle Mandt's on Sunday.

Christmas Eve supper guests at the Helen Chervestad home were Mr. and Mrs. Korydon Chervestad, Aaron, Abigail, Angie and Adeline, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Nelson, Ryan, Kyle, Quinten, Tyler, Brent and Christopher, Mrs. Barb Anderson, Lies, Richard, Aaron and Crystal of Thief River Falls, Johnnie Hanks, Roman Furrer, Robert Flaten and Danny Nelson, and Santa Claus.

Helen Chervestad visited recently at Casimer Radniecki, Evelyn Myrum, Ethel Wiesths, Gary Anderson and Olaf Stolaas homes.

There are so many homes in Deer Park that are decorated in Christmas lights and special scenes. It's been fun to drive the township roads and view the scenes.

NOTICE OF HEARING
PLANNING COMMISSION
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Jeff A. Johnson, doing business as ServiceMaster, P.O. Box 234, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, and Heidi L. Burstad, 114 Sixth Street East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, have requested Amendments to the Zoning of properties owned by Heidi L. Burstad and James Lambert and Carla Ault, located in Block Thirteen of the Original Town from R-2 General Residential District to C-4 Downtown Fringe District.

The Lambert-Ault property, located at 521 LaBree Avenue North, is legally described as the East 100 feet of Lots 9 - 12 in Block Thirteen of the Original Town. The Burstad property, located at 114 Sixth Street East, is legally described as the West 40 feet of Lots 9 - 12 in Block Thirteen of the Original Town.

Jeff A. Johnson proposes to purchase the Lambert-Ault property and residence and to reside in the residence and operate his ServiceMaster business out of the residence. The Site Plan submitted with the Application to the Planning Commission indicates that Johnson may propose to construct a 20' X 19' addition to the existing 20' X 18' garage. The nature of the operations of the business on this property will be more fully explained at the Public Hearing.

Because the Lambert-Ault property does not abut the C-4 Downtown Fringe District lying west of the alley in Block Thirteen, the property owned by Heidi L. Burstad would also have to be Rezoned to C-4. Heidi Burstad has agreed to enjoin in the Zoning Amendment Request.

The Downtown Fringe District is intended to establish a transition area between the C-3 Central Business District and adjacent Residential Districts. In general, the Permitted Commercial Uses of the C-4 Downtown Fringe District are the same as in the Central Business District with commercial buildings not to exceed 3,000 square feet in gross floor area. Residential Uses are also permitted in the C-4 District.

Notice is further given, that the Planning Commission will hold a Hearing on the Zoning Amendment Requests at 7:20 P.M. on Monday, January 25, 1993, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the Zoning Amendment Requests will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-2500.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 12 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Jacob M. & Anne C. Barnick, 1755 Highway 59 S.E., Thief River Falls, MN 56701, and Kordel Inc., c/o James Kath, P.O. An unplatted tract which is part of Government Lot 9, Section 35, T 154 N, R 43 W, including the Northerly 56 feet of Greenwood Street, containing 6.18 acres, more or less (Barnick), and

An unplatted tract which is part of Government Lot 9 in Section 35, T 154 N, R 43 W, and which abuts the Easterly line of Lot 11 in Block One of Barnick's First Addition to the City of Thief River Falls and the North line of Greenwood Street, containing 1.0 Acre more or less (Kordel).

The properties to be platted lie east of the Kordel Furniture building on the north side of Greenwood Street East. The Kordel Inc. property described above is partially occupied at this time by an improved parking area. This property is currently zoned C-2 General Business District.

The Barnick's property described above is presently under cultivation and is zoned AG Agricultural. Following completion of the platting process and rezoning of the property from AG to R-4 Multi-family Residential, a developer proposes to purchase one of the lots being platted and to develop a 32 unit, congregate, elderly housing facility. # Finance committee debates proposed sales tax issue

by David Hill
Associate Editor

During a finance committee meeting Tuesday morning, a motion to proceed with presenting a sales tax proposal to the state legislature failed.

The item was on the finance committee meeting agenda merely as a matter of information, however it resulted in a stalemate and quite possibly a defeat.

Community Development Director Don Stewart said the item was on the agenda for a couple of reasons. He explained that the issue of a sales tax or growth fund would have to be presented to the state legislature again. Permission to have a vote on the issue of a sales tax was approved last year by the state legislature, but for it to go into effect the city had to have had an election on the issue during the general election. For a number of reasons, including a desire not to compete for support with the District 564 school bond issue, the vote was cancelled. As a result, if the city wants to bring the issue before the citizens for a vote it will have to obtain permission from the state legislature again.

That will involve the expenditure of funds, said Stewart. Stewart added that the group needs to go back to the original request which included an economic development fund concept and a swimming pool. Both items were eliminated from the proposal adopted by the state legislature.

Stewart said he has tested the waters with legislators. He later added that he senses that there is some waffling going on. He explained that he meant enthusiasm is being lost, perhaps because the process has taken so long. Stewart and Jerry Wigness, city clerk, still believe the concept has merit.

Wigness told the council that between December 15 and January 15, Grand Forks, which has a one per cent sales tax, collected about $350,000. That was a slight decline from the previous year, but they are pleased with the results of their sales tax.

Mayor Robert Reeve and Alderman Don Barron explained that there is a movement afoot in North Dakota to refund sales tax to residents who live outside of the Grand Forks area. The conclusion drawn is that acceptance of a sales tax is not universal.

One of the reasons the sales tax was put on the back burner last year and not put to the vote was that there hasn't been one project to bring everyone together. Wigness said there needs to be one or two projects to anchor this sales tax or growth fund proposal.

One idea being bounced around from committee to committee recently was made by Alderman Dave Carlson. Carlson has suggested that the sales tax proposal be based on improving projects near the river. That would affect a number of improvement projects in parks and other items.

If the city is to seek legislative

Choir telethon to feature many from community

Many Thief River Falls area residents will be involved in presentation of the telethon February 7 to raise funds for the Lincoln high school choir trip to New York City for an Easter Sunday performance April 11 in Carnegie Hall.

With only two fund-raisers remaining—the telethon and a ham dinner February 28—the choir still has about $15,000 left to raise to meet its goal, according to Darcy Reese, director. Persons who would like to attend the New York City concert may contact Mrs. Reese at Lincoln high school for tickets.

"The telethon from 1 to 7 p.m. on Sunday, February 7, is the key event in meeting our financial goal," Mrs. Reese said. "It will be broadcast on cable channel 13 from the Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls with Don Jorstad handling the technical arrangements. We really appreciate the support of everyone in making this a true community event."

Special appearances will be made by a mystery pianist who will not be identified until the telethon and by Collette Vetsch as the "Bag Lady."

Other entertainers from the general community who have been scheduled to perform include the following:

Vocalists—Jackie Helms, solo; Joe Kezar and his a capella group, quartet; Katie Christensen and Bridgette Stock, duet; Karen and

"United We'll Be in '93" new Chamber theme

165 attend annual Chamber banquet Saturday at Eagles

Events of 1992 and goals for 1993 were discussed at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. During the banquet, leadership of the chamber changed hands from Jane Mattson to John Tofte.

"United We'll Be In '93" is the theme for the Chamber of Commerce in Thief River Falls this year. With between 165 and 170 people in attendance the annual meeting which was held at the Eagles club in Thief River Falls, Jane Mattson handed over the leadership role to John Tofte and announced a number of service awards.

The President's award was presented by Mattson to Norris Thune. Mattson noted that Thune had made a signification contribution in time and effort to bring the rodeo to Thief River Falls. Life membership awards were presented by Arnie Narverud and Bill Hogan. Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the Technical College in Thief River Falls received the higher education award. Plaques of appreciation were presented to Erling and LaVern Olson for their work with the wild game feed.

In her presidential message Mattson made the following comments"

"As we close the door on 1992, and I pause to reflect and reminisce the past 12 months, I find myself filled with mixed emotions. Part of me fears withdrawal as I step down from this position, and part of me says, honey, enough is enough!

"All in all, I feel blessed and want to thank you as chamber members, for allowing me the opportunity to serve as your ambassador. It was a wonderful experience and for me "A Dream Come True for '92". Thank you! It was a very good year.

"It was a year where the leaders in this community worked together on several projects that will better our community. Thank you to: Mayor Reeve, and the city council; Don Jenson, and the Pennington County board; Cecil Anderson and the Johs Inc. board; Larry Bemont, and the school district 564 board. Together we accomplished great dreams.

"From the completion of the highway 32 project, the passing of a 17.8 million dollar school bond issue, the success of a bountiful harvest, the thrill of an authentic rodeo (right here in our home town), the expansion of the airport (including a home for the 727), to the continual construction of new business throughout all four seasons of the year. These projects are visible signs of the value we as residents place on the community of Thief River Falls to remain a regional center for trade.

"In a time when the word recession seems to be one of the most used words in the English language, and a time when people find it easier to look at their cup half

Tigershark production now underway at Arctco

Production line for Tigershark personal watercraft is now underway at Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls and expected to continue into April. The first unit to be completed for retail sale is shown in the foreground and has been shipped to a dealer for display at a boat show in Wichita, KS. Full production is expected within two weeks at more than 100 units per day.

First units of the Tigershark personal watercraft for retail sale began rolling off the production line at Arctco, Inc. in Thief River Falls late last week and full production is expected within the next two weeks. The first unit has been shipped to a dealer for display at a boat show in Wichita, KS.

Ole Tweet, vice president of new product development and general manager of the marine division at Arctco, said the addition of the Tigershark to the company's product line will add about 100 jobs at the manufacturing plant here.

Tweet said that some workers in the snowmobile division will find places in the watercraft assembly process but that production of the two products will overlap. Manufacture of the Tigershark which began late last week is expected to continue into April and possibly May. Production of 1994 model Arctic Cat snowmobiles will get underway in March.

The goal is to have production of watercraft for Northern Hemisphere sales area completed by April 1, Tweet said, and length of the production run will be determined by demand in other world markets. He said the new product has market opportunities in much of the world where there is no snowmobile market, although many of Arctco's snowmobile dealers are welcoming a summer product to sell.

A limited production run of Tigersharks took place last summer with the results of that production used for testing and provided to distributors and sales representatives in the United States, Canada and overseas as a basis for order taking.

Tigersharks are now being built to order to meet dealer and distributor demand, just as Arctco has been successful in manufacturing snowmobiles on an order basis to reduce carry-over product. A new group of sales representatives has been established for the southern part of the United States and the dealer and

Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . Am I the Only One Who is Feeling Worried?

Tomorrow is Inauguration Day. President-elect Clinton will become President Clinton and President Bush will not be President any more.

As I watched television on Sunday and saw the beginning of inauguration festivities in Washington one moment, and bombing around Baghdad the next moment, it seems that the two separate events could never be linked, even though they must be when the new president is sworn into office on January 20.

One moment I was watching live coverage of the President-to-be, Vice President-to-be and their families participating in the ceremonies at the Lincoln Memorial, and the next moment I was watching live coverage of the altercation in Baghdad.

One moment I was watching fireworks in the skies over Washington, and the next moment I was watching tracer fire in the skies over Baghdad.

One moment I heard the clear ringing of the replica of the Liberty Bell, a sign of hope and promise; the next moment I heard the fateful, foreboding sounds of bombing.

One moment I saw families smiling and having a good time, and the next moment I saw people weeping and frightened.

One moment I saw people touching one another with happy hugs and kisses; the next moment I saw people tending people who were bloodied and burned.

It almost seemed wrong to have such celebrating and party atmosphere at such a time. On one side of the ocean, there was happiness and joy; on the other side of the ocean, sadness and sorrow.

On January 20, the two must be joined when the new President takes over the charge of this country. Am I the only one who is worried about this change of administration? Am I the only one who is worried that with all the inaugural celebrating the new President might not be getting all the information he needs to run the country properly and take care of all the crises in which we are involved?

I know Governor Clinton is very smart, but shouldn't he be studying right now? I would feel much better if he were holed up with his advisors and the current President and his advisors learning all about what is going on in the government.

I can't help but feel that "keeping in contact" with one another by telephone is not going to be enough for the incoming President to learn what the outgoing President knows. There should be conferences and face-to-face meetings, where all of the government policies and "secrets" can be exchanged.

Really, if you ask me, anyone who is stepping in to run the government at a crucial time like this should be as well informed as possible. Just think of the problems we have right now.

What about Iraq and Saddam? Do the new President and his staff know all about the situation? Are they capable of making the right decisions in this situation, what with all the political undercurrents and intrigue in the Mideast?

What about our troops in Somalia? Will they come home soon like they are supposed to do and leave the work to the United Nations forces, or will something happen where they have to stay longer?

What about the problems in Europe? Are we going to do something about the bloodshed and fighting there?

What about Russia? Will the new President have a good rapport with Borris Yeltsin?

Will Governor Clinton get along with the leaders of our allies, the British, the French, the Japanese, Saudi Arabia? Has he chosen good people to represent the United States in other countries?

I am also worried about what Saddam will try to pull while all the inauguration celebration is going on tomorrow. As I heard someone ask the other day, what happens when (then to be) Ex-President Bush is on the plane to wherever he is going and (then to be) President Clinton is gallivanting from one inaugural ball to the next? Where are all the high muckety mucks? Where else but at one or the other of the inaugural balls—celebrating. Who is in charge of running the government? I don't know—do you?

Yes, I, for one, would feel much better right now if I saw a little more cerebrating rather than all of that celebrating going on in Washington.

Tanya Tucker contracted for 1993 county fair

Grown-up child star Tanya Tucker will return to Thief River Falls this summer when she appears as the main entertainment attraction for the Pennington County Fair Saturday, July 24. Her last stop here was as a child singer with a grown-up voice, being ferried around the country by her father.

Tucker will be featured in two performances at 7 and 9 p.m. Dates for the Pennington fair have been moved back in 1993 to July 21-25 and there are no other county fairs in the area that weekend.

Floyd Erickson, vice president of the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., and entertainment chairman for the fair, said that the decision to return to a single night's performance by a "top name" entertainer was based on a public opinion request made following last year's fair.

For two years the fair association had offered Friday and Saturday night concerts with a different entertainer each night and a single admission price.

"In Tanya Tucker the fair board is providing country music fans one of the very top name entertainers in the business," Erickson said. "She plays over 200 standing room only shows a year, is a sought-after guest on network television and pours her soulful personality into every performance."

Erickson said that start of ticket sales for the performances will be announced later. He said that another show with other entertainers on Friday evening, July 23, is still under consideration. And he said he appreciates support of the public for previous county fair performances.

Tucker has had unique success in country music, staying at the top of her field since her recording debut in 1972. She has had more than 30 songs reach "Top-Ten" status during that time, half of those going all the way to No. 1 rating. Since signing with Capital Records in 1986 she recorded 16 hit records in a row.

By the time she was 15 she had a Grammy nomination, a Greatest Hits package and was one of the few country artists to be on the cover of "Rolling Stone" magazine. And although she had been nominated seven times, it wasn't until 1991 that she won the County Music Association's Female Vocalist of the Year award.

Other nominees for the award in 1991 were Reba McEntire, Patty Loveless, Kathy Mattea and Lorrie Morgan. She heard the broadcast of the award from her hospital bed, having given birth that morning to her son, Beau Grayson Tucker. She also has one daughter, Presley Tanita Tucker.

Tanya's father, also named Beau, took her to Las Vegas at the age of nine to cut a demo record. Producer Billy Sherill heard the voice, couldn't believe it came from a child and brought her to Nashville. Her whirlwind early career included such songs as "Delta Dawn," "Jamestown Ferry," "Blood Red and Goin' Down," "Would You Lay With Me (In A Field Of Stone)" and "What's Your Mama's Name."

Through the 1970s she continued to release chart-topping singles such as "San Antonio Stroll," "Don't Believe My Heart Can Stand Another You," "Here's Some Love," "It's A Cowboy Lovin' Night," "Texas (When I Die)" and "Pecos Promenade."

Hits in the 1980s were "Can I See You Tonight," "Feel Right," "One Love At A Time," "Just Another Love," "I Won't Take Less Than Your Love," "Strong Enough To Bend," "Highway Robbery," "Some Kind Of Trouble," "What Do I Do With Me," "If Your Heart Ain't Busy Tonight" and "Down To My Last Teardrop."

Country music fans can expect to hear many of those hits from the artist in person at the Pennington County Fair July 24.

Dear Readers,
Most of us are quick to express sympathy to a friend who is grieving. We attend the visitation or funeral, send flowers, bring food to the house, give a memorial, send a condolence card - then we feel satisfied we have done our part and return to our busy lives. However, grief does not end with the funeral - in the weeks ahead, the loss becomes very real, and loneliness fills each day. These are also difficult times, and your friend needs to know that you are still there.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Eddleman to move, expand

Gene Eddleman, owner of the Cycle Clinic in Thief River Falls, has announced a move to the former Lawn and Sport Center building in Newfolden, upgrading from part time to full time service and expansion to include service of snowmobiles in addition to motorcycles and all-terrain vehicles. The business name will also be changed to North Star Motorsports.

Former service manager for RV Sports, Eddleman said he decided to leave his position there and expand his own part-time business to include snowmobiles because "there's just more work out there than other shops can handle."

The Cycle Clinic closed on Monday, synonymous with opening of the Newfolden shop, but plans are being made to provide free pickup and delivery from Thief River Falls for units needing service.

Eddleman said the business will service snowmobiles, ATVs, motorcycles and lawn and garden equipment with both dealer parts and after market accessories available on an order basis.

Chamber leadership changes at banquet

empty, rather than half full, we seem to be blessed with the ability to move ahead with caution, and strive to make our dreams come true.

"We must never, never, never give up our dreams!"

The incoming president John Tofte had the following comments to make upon becoming president:

"As we enter 1993, we look forward to the challenges that we will face and the growth we will experience in the process. We as community and chamber members will grow together and improve our business climate with the mutual goal of providing a community that is a great place to live and work. When we work together to improve our community, we will improve the climate for everything else we do here. If you noticed that I have been saying we instead of I, it is no accident, we means all of us and that is what it takes to accomplish anything positive and lasting.

"Being president of the Chamber of Commerce was not one of my life's ambitions and I am not into ego trips so you may wonder how I look at this office. I have the greatest respect for the office and the people that work as chamber staff and we will work with them to accomplish growth and improvement in our chamber and our community. We need the shared talents of all of you chamber members as you serve as committee chairs and committee members in equally important roles throughout this year.

"Sometimes people look at leadership positions and think that the people in those positions are the ones that have all the ideas and do all the work, when in actuality the leader is wise enough to see which way the group is going and runs to the front. As your president I will try to run to the front, but first I will ask you which way you as a chamber want to go and how you would like to proceed."

The 1993 board of directors are as follows: John Tofte, president; Kermit Genereux, president elect; Roy Lunde, treasurer; Regan Rohl, vice president of membership services and development division; Pete Lavalier, vice president of business climate division; Deb Zak, co-vice president of the promotion division; Jean Hogan, co-vice-resident of the promotion division; Jane Mattson, past president; Dave Beito, Joan Lubitz, Curt Neumann, LeRoy Jensen, and Sami Haj, directors. Appointed members include: Skip Swanson of the Pennington County Commission; Frank Hamerlinck of the Thief River Falls city council; Bob Duncan of School District 564; Dick Spyhalski of the health care industry.

1993 committee chairs include the following: Howard Person, agri-business committee; Don Goodrich, ambassador committee; Joel Swanson, convention and visitor bureau; Mary Ann Hodge, education committee; Roger Shaffer, finance committee; Delray Sparby, legislation/transportation committee; Jean Hogan, retail business committee.

The 1992 committee chairs were also recognized for their contributions and presented with plaques in appreciation of their service. The 1992 committee chairs recognized included: Howard Person of the Agri-business committee; Connie Omdahl of the ambassador committee; Dave Strong of the convention and visitor bureau; Bruce Keller of the education committee; Delray Sparby of the legislative/transportation committee; and, Dick Bjorkman and Jeff Hendrickson of the retail/business committee.

Council holds organizational meeting Tues.

Thief River Falls city council approved required organizational items at its first meeting of the new year Tuesday night. It also accepted budgets from the Convention and Visitors Bureau, and Jobs Inc.

Required organizational items adopted annually include the election of an acting Mayor. The acting mayor would preside in the absence of the mayor. Council person Jean Heinrichs was unanimously elected to serve as acting mayor.

Other items include designation of the Times as official newspaper, selection of official depository for city funds, appointment of a Northern Municipal Power Agency board member (John T. Anderson), appointment of a process server (Police Chief Ken Froschheiser), board and commission appointments, and the appointment of the community development director as zoning administrator.

Mark Larson, representative of Jobs Inc., presented the job development organization's budget to the city council Tuesday night. The organization receives funds from a variety of sources including the city of Thief River Falls. The contributions provide for job creation and retention promotion, salaries, and numerous other items. The city's contribution this year will be $15,000, the same as in the last four years. The budget also revealed that Jobs Inc. expects to return $14,840 in consulting fees to the city.

The council accepted the Convention and Visitors Bureau budget. The budget shows a total revenue of $68,400. Total operating expenses before marketing is expected at $21,464. Marketing activities includes media advertisements, travel directories, signage and billboards, film, and miscellaneous advertising and printing. Total anticipated marketing activities are expected to be $37,617.

After many hours of review in separate meetings, the council approved a motion to submit the draft Shoreland Management ordinance to the regional hydrologist (DNR) for review.

The council approved a contract with the engineering firm of TKDA of St. Paul for a study of watermains in the city.

Tuesday night, the council also accepted annual reports from the city forester and fire chief.

In other business, the council: tabled a resolution supporting the proposed riprap bank stabilization project below the dam on the east side of the river; approved an easement for Northern Minnesota utilities at the airport; approved a taxi cab license for AABRA transportation (Scott Taveirne); approved a transfer of $71,789 of local government aid funds and $12,234 of equalization aids to the revolving capital fund; approved a list of official depositories and investment firms and pledged collateral from First National Bank of Thief River Falls; approved a progression raise for Martin Moeglein, water chemist; approved a request to advertise for category II and III positions at the liquor store; approved a five-year lease between the city and state of Minnesota for a 30-foot by 75-foot space at the Sports Arena parking lot for a motorcycle skill test course; approved dance permits for Matt Perkins at the armory on January 15 and 16; and called for a feasibility report for the 1993 sidewalk and utilities improvement project.

During the meeting, Police Chief Ken Froschheiser also reported that since calendar parking for snow removal began, only one car has been towed. The entire process, he said, is working out well.

ACTIVITIES

Snowflakes

Snowflakes have become commonplace outside by this time of year. So an interesting activity is to cut some of your own flakes. You will need paper and scissors. Fold the paper many times. Use the scissors to cut little sections out of the paper, at various angles and places. Then open the paper and you will see a snowflake.

Tradition says that there are no two snowflakes alike and the same thing is true of cutout snowflakes.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Teddy Bears' Picnic. This delightful, imaginative animation of dancing bears will be certain to tickle your funny bone. The lively music, performed in a beautiful park, will encourage you to sing along. A must to break away from those winter blahs!

Physical Activity in Winter

Most of us stay inside as much as possible when the weather is cold. Often we do not get as much physical activity as we should. Children as well as adults need some kind of physical activity on a regular basis. In fact, as children's muscles and bones grow and develop they may feel a strong urge to move, climb, jump and run. In the winter when we are inside so much this urge can cause problems.

On those days when your children are rather wild, won't cooperate or are fighting with each other, it could be that they are in need of some physical activity. If your children have an opportunity for regular physical activity you should also notice that they eat and sleep better.

Here are some suggestions for providing physical activity during the winter:

● Whenever the temperature is warm enough, bundle up and take your child outside to run, jump and climb - even if it is only for 15 minutes.

● When inside, try to create active games that can be played safely like an obstacle course (use things in your house to go over, under, around and through). Remember you can always set limits and rules as to when this activity play will take place in your house.

● Try the ECFE family night at Knox school gym: January 28, 6:30 to 8 p.m. Call 681-8670 to register or for more information.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about the weather. Check the thermometer each day. Talk about the cold, wind and snow. Talk about what kind of clothing is needed at different temperatures.

St. Hilaire Lions club has donated $1,085 to the Thief River Falls public library to purchase a 1993 subscription to the computerized reader's guide to periodical literature called the "Wilsondisc." The computer program speeds the finding of magazine articles on specific subjects. The user types in a topic on the keyboard and the computer program provides a list of magazine articles that deal with that subject by names, dates and page numbers. Users may also print out the lists and take them with them for future reference. Use of the computer and program is free; printouts cost five cents per page. For instruction on how to use the program, contract the public library. Shown trying out the program are Haidi Hoks of the library staff and Dick Kruse of the St. Hilaire Lions club.

Lutheran Youth Organization (LYO) of Silver Creek and Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) matched funds for Edith Nabban. LYO of Silver Creek, with John and Sandra Lubitz as coordinators, held a grain drive December 1992 with AAL matching funds to $600 with their pioneer pride program. Jeanetta E. Relerson, district representative for AAL presented the $600 check to Edith at the CNC Unit at Northwest Medical Center.

Lifetime membership was presented to Bill Hogan. Hogan has been an active member of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and was president in 1981.

Corrie ten Boom

"Hiding Place" shown at Free Church of TRF

Internationally acclaimed by audiences and critics alike, "The Hiding Place" grabs firm hold of every human emotion as it tells the unbelievable yet true story of Corrie ten Boom and her family.

This classic Christian film will be shown at the Evangelical Free Church of Thief River Falls 6:30 p.m. Sunday, January 24.

Filmed in Holland and England, "the Hiding Place" demonstrates how God's love can work through His servants to transform the darkest circumstances into shining beacons of hope.

Because Corrie and Her family cared, scores of Jews, from infants to grandchildren, were smuggled out of Nazi-occupied Holland, and spared a certain death.

Because they cared, they were sent to prison, where all but Corrie died — alone and forgotten.

And because she cared, Corrie, after her release from Ravensbruck Concentration Camp, spent the rest of her long life telling anyone who would listen, "No pit is so deep that He is not deeper still."

That is the message of "The Hiding Place" — an unforgettable message of hope.

Everyone is cordially invited to view the second half of this film, this Sunday night at the Free Church, located at Third and Kendall in Thief River Falls. Even if you were unable to see the first segment last Sunday, you will enjoy the second and most stirring part. There is no admission charge.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

What a nation we have!! This Wednesday we have the opportunity to once again show to the world, and to ourselves, that nations may change leadership personnel without dismantling the nation.

As Republicans make way for the new Democratic President and his staff there is no civil strife. No one is trying to overturn this soon-to-be new power. Even as we are in an international conflict, these two groups—the old and new—are in constant communication with each other. They are not only in communication, but in matters of our national security, they are in mutual support of the actions we are involved in around the world.

The inauguration activities are in themselves showing to us in their multitudes of entertainment variety how vast our nation truly is. In front of the Lincoln Memorial I saw snatches of jazz and rock music. Can you imagine what Lincoln would have thought of our modern day music?? I heard two modern day musicians praising the fact that we finally have a President who appreciates music!! I would like to say that I would guess that other presidents liked music also, but perhaps not modern varieties??

The foods represented in the Mall at the inauguration also demonstrate to us how vastly we differ. Can it be truly possible that the same nation that produces lefse could also produce chicken fried steak and catfish? What's even more amazing is the fact that all of us do coexist in this nation.

But even as the freedom bell is rung from coast to coast and even as the variety of music and foods are shared by those in attendance at this great event, refugees are being returned to the country from which they are trying to escape.

Nothing is easy. Our diversity is wonderful, but it also demonstrates how complicated our nation's world is. Promises made to change the Republican response to the Haitians trying to enter our nation have already been hedged. We are a nation of diversity, but can we survive more diversity? We are a nation made up of peoples from many nations, but we are now turning away those trying to find refuge in our country. Complicated is the only word I know for describing our international responses.

Presidential elections are always won through promises. Promises are not to be broken, but we all truly know that promises are always broken. Promises do not always reflect all of the aspects of a situation. Real life and real international and national problems will see to it that the promises made by the incoming President will soon be broken. If the world were a perfect place in which to live, no promises would need to be made.

I find myself in a state of fear as we begin this new administration. Fear of the unknown is the cause for this fear of mine. The future is unknown and the way this new administration will respond to real life problems is also unknown. Sixty per cent of the voting public had some doubts as to the ability of this new administration to lead our land.

As I view the events of this inauguration, I can't help but wonder at the rhetoric I hear. Any change seems to invite the hopes of many. I tend to wonder how quickly the hopes will turn to dismay. No one can please everyone all the time, so there is bound to be dismay.

As I sit in the comfort of my home and view the peaceful changing of our nation's leadership I am impressed with how great our nation is. My fear of the unknown can only be overcome by getting on with the daily life of our nation as it relates to itself and the world. We have historically done well. There is reason to believe that we will do well in the future as long as we remember that we are a nation under God. What can I do to help out this new administration? I can daily lift this great land up in prayer to God. When we neglect that, our fears of the unknown will be realized.

County, City discuss law enforcement

Not since 1976 have the county and city got together to discuss a law enforcement issue, said Police Chief Ken Froschheiser.

Chief Froschheiser made the comment Tuesday morning at a meeting of the city council, county board, Pennington county sheriff's office, and Thief River Falls police department.

As outlined at the outset of the meeting by Pennington County Board Chairman Skip Swanson, the meeting's agenda included two items, law enforcement issues and handicapped accessibility at public buildings.

County Commissioner Ken Murphy jumped in at the beginning and brought up the subject of relations between the police and sheriff's department. Murphy said the public's perception appears to be that relations are not at their best, he said.

Perhaps because they see officers wearing different uniforms and know only that they operate as separate law enforcement units is why they conclude that they don't share much.

As pointed out by Chief Froschheiser, and Acting Sheriff Ray Kuznia, the departments share many things. Both offices are in the same building where offices are intermingled. They share investigators, dispatchers, phone services, utilities, janitorial services, office equipment, training, and various programs. They operate under a joint powers agreement, where if one department is in need of assistance, the other can respond, no matter what jurisdiction their uniform says they serve.

There have been personality conflicts. On the job stress, which is very real far law enforcement officers is certainly a factor in the problems. There will be conflicts in any office, but Chief Froschheiser assured the group that they will be working hard to improve communication and interpersonal skills. Regular departmental meetings are being scheduled along with training sessions.

What also needs to be done, Froschheiser said is to recognize officers and deputies for the jobs they do, and provide discipline in private.

In the last two weeks, said Froschheiser, the two departments have worked well together. The fact that the drug bust that recently took place, was accomplished and had such far reaching implications is evidence of that cooperation.

One area of improvement suggested would be in the creation of a county-wide juvenile officer. Council woman Jean Heinrichs also suggested that there is a need for a crisis intervention person in the schools.

Combining both departments under one administrator has been tried unsuccessfully in five other communities in the state. All have run into problems, said Swanson.

County Attorney Dave Olin pointed out that there are no appointed sheriffs in the United States and never have been any appointed sheriffs. Constitutionally, it may not be possible.

Commissioner Ken Murphy suggested that a liaison committee be established. Murphy suggested that the committee be composed of one representative from the city and county, the sheriff, police chief and two representatives from the general public. The liaison committee would serve as a means for working out problems.

Some of the people at the meeting had concerns for the responsibilities of such a committee. County Attorney Olin pointed out that the sheriff is an elected official and no committee can dictate to him what he should be doing.

Commissioner Swanson agreed that the committee would have to operate under some rules.

After considerable discussion, the group agreed that the committee should be limited to no more than six members, the county board chairman, mayor, police chief and sheriff.

An addition between the county courthouse and city auditorium may be a solution to the federal requirements for handicapped accessibility. The county board and city council appear prepared to listen to recommendations for such a proposal.

At the joint meeting Tuesday, it appears that such a building could possibly house an elevator, a conference room, and handicap accessible bathrooms.

The group was prepared to listen to a recommendation, but because of weather, the representative bringing the recommendation to the group could not be present.

Future meetings to discuss the option will be held.

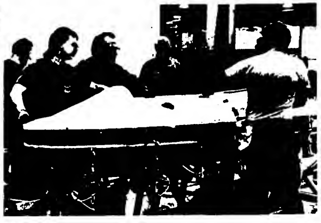
Finishing touches are being put on the first unit of the Tigershark personal watercraft to come off the production line at Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls. Production of the watercraft is expected to add about 100 jobs at the Arctco plant.



Unlike snowmobile manufacture where much of the assembly requires bolts, screws and rivets, manufacture of the Tigershark personal watercraft at Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls involves adhesives. Here several employees on the production line which began late last week place a deck for the unit into position. Pneumatic clamps will hold it securely in place while the bonding agent cures, allowing other work to be done during the curing period.

Tigershark watercraft production now underway at Arctco plant

distributor network is still being expanded on a worldwide basis.

Retail price on the Tigershark (only one model is being produced this year) is $5,399 and the unit has already won the "Best Buy" award from "Water Scooter" magazine as having the most features and lowest price among 1993 models of top line personal watercraft.

Tweet said that the Tigershark has been designed to fit the part of the personal watercraft market which caters to family-type activities. It is referred to as a "sit-down, two-up" model, which means the operator is generally seated while operating it and it has power and flotation for carrying two people in normal operation.

Tweet said that the personal watercraft market has been shifting to this type of model in percentage of sales. He said the Tigershark has a unique hull design which is "even tempered and predictable," stable, easy to get on in the water and provides a dry ride for increased comfort.

Ron Ray, vice president of manufacturing for Arctco, said that the former fiberglass area of the plant has been converted for Tigershark production with new lighting and a carefully planned material flow. The intent is to minimize handling of molded hulls and other components and require little material storage area as parts are brought to the assembly area from outside the plant.

Rather than utilizing a moving assembly line, the units are assembled on roller cradles which allow workers to move freely around the units at each station before rolling them on to the next cradle for subsequent assembly. Production is expected to be well over 100 units per day.

"This manufacturing concept has manufacturing groups working in unison and forces communication," Ray said. "Our employees have designed and built virtually all of the roller stands, clamping units and related equipment involved in the production line."

Crates for shipment of the finished watercraft are being built by the Occupational Development Center in Thief River Falls.

While the Tigershark at the end of the production line looks simply like a sleek offspring of the mating of a snowmobile and runabout, it has a myriad of built-in design and production features which add to its comfort and operational ease.

The unit is 111 inches in length, 45 inches in width, weighs 390 pounds empty and draws seven inches of water unloaded and at rest. It has an 11-gallon fuel capacity, five-quart oil capacity and a two-cylinder, water-cooled, oil-injected Suzuki engine with 644cc displacement. Compression ratio is 6.9 to 1.

The Tigershark has electric start with a 12-volt battery, stainless steel tuned pipe water cooled/water injection exhaust system, single stage axial flow jet pump and stainless steel three-blade impeller and stainless steel wear ring.

Adjustable handlebars, rear grab bar, seat strap, lanyard, RPM limiter, gas gauge, oil gauge and fire extinguisher are standard and a speedometer/tachometer are optional. The bilge pump is electric and all nuts and bolts are stainless steel and of metric measure. There is underseat storage.

In addition to the Tigershark itself, Arctco markets a line of accessory items including clothing under the Sharkwear label and such items as trailers, gas cans, mirrors, beach dollies, workstands, trailers, covers, duffelbags and other items.

Prowlers fall 74-58 to Otters

Ryan Retzlaff scored 33 points and Fergus Falls went 20 for 26 at the free throw line Friday as the Otters beat Thief River Falls 74-58 in North Sub Section 8AA boys high school basketball.

Retzlaff, a 6-4 junior, had his way with the Prowlers both inside and outside as he staked the Otters to a 12-7 first quarter lead, a 32-23 halftime advantage and a 53-39 third quarter cushion.

"He's a great player," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke in describing Retzlaff. "We had no one who could match up with him. We tried a number of different combinations, but nobody could stop him. He's one of the better post players around, and he can hit from the outside, too."

Thief River Falls' penchant for turnovers and fouls surfaced again as the Prowlers coughed the ball up 23 times, and supplied the Otters with a steady diet of free throws.

While Fergus Falls' front-line players were going 20-for-22 at the line, Thief River Falls had a quiet 6-for-7 free throw night.

Still, the Prowlers were never completely out of it until the end. Back-to-back short jumpers by 6-8 freshman Kyle Sanden had Thief River Falls within 55-45 with 6:37 remaining, but Fergus Falls then when on a 16-0 run to clinch it.

The beginning of the end included three consecutive three-point plays by the winners, who drove the lane, made the basket, drew the foul and added the free throw.

It was 71-45 with 3:19 left when the Fergus Falls outburst finally ended. The Prowlers out-scored the Otters 13-3 down the stretch, but it was too little, too late.

None of Retzlaff's teammates joined him in double figures, but guards Andrew Beck and Fritz Skinner, along with forward Eric Johnson, had 9 points each.

"They're an all-around good team," acknowledged Brekke. "We stayed with them for a while, but they just kind of wore us down."

Josh Balmer, a 6-0 senior forward, led the winless Prowlers with 15 points. Sanden had 12.

"I was happy with the effort," noted Brekke. "The kids worked hard. I saw some improvement. We've made some progress the last couple of games. We'll just try to move on from here."

Thief River Falls was 23-for-58 from the field (40 percent), while Fergus Falls went 25-for-57 (44 percent). The Prowlers finished with a 30-28 rebound edge, but lost that advantage with the 23 turnovers – ten more than what the Otters accumulated.

Nordics win by 38 over Wolverines

Marshall County Central turned in another solid defensive effort Monday in beating Goodridge/Grygla 59-21 in girls high school basketball at Grygla.

"We started pretty strong," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "I thought we played really well defensively."

Sara Lokstad scored 18 points and Shanoa Magner had 10 for the Nordics. Magner also grabbed 7 rebounds, while Dawn Sustad turned in a solid game at point guard with six assists and Wendy Inman played well in relief on the inside, pointed out Mjelde.

Marshall County Central was 27-for-61 from the field (44 percent), but just 5-for-17 at the free throw line. Goodridge/Grygla struggled with an 8-for-50 night from the field (16 percent) and went 5-for-8 at the line.

"We took a step backwards," said Goodridge/Grygla coach Mike Gast. "I thought we got some pretty good shots off, but we just couldn't hit them."

Marshall County Central is 6-6. Goodridge/Grygla went to 4-8.

TRF skaters stop Detroit Lakes 8-0

Scoring came from all three lines and Trevor Haugen came up with a 22-save shutout as Thief River Falls beat shorthanded Detroit Lakes 8-0 in a Saturday Section 8 high school hockey match-up at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

The Prowlers' first major shake-up of lines this winter, coming after a disappointing 3-2 overtime loss at Crookston earlier in the week, produced three goals for a Marc Seaverson/Jason Svir/Carter Rogalla combination, three more goals for Nathan Knutson/Kaine Martell/Ryan Kraemer, and one for Rick Osthy/Jeff Twomey/Jeremy Olson.

The defensive pairs of Marc Haugen/Joby Looker, and Shane Skeim/Brent Kleinvachter helped Trevor Haugen pick up his first varsity shutout as the Prowlers once again hit the .500 mark at 7-7.

Rogalla scored twice and added three assists to lead the way, while Kraemer, Knutson, Twomey, Martell, Seaverson, and Marc Haugen all scored once. Knutson, Jason Svir and Marc Haugen had two assists each.

All that against a team that had just 10 skaters and a 5-4-1 record.

It started with a three-goal first period as Twomey, camped at the edge of net, tapped one in at 6:41; Rogalla jumped on a rebound off the pads of Detroit Lakes goalie Paul Kath at 10:14; and Kramer corralled a rebound off the boards behind the Lakers' net at 13:44.

The Prowlers made it 7-0 in the second period when Martell scored on a tip-in at 1:04; Rogalla picked up a shorthanded goal at 3:57; Marc Haugen finished off a neat bit of stickhandling at 9:52; and Knutson scored on his own rebound at 13:57.

Seaverson's slap shot from the middle of the slot area at 8:21 was the only scoring during a running time third period.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Jeff Twomey (Kaine Martell-Marc Seaverson), 6:41; TRF, Carter Rogalla (Nathan Knutson), 10:14; TRF, Ryan Kraemer (Knutson), 13:44.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Trevor Haugen 12-8-2--22; DL - Paul Kath 14-x-13, Matt Anderson x-11-x, DL game total 38.

Marc Seaverson of the Prowlers (right) and Kinsey Otto of the Lakers battled for possession of the puck in the corner during Saturday's Thief River Falls-Detroit Lakes Section 8 high school hockey game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. The Prowlers won 8-0.

Alexandria won all five match-ups in the day-long affair, while Bemidji finished 4-1, Moorhead 3-2, Detroit Lakes/Frazee 2-3, Fergus Falls 1-4, and Thief River Falls 0-5.

Thief River Falls lost to Alexandria 71-0, Bemidji 48-15, Detroit Lakes/Frazee 41-26, Fergus Falls 39-36, and Moorhead 58-18.

The Prowlers, now 3-10-1 in dual meet scoring, will host Red Lake County Central Thursday.

Time ran out on a furious second half Northland comeback as the Pioneers fell to Rainy River 81-78.

The Voyageurs led 48-39 at halftime and opened up a 21-point second half gap before the Pioneers trapping defense ignited an 18-2 run that made it tight down the stretch.

Chip Carter led Northland with 20 points, while Dan Hoffard netted 18, Mike Swanson 17, and Mitch Bernstein 10.

The Pioneers had a tough day shooting with a 29-for-76 game from the field (38 percent) and a 10-for-22 showing at the free throw line. Rainy River was 30-for-57 from the floor (53 percent) and 13-for-21 at the line. Northland won the rebound battle 27-22. Rainy River had more turnovers, 24-17.

MCC girls shut down Prowlers

Thief River Falls' offense disappeared in the second half Saturday in a 43-29 girls high school basketball loss to Marshall County Central in Newfolden.

The Prowlers started with a 10-7 first quarter lead and wound up in a 20-20 halftime tie before the offense went stone-cold on them after intermission. Thief River Falls made just four of 30 second half field goal attempts, and the 13 percent showing limited the visitors to nine second half points.

"We came out and played some really tough defense in the second half," reported Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "Teamwise, I though we played really well defensively."

The Nordics began the fourth quarter with a 28-24 lead and iced it with a 5-for-5 stretch run at the free throw line.

"We had the shots, but we just weren't making the baskets," explained Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We were doing the things we wanted to do, but we just couldn't get the points."

Sara Lokstad, a 5-6 junior, led the Nordics with 20 points. Teammate Sandi Gustafson, a 5-10 senior, added 10. The Prowlers were led by 5-8 junior Lisa Ulrich with 15 points – 12 of those coming in the first half.

Thief River Falls was 14-for-53 from the field for the night (26 percent) and 0-for-2 at the free throw line. Marshall County Central went 16-for-50 from the field (32 percent) and 11-for-12 at the line. The Nordics out-rebounded the Prowlers 32-28, but they also had more turnovers, 11-6.

"We were a little sluggish the first half," said Mjelde. "We were tired. But we talked about some things at halftime, and they came out and got the job done."

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 4-8. The win put the Nordics at 5-6.

Gators' winning streak ends at 8

It didn't take long to figure out Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was in for a rough night.

The first-year boys high school basketball program was rolling along with an 8-0 record before stopping in Stephen Saturday. The Badger/Greenbush-Middle River offense was a little late showing up for the game, however, and the Gators found themselves trailing 15-0 as the horn sounded ending the first quarter. A game-long comeback failed to make up for nightmarish start as the Tigers held on for a 49-45 win.

"That's the first time in 23 years of coaching where we did not score any points in the first quarter," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "Nothing went down for us early in the game, and then it got to be a confidence thing. We got a few good shots, but they just wouldn't drop."

It was 24-12 at halftime and 35-24 through three quarters. Twice Badger/Greenbush-Middle River climbed within three points in the fourth quarter, and had a chance to pull even or make it a one-point game, only to have fouls and Stephen's clock-eating slow-down tactics keep the Gators at bay.

"We played decent on defense and not too bad on offense the rest of the night, but we never quite click," said Sparby.

David McGlynn of the Tigers led all scorers with 20 points. Matt Kuznia paced the Gators with 18 points.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was just 15-for-55 from the field (27 percent), while Stephen went 17-for-45 (38 percent). The Gators were 11-for-14 at the free throw line, where the Tigers went 9-for-15. The visitors had a 38-25 rebound edge. Turnovers were even at 10-apiece.

Huskies' rebounds beat Raiders 68-51

Goodridge converted rebounds into points Friday en route to a 68-51 boys high school basketball win over visiting Valley North.

The Huskies out-rebounded the Raiders 53-29 in going to 3-7 for the year.

"We had a real good night on the boards," acknowledged Goodridge coach John Rahn, "but we didn't shoot real well, and a lot of those rebounds were from our own shots."

Goodridge wound up with a 23-for-61, 38 percent shooting night from the field. And the Huskies had a tough time at the free throw line, too, with a 12-for-27 showing.

But they still had quarter leads of 20-13, 37-34 and 54-41.

Mitch Smsky led the Huskies with 26 points, while Ryan Kriel and Jason Kotrba both netted 12. Eldon Quam had a dozen rebounds for the winners. "Mitch, Ryan and Jason had nice games for us," noted Rahn.

Four Valley North scorers hit double figures, led by Jeremy Boman with 13 points.

Valley North was 19-for-52 from the field (37 percent) and 5-for-11 at the line.

Gay Warnecke had his name drawn from the membership pool for the second time, and once again forfeited the prize money because he was not in attendance at the meeting.

Thief River Falls boys lose to Ponies 53-43...

Warren rally tops Prowlers

There was a 20-point turnaround in Saturday's Thief River Falls vs. Warren boys high school basketball game as the visiting Ponies overcame a 10-point first half deficit to beat the Prowlers 53-43.

A game Thief River Falls effort wilted down the stretch, leaving the frustrated Prowlers still looking for their first win.

"I was really proud of the kids," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "It was a great effort. We played four good quarters against a quality basketball team.. It was a well-played basketball game – a fun game to watch."

Most of Thief River Falls' fun came in the first half. Five different Prowlers contributed points as they surprised the favored Ponies with a 14-4 first quarter lead. It was still a 10-point spread at 20-10 midway through the second quarter, before Warren finished with a 9-1 run to pull within 21-19 at intermission.

The Ponies didn't wrestle the lead away from the Prowlers until Adam Danielski hit a jumper on the run with 3:50 left in the third quarter.

Warren never lost the lead, but Thief River Falls stayed close. A fast break lay-up by the Prowlers' John Gunstad made it 34-31 at the end of the third quarter, and it was still a close game when Wade Evenson connected from the side to cut into a 41-35 Warren lead with 3:48 remaining in the game.

Most of the rest of the points came at the free throw line, where the Ponies opened things up with a 6-for-6 showing in the final 40 seconds.

"We missed some key free throws down the stretch that hurt, and they made their free throws," pointed out Brekke. "That pretty much was the difference."

Chad Kujava, a 6-foot senior guard, led the Ponies with 18 points, while Danielski came off the bench to contribute 12. Kyle Sanden scored 16 points and Gunstad had 10 for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls could muster just 39 shots, hitting 16 of them for a 41 percent showing. Warren got off more shots, but still struggled with a 19-for-51, 37 percent night against the Prowlers' defense.

"That was probably the best defensive game we've played all year," said Brekke. "The kids worked extremely hard on defense. They never quit."

While the Ponies made the free throws at the end, they finished just 12-for-20 at the line for the night. The Prowlers had a similar 11-for-20 showing.

Thief River Falls had a 30-25 rebound edge, but the Prowlers also had more turnovers, 20-9 – most of errant passes occurring in the front court. "We were a little impatient at times offensively," acknowledged Brekke. "The kids want to do well and when they do have some success, they get a little excited and maybe try to hurry things."

NCC women split MCCC road tests

Plagued by injuries and illness, the Northland Community College women's basketball team managed to get out of Hibbing with a 49-43 win Friday night, but then absorbed an 82-39 drubbing at the hands of Rainy River Saturday afternoon to kick off the Pioneers' 1992-93 Minnesota Community College Conference-counting schedule.

"We're hurt, and we're sick," pointed out Northland coach Rick Nikunen, who called off a Tuesday night nonconference game against the Moorhead State University junior varsity because of the lack of healthy players. The Pioneers return to MCCC play this weekend with a Friday night game against Mesabi and a Saturday afternoon match-up against Vermilion – both in Thief River Falls.

"The kids we had played hard," said Nikunen after the weekend road trip, "but there is only so much you can do. We were lucky to get out of Hibbing with a win. Saturday, we just wanted to get out of Rainy River alive."

Northland is 5-5 overall.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls...

Gators add two wins

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls played well Saturday and not so well Monday, but nevertheless still picked up two high school basketball wins as the Gators came from behind to beat Tri-County 50-46 and struggled past Kittson County North 55-39.

The wins put the Gators at 10-3 for the year.

Tri-County ....46

Trailing 46-42 with 2 1/2 minutes to play, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went on a game-ending 8-0 scoring run to beat host Tri-County 50-46.

Kristi Super scored 24 points and Sara Melby had 14 for the Gators, who trailed 15-9 at the end of the first quarter, went ahead 24-19 at halftime, then fell behind again 36-32 at the close of the third quarter.

"It was a well-played game," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "We played well against a very good team."

Melby was 6-for-8 from the field, 2-for-2 at the free throw line and dished out a bundle of assists, pointed out Neibauer, who also cited the defensive efforts by Super and Jessica Borgen.

Ericka Spilde and Jen Spilde both scored 12 to lead the Wildcats.

It wasn't pretty, but Badger/Greenbush-Middle River got by Kittson County North 55-39 in Lancaster.

"It was a slow-motion game," said Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "Everything was a real effort for us."

The winners had quarter leads of 12-2, 24-12 and 36-24.

Kristi Super scored 18 points to lead the Gators, while Robyn Iverson netted 11 and Jessica Borgen picked up 10. Lavonne Nelson led Kittson County North with 16 points.

Area deer harvest record set in 1992

The 1992 firearms deer season in northwest Minnesota set a new record with 67,547 deer harvested, according to registration figures compiled by 12 northwest area wildlife offices of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Northwest Region. The total was 15 percent higher, or 8,858 more deer than the previous regional record of 58,689, set just last year.

Combined registered harvest of the three northern Minnesota DNR Regions totaled around 170,000; or 20,000 more than the record harvest set last year. A new state record is expected when final figures from the extended seasons in southern Minnesota are in. The previous statewide record was 207,000 registered deer in 1991.

DNR's Northwest Region includes 121 counties in northwest and west-central Minnesota, in the northern portions of hunting Zones 2 and 4, and the western edge of Zone 1. Seven of the 12 areas within the region experienced new record harvests this year including Bemidji, Crookston, Fergus Falls, Glenwood, Karlstad, Morris, and Park Rapids.

"The record harvest as not unexpected," said Jim Breyen, DNR Regional Wildlife Supervisor at Bemidji, "Given the high deer population and the record number of antlerless permits issued in most areas of the state.

"Relatively mild and stable weather conditions allowed for good hunting and equal opportunity throughout the season for most northern Minnesota hunters," added Breyen.

Harvest Totals

■ Baudette - 4,071 (+7%) record 4,464, set in 1984.

■ Bemidji - 12,050 (+21%). New area record.

■ Crookston - 4,088 (+12%). New area record.

■ Detroit Lakes - 5,136 (+27%)

Grygla-Gatzke boys win pair

They weren't pretty, but Grygla-Gatzke went above the .500 mark in boys high school basketball with wins over Lake of the Woods Friday and Red Lake Falls Saturday.

The Eagles beat Lake of the Woods 57-46 and edged Red Lake Falls 53-52 to go 5-4 for the year, but Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson was far from satisfied with his team's weekend showing.

"We're just not executing our offense," said Johnson. "We're not playing well together."

Grygla-Gatzke ....57
Lake of the Woods ....46

Lonnie Larson, Jamie Lunsetter and Mike Cleven came off the bench to ignite a 16-2 second half scoring run that netted Grygla-Gatzke a 57-46 win over Lake of the Woods in Baudette.

The Eagles led 18-14 at the end of the first quarter, but trailed 24-23 at halftime and faced a 38-33 deficit before scoring the final eight points of the third quarter to take a 41-38 lead. The offensive run carried over into the start of the final period, producing a 49-40 gap that stood up for the rest of the night.

Scott Rindahl scored 21 points to lead the winners, with Rick Warne contributing 16 and Jeremy Engelstad 13. Joe Dobransky led Lake of the Woods with 15 points.

Grygla-Gatzke was 20-for-51 from the field (39 percent) and 14-for-20 at the free throw line. Lake of the Woods went 21-for-55 from the field (38 percent) and 4-for-10 at the line. The Eagles had a sizeable 40-24 rebound advantage, but they also had more turnovers, 17-12.

Two free throws by Jeremy Engelstad with nine seconds left enabled Grygla-Gatzke to get by upset-minded Red Lake Falls 53-52 in Grygla.

The winners started with a 17-11 first quarter lead, but duplicated a five-point second quarter from the previous night to fall behind 26-22 at halftime before regrouping and taking a 37-35 third quarter lead.

A basket by Red Lake Falls' Jon Hoefer with 20 seconds to play put the visitors up 52-51, but the free throws by Engelstad, who finished with a game-high 18 points, won it.

Brian Remick led Red Lake Falls with 14 points.

Red Lake Falls had a decided edge in the field goal department – hitting 24 of 51 shots (47 percent) to a 16-for-52 (30 percent) showing by Grygla-Gatzke. But the winners had a busy 14-for-25 night at the free throw line, where Red Lake Falls was 2-for-8. Grygla-Gatzke had a 27-23 rebound edge; Red Lake Falls topped turnover charts, 18-16.

Agassiz Refuge area has record '92 deer harvest

A record 755 deer were harvested in Area 203 - Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge and the adjoining state wildlife management areas – during the 1992 firearms deer hunting season, it was reported by refuge officials.

This year's harvest was 43 percent above the 1991 deer take of 528, and was the third consecutive year that numbers increased in Area 203.

There were 1,000 antlerless permits available in Area 203 for the 1992 season, compared to 500 in 1991. There were 693 hunters who applied for the permits, and 688 were issued. An additional 464 deer management permits (bonus permits) were made available to hunters checking the bonus box on the antlerless deer permit application.

The deer population in Area 203 before the season was estimated to be 3,300, an increase of 800 deer, or 32 percent, above the 1991 preseason deer population.

Hunter success was 52 percent, a decrease from 58 percent in 1991. The harvest included 313 adult bucks (42 percent), 256 adult females (34 percent), 100 fawn males (13 percent), and 86 fawn females (12 percent).

There were additional two deer harvested on the adjoining state wildlife management areas during the muzzleloader season, and eight deer were harvested during the archery season.

Climactic conditions at the present time are excellent for the deer herd, noted refuge personnel. Another increase in the deer population is expected if snow depth remains minimal and temperatures stay above normal during the 1992-93 winter season. An aerial mid-winter deer census will be completed in February. Results of this census and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources deer modeling will determine the number of antlerless permits available for the 1993 deer season.

DNR License Dates

Every New Years, some Minnesota hunters and anglers are left stumped over whether it's time to buy a new license, according to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Why are they confused?

"They're confused because the new licenses are available for purchase early in the new year, but they do not become effective until March 1," said Koren Beckman, DNR License Bureau assistant administrator.

People make a very natural assumption that a 1993 license purchased in January or February of 1993 is a current license, Beckman said. "The fact is, 1992 licenses are required through the end of February 1993."

Minnesota's fish and wildlife license year runs from March 1 of any given year through the last day of February in the following year. New licenses are put on sale before March 1 as a convenience for hunters and anglers who may want to prepare for the upcoming season, Beckman explained.

Although the actual valid dates have always been printed on licenses, a number of hunters and anglers mistakenly destroy still valid licenses at the end of each calendar year, according to Beckman.

"We've taken steps again this year to make the dates more evident on the new licenses," Beckman said. "Hopefully, that will help in our efforts to clarify the situation."

DNR fish and wildlife licenses are available at county auditor offices and more than 3,000 private businesses statewide.

State Parks

Ski Workshop

Have you just started skiing or would like to improve your technique? Old Mill State Park will host a cross country ski workshop, Sunday, Jan. 24, at 1 p.m. in the picnic shelter. A similar workshop will be given at Hayes Lake State Park at 1 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 23.

Avid skier and park ranger Chris Weir-Koetter will cover topics of choosing equipment, how to dress for the trail, waxing, and where to find groomed trails. Then those who bring skis can take part in "on snow" practice of kicking, poling, gliding, turning, and herringboning up hills. Basic skate skiing technique will also be demonstrated.

Non-skiers and skiers, young and not-as-young alike are invited to attend the workshop. Participants are asked to bring skis and wax if they have them and hot waxing will be available. The workshop is free, but park stickers and trail passes are required. Hot refreshments will be provided. For more information, call Old Mill State Park at 437-8174, or Hayes Lake State Park at 425-7504.

Driving while intoxicated. On January 15 at 10:05 p.m. police arrested Rolland Verbout, route 1, Grygla, for gross driving while intoxicated.

Representatives of Basler Turbo Conversions, Inc., of Oshkosh, WI were in Thief River Falls Friday to interview graduates of the aviation technology program of the Northwest Technical College Thief River Falls regarding employment with their company. Mike Dudley (center), director of human resources for Basler, and Randy Myers (left), production manager for the company, interviewed 15 people who are graduates or will graduate at the end of the winter quarter and plan to hire 10 to 15 employees soon. The Wisconsin firm hired 22 graduates of the Thief River Falls program in 1992. Myers and Basler's chief pilot, Paul Votava, who flew Dudley and Myers to Thief River Falls, are both 1982 graduates of the local aviation technology program and were here for interviews a year ago.

Finance committee debates proposed sales tax issue

approval of the proposal again, the city would have to present it in the form of a motion sometime in early February.

Council member Jean Heinrichs moved that the finance committee recommend to the council that city staff proceed with bringing the sales tax issue before the state legislature. To obtain a second to the motion, the chairman of the committee, Don Barron, had to vacate the chairman's position to Mayor Robert Reeve, and second the motion himself. Upon a call for a vote, Barron and Heinrichs voted in favor of the motion while Mayor Reeve and Alderman Milt Burstad voted against the motion. A tie means the motion falls for lack of support. (There are only four councilmen on the finance committee.)

Don Stewart asked what that means and whether the issue will be brought before the full council for a vote.

Mayor Reeve agreed to have the issue brought before the council but suggested that the issue be limited to discussing the merits of going to the state legislature instead of the merits of individual projects.

Another item on the finance committee agenda was discussion of a safety director position. A consensus on whether the position should be full-time or part-time position could not be reached and the proposal will fall in the laps of the labor committee once again.

Issues being discussed in the matter involve what committee should handle the issue, who will write the job description and whether the city needs to advertise the position for full time or part time or even whether the city has to advertise the position.

Supervisor of the Utilities Department, Arlo Rude, said the city still isn't doing the job it's supposed to do. "We're playing catch up all the time," he said. Rude said that with all the regulations that keep coming down, the city needs another full time employee.

The issue of a safety director for the city has been discussed in several committees including the public safety committee, finance committee, labor committee and utilities committee. No one seems to disagree that a safety director is necessary. Rules promulgated by the state seem to mandate the necessity for creating the position.

Dana Klos has been the part-time safety director for the utilities department. New rules regarding environmental pollution, once again promulgated by the state, complicated the issue because it is unknown whether there are enough duties for a full time position.

It was clear Tuesday, that Mayor Reeve and Alderman Burstad want to see a part time position at first.

Alderman John T. Anderson wants to see a full-time person fill the position because he believes a part-time employee will not have the level of expertise to handle the requirements of the job. Alderman Dale Wennberg seems to support Anderson. Wennberg wanted to know whether the city can afford to put the issue of environmental compliance on the back burner.

It was learned during the meeting that while Klos has filled in as the public safety director, Al Johnson has filled in as environmental officer. Thus, there are two part-time positions being absorbed in the utilities budget, and no one completing the jobs they were hired to do. Their part-time duties mainly require that they keep up with new rules and regulations and make sure the proper paperwork is completed. An underlying issue, not being openly discussed, may be that no department planned for a new position in its budget for 1993.

Power is also an issue not likely to be solved easily. Will the new public safety director, for example, have the authority to start disciplinary proceedings against an employee of another department who fails to comply with safety regulations. Who the public safety director reports to is another issue.

In addition, deciding whether to appoint or advertise for the position will be another difficult prospect. Anderson argued that the city is not really creating a new position because Klos is already filling in as the city's safety director. Alderman Don Barron explained that legal counsel has advised that whenever a new position is created the city has to advertise for the position.

The only consensus reached Tuesday was that the matter should be brought before the labor committee. Wennberg and Anderson, who serve on the labor committee, promised their committee would come up with a recommendation, possibly several recommendations.

Two in custody following drug arrest in Ada

Two men have been taken into custody following execution of a search warrant in which four and one half pounds of marijuana was seized.

Red Lake County sheriff's department reported Monday morning that they had learned that a package was being delivered by U.S. mail to a residence on January 15 in Red Lake Falls. Surveillance was placed on the package and it was delivered to the residence in Red Lake Falls. A short time after it was delivered the package was taken from the residence and this time, under surveillance of a member of the Red Lake county sheriff's office, the package was taken to a residence in Ada. A search warrant was obtained and executed for that residence. At that time about four and one-half pounds of marijuana was seized along with a large sum of U.S. currency. The marijuana seized had a street value of $18,000.

Two people were taken into custody: Carlos Albert Oasquez of Ada; and Artero Anthony Ruiz of Red Lake Falls. Both men were taken into custody without incident. Ruiz was released pending a formal complaint being filed in connection with this incident.

Red Lake county sheriff's office, the U.S. Postal Service, Minnesota State Crime Bureau, Minnesota State Patrol, Paul Bunyan Task Force, Norman County sheriff's office, and Ada police department were involved in the investigation.

"Othello," a mature bald eagle brought to the State Capitol last week by naturalist Nancy Gibson, is admired by Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls. The eagle made its appearance in support of the Nongame Wildlife Checkoff program which allows taxpayers to donate money to the Nongame Wildlife Fund by checking a designated box on their tax returns. Rep. Sparby said he strongly supports the program which helps protect nongame wildlife species—such as the eagle—through educational and environmental projects.

State wildlife checkoff fund needs support

Since 1980 dozens of nongame wildlife species in Minnesota have benefitted from public donations collected through the state's Nongame Wildlife Checkoff program, according to Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls.

Informally known as the "Chickadee-Checkoff," the program allows taxpayers to check a box on their tax form to give a donation to help wildlife directly from their tax refunds. The proceeds support projects like bald eagle nest management and protection and wildlife education seminars and brochures.

"The program supports only nongame wildlife, such as bald eagles and turtles," Rep. Sparby said. "It is a real benefit to some of the more uncommon species such as the black-billed cuckoo and Cape May warbler."

Rep. Sparby said he has been an ardent supporter of the checkoff plan since it began and continues to have a high interest in it.

"It's an easy way for citizens to help protect the state's precious wildlife," he said. "Our northwest corner of Minnesota, in particular, benefits from protection plans aimed at the area's nongame species."

While license fees and excise taxes on many types of sporting equipment and fund-raising efforts by organizations with special interests provide money for habitat and management of a number of game and fish species, nongame species often have benefitted only incidentally from these projects. The checkoff permits people with an interest in wildlife who do not purchase hunting or fishing licenses or firearms or fishing gear to contribute financially to help wild creatures.

"More than ever, the program now needs help from Minnesotans" Rep. Sparby said. "After 12 successful years, checkoff donations are beginning to dwindle. Less than six per cent of all Minnesota taxpayers have participated so far this year and officials do not expect the checkoff to reach its $1 million goal.

"I hope citizens will realize the importance of this program and consider their donations an investment in Minnesota's future."

The checkoff box is marked on tax forms by a picture of a loon. Citizens may also give directly to the program by sending donations to the Nongame Wildlife Program, Box 7, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155. Make checks payable to the Nongame Wildlife Fund. Donations to the fund are tax deductible.

Accident and injury reduction workshop set

Any business which employs workers should have an interest in the "Safety Programs That Work" workshop to be held Thursday, January 28, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Instructor will be Rich Chandler and cost will be $25 per person. The workshop will emphasize compliance with the Minnesota AWAIR—a workplace accident and injury reduction program.

Employers must have safety programs that contain eight essential components to comply with Minnesota state law. At the January 28 session participants will learn what constitutes a qualifying safety program and how to write and implement a model program for their own organizations.

For more information or to preregister contact the Thief River Falls Technical College customized training service at 681-5424 or 1-800-222-2884.

Cross-country ski program at Fertile Jan. 24

Cross-country skiers are invited to learn more about the Fertile Sandhills area at a session Sunday, January 24, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Fertile.

Visitors will meet ski "hosts" familiar with the trails at 1:30 p.m. at the satellite dishes at the west end of Jefferson Avenue in Fertile. From that point, based on the skiers participating and the weather conditions, tour guides will take skiers over trails to suit their interest and experience level. Trail maps will be available.

For people wanting to bring marshmallows or hotdogs, a fire will be built downstream from the Strem bridge. Skiers will meet there at 3:30 p.m. for refreshments and to discuss future skiing options for the sandhills. All persons with an interest in cross-country skiing are invited.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

Do good works come naturally?

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

"When you have the Spirit of God, you just naturally do the good works. You don't have to consciously think of doing them. It is a natural result of having the Spirit." Is there anything wrong with the above statement? It sounds good to the ear. It even sounds reasonable. To be sure, let's hold it up against the word of God.

The apostles were commanded by Jesus Christ to teach people all that He commanded and taught them in their three years of training. What does this teach us? We are commanded by Jesus Christ to do things (Matt. 28:20).

Jesus says a determination is being made as to whether we will keep His commands and bear fruit or not (Matt. 3:10). He says we must strive to enter by pushing ourselves, and many will not make it (Luke 13:24). We have to give up something (Luke 14:33). We have to persevere to win our souls (Luke 21:19). We have to force our way into the kingdom (Luke 16:16). Our righteousness must surpass the hypocritical stage—the scribes and Pharisees were hypocrites (Matt. 5:20, 23:5, 13).

The Bible tells us we will eventually be like happy slaves, doing God's Will (righteousness) from the heart (Eph. 6:6). But first we must overcome our natures by disciplining ourselves according to godliness; and to do this, we must do Christ's works or deeds (1 Tim. 4:7, Rev. 2:26, John 14:12).

We are told to fight the good fight of faith (1 Tim. 1:18; 2 Tim. 4:7). We are told to endure to the end to be saved (Matt. 10:22, 24:13, Heb. 10:36). In other words, we are to do good deeds until the end (Heb. 10:24-25). We must not grow weary or lose heart in doing good deeds (Gal. 6:9).

We have to live this Way daily to be worthy of Christ (Matt. 10:38). We are commanded to be careful to engage in good deeds for the purpose of overcoming the devil (Titus 3:8, Rom. 12:21). If we prove zealous for good deeds and allow God to crush Satan's will in our lives, he can do us no harm (1 Peter 3:13; 2 Tim. 2:26, Rom. 16:20).

Now, let's ask the question again. "Will you just naturally do good as a result of having God's Spirit in you?" In order to continue to think that doing good is automatic for a disciple of Jesus Christ, a person would have to cancel out all of the above Scriptures, and they represent but a few of the many to be found.

Yes, I have many fond memories of the Vernes church that burned down. That is where my father, Oust J. Strand's parents, the John Strands, are buried, grandma died in 1927 and grandpa in 1928. I had a letter from my cousin, Larry Thompson out in California, telling me his parents, Tina Strande and Erich Thompson were the first couple married at Vernes church in 1904, their two daughters are Larry's sisters, Thelma and Nettie Thompson, and they had the first double wedding in Vernes church in 1939. So now you know why we have many fond memories of the first Vernes church. They have built a new church now, but I haven't seen it.

John Doran of Apple Valley spent Monday to Thursday visiting with his mother, Mrs. Jean Olson.

Overseas Mailing Curbed Under Order

"Under a ruling announced by the postoffice department in Washington, drastic restrictions are now in effect on parcels and newspapers mailed to servicemen overseas, it was stated this week by Postmaster Andrew Anderson. Parcels destined for men overseas may no longer be mailed except at the specific request of the addressee, and the individuals are not permitted to mail newspapers to overseas destinations. Publishers of newspapers and magazines are permitted under the order to continue mailing their publications to subscribers overseas, but any new subscriptions for foreign destinations must be accompanied by a specific request from the addressee."

INSURANCE UPDATE
by Ron Hanson
UNDER YOUR UMBRELLA
In an age when lawsuits might seek million dollar damage awards, people are increasingly looking to umbrella policies for coverage. An umbrella policy makes it possible for two-tiered protection from liability claims. To qualify for an umbrella, most companies require certain basic limits for your auto and home policies. The umbrella coverage provides coverage in excess of the basic limits. An umbrella policy will provide from $1 to $5 million in added liability coverage, depending on what limit is selected. Umbrella coverage is not a replacement for basic auto and home liability, but a valuable addition to it.

Tad Jude Believes DFL Party Left Him

"Frankly, I didn't leave the DFL party. Rather, I believe the party left me," writes Tad Jude, Hennepin county commissioner and former Minnesota legislator, in announcing a change in his political affiliation.

Why would we in the northwest corner of the state be interested in the views of a Twin Cities area politician? Because what he has to say is probably being felt by a number of long-time DFL party faithful throughout the state...and because many Independent-Republicans may also feel their party has left them to a similar degree.

"Life holds unpredictable twists and turns," Jude writes. "If someone had told me—even as little as a year ago—that I would put a lifetime of DFL history behind me and join the Republican party in December of 1992, I would have thought it inconceivable. Why then would I leave a political party which will now control the Presidency as well as both houses of Congress and have solid control of the Minnesota Legislature?

"The DFL of today is not the same party I grew up believing in. It is not the party of mainstream thought in Minnesota, and certainly no longer the party of the ideals exemplified by former Vice President Hubert Humphrey. My decision was to change my party rather than my principles.

"I grew up a Democrat in a solid, hard working Wright county family with long time DFL ties. My grandfather was the DFL mayor of Maple Lake. My father was a DFL state senator and state party treasurer. This past year my wife was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention. In 1972 I was the youngest member ever elected to the Minnesota Legislature.

"During my 16 years as a DFL legislator, I worked hard to represent my Wright and Hennepin county constituents with both conscience and conviction. However, I found myself as the years passed increasingly at odds with DFL leaders, the party platform and its legislative programs," Jude continued.

Jude contends that Congressman Jerry Sikorski "blatantly and consistently violated the standards and privileges of his office by his unethical conduct" and so he opposed the incumbent congressman at the Sixth District DFL convention. Sikorski was nominated on the first ballot. Jude then ran against Sikorski in the primary election and lost a close election.

"We carried three out of the five counties in the primary election despite being out spent by Sikorski by a ratio of seven to one. We also bore the full brunt of the Wellstone Alliance and the new DFL agenda that puts its leftist philosophy before ethics. I saw firsthand how radical my party had become," Jude said. Then he continues:

"My decision to join the Republican party was at first not an easy one. Indeed, I was faced with the dilemma of either attempting to change the DFL party, or of striking out on a new path.... Since the DFL party is increasingly controlled by the predominant left wing, special-interest groups, I believe, therefore, that the DFL party is today clearly out of step with the majority of Minnesotans.

"Frankly, I didn't leave the DFL party. Rather, I believe the party left me. I continue to hold the same fundamental views I always held and believed in: fiscal responsibility, a strong national defense, a strong public safety and law enforcement policy for our state, a clean environment, educational opportunity, moderate tax policies and limited government regulations for small business and job development. It is these very ideals and principles that the DFL party has moved away from.

"Instead, it has embraced a social and economic agenda that favors excessive taxation, heavy government regulation of business, uncontrolled spending on social programs that have created dependence on government and diminished individual responsibility, and a policy of exclusion to those whose views differ from the party's extreme liberal agenda. Indeed, great populist leaders of the Democratic party, such as Harry Truman, would not recognize the transformation that has occurred in today's DFL party.

"Democrats and liberal media like to chastise Republicans for having an exclusive, intolerant party. I am now convinced that the exact opposite is true. The DFL party is not the big tent with all viewpoints represented as it claims to be. Rather, it is a radical party of liberal extremism. The Republican party, and leaders of tomorrow such as Jack Kemp and Vin Weber, are taking up the banner of middle America and are reclaiming the original ideals of Abraham Lincoln.

"It has become increasingly clear to me that the Republican party represents the future of our country. Ironically, in what was once regarded by some as a party of big business and anti-labor, the Republican party today personifies opportunity for hard-working Minnesotans. Parents need more opportunity to be involved in their children's education. Small business needs the understanding, not the burden of excessive regulation, from government. Working people of all backgrounds need to have their worth recognized in the marketplace without the suffocation of unfair and burdensome taxes. Safe streets—free of fear and crime—and a policy of realistic environmentalism need to be constantly strived for.

"As former Vice President Hubert Humphrey was fond of saying, there really should be a moral test for government. We can provide opportunity as well as provide for 'those in the dawn of life, the children; those in the dusk of life, the elderly; and those in the shadows of life, the poor, disabled and disenfranchised.' I am convinced that this broad mission is what today's Republican party stands for.

"I intend to continue to play a role in influencing public policy, but from now on I will be doing it in the Republican party," he concluded.

We hope that Jude finds what he expects to find in the I-R ranks, but we are not certain it is still there. If he can help revitalize the ideals he espouses in the party of his choice, he will be doing a major service to his state and nation.

PENNINGTON COUNTY
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 1991

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Pennington County was established November 23, 1910, and is an organized county having the powers, duties and privileges granted counties by Minn. Stat. ch. 373. The County is governed by a five-member board of commissioners elected from districts within the County. The Board is organized with a chair and vice-chair elected at the annual meeting in January of each year. The County Auditor, elected on a county-wide basis, serves as the clerk of the board but has no vote.

The Welfare Board governs the activities of the Welfare Department and consists of seven members: five county commissioners and two lay members appointed by the commissioners and approved by the Minnesota Department of Human Services.

The financial reporting policies of the County conform to generally accepted accounting principles.

A. Financial Reporting Entity

For financial reporting purposes, in conformance with generally accepted accounting principles, the County's financial statements include all funds, account groups, departments, agencies, boards, commissions, and other organizations over which County officials exercise oversight responsibility. Oversight responsibility includes such duties as appointment of governing body members, budget review, approval of property tax levies, responsibility for outstanding debt secured by Pennington County's full faith and credit or revenues, and responsibility for funding deficits.

As a result of applying the criteria for determining the reporting entity, certain organizations have been excluded from the County's financial statements:

The Pennington County Agricultural Society was created for the purpose of planning and administering the County Fair. The Agricultural Society is governed by a board elected at its annual meeting and is responsible for adopting its own budget and preparing financial statements. The Society is responsible for any debt it issues.

The Pennington County Historical Society was created for the purpose of preserving and restoring artifacts to show and tell the history of Pennington County. The Historical Society is governed by its own board, which prepares and adopts its budget. The County makes an annual appropriation to the Society, and has no financial, operational, or managerial control over the organization.

The Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District was created [illegible]

PUBLIC NOTICE

The CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS Water Department announces that the maximum limit for Turbidity in drinking water was exceeded during the month of December 1992.

Turbidity is caused by the presence of finely suspended particles such as clay, sand, or organic matter in water. Turbidity can be a problem if it interferes with the Chloramine used for disinfection. However, the high turbidity level did not create a health hazard because the Water Department is able to maintain effective levels of chloramines for disinfection.

The Thief River Falls Water Purification Plant is currently in the construction stage of a 6.7 million dollar expansion and remodeling project. This project will enable compliance with the water quality requirements of the 1986 Amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act.

Please be assured that the water is safe to drink. Any citizen seeking additional information should contact Allen J. Lemm, at the Water Purification Plant, phone number 681-3809.

Students add talents to LHS choir telethon

When the Lincoln high school choir conducts its telethon Sunday, February 7, as a major fundraiser for its trip to New York City, many Lincoln students will be performing during the event.

Telethon hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m. and the event will originate from the campus of Northwest Technical College Thief River Falls. Local cable viewers will be able to view it on channel 13.

Darcy Reese, vocal music instructor at Lincoln high school, said that about $15,000 remains to be raised toward the total needed for the trip and that the telethon is expected to be a major source of funding.

Reese also said an air of mystery has been added to the telethon by the scheduling of a mystery pianist who will perform at the show. She said the personality is a long-time resident of the community but not generally known for piano expertise. The pianist will appear in costume, she added.

Local business places have also been invited to participate in the telethon by purchasing 30-second commercials which will be aired during the six-hour program. Choir members will come to the business place to videotape the commercials.

Persons who would like to support the choir but will not be in the community during the telethon may send advance pledges or donations to the Lincoln Choir Boosters, Box 267, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Checks should be made payable to the Lincoln Choir Boosters.

Vocalists from the local school who will be participating as soloists or in groups include Kristi Lindberg, Vanessa Anderson, Lori Golightly, Lisa Swanson, Melanie Krepp, Laura Toren, Becky Mattson, Danae Dekkers, the

Workers' comp forum Feb. 10 at Best Western

As part of a state-wide program to involve local business leaders in a workers' comp reform effort, a forum will be conducted Wednesday, February 10, at 7:30 a.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Conducting the forum will be Joe Goggin, vice president of finance for the Red Wing Shoe company and chairman of the Minnesota Workers' Compensation Coalition and Brad Ervin, director of workforce policy for the Minnesota chamber of commerce.

Co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce, the forum is one of 17 being held across the state through the end of February.

"Minnesota businesses are being encouraged to work aggressively again this year to pass further workers' compensation reform measures during the 1993 legislative session," Goggin said. "Last year, the Minnesota Legislature passed a good first step toward workers' compensation system reform, but more reform is needed if Minnesota is to become competitive with our neighboring states."

Goggin said the direct involvement of individual business leaders was responsible for passage of that first step toward reform. "When all reform ingredients settle in during the next several years, employers may realize long-term savings of 10 to 16 per cent. While this cost reduction is helpful, it represents only the first step toward what is necessary for healthy, competitive business and job creation. Even if

Mitch Kezar takes "Photos That Work!"

Now a professional freelance photographer in the Twin Cities, former TRF resident knows the value of good photos

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Hanging out of a helicopter, diving into the frigid waters of Lake Superior or peering through the viewfinder in corporate board rooms of Fortune 500 companies, Mitch Kezar has one goal in mind—taking pictures that work.

That goal is the slogan for Kezar's photo business. In an age of specialization, the former Thief River Falls native seems to thrive on the challenges of diversification. "I specialize," he says, "in moose to microchips."

The son of Dennis and Betty Kezar, Mitch has been a freelance photographer since 1982 when the Minneapolis Star was having financial problems and made him an offer he couldn't refuse—six months' pay if he would leave his job as assistant director of photography. "I was the first one out the door," he said.

He found out at an early age that there is a whole world in photography. As an eight-year-old member of the City View 4-H club he was enrolled in the photography project and exhibited at the Pennington County Fair. As a member of the Future Farmers of America chapter at Lincoln high school he took Polaroid photos of activities for the chapter scrapbook and newspaper publicity.

Two days before he graduated from high school he became a full-time reporter-photographer at the Thief River Falls Times and filled that role for two years before enlisting in the U.S. Air Force. Aptitude tests indicated he should serve his country as a mechanic.

"I told them a wrench doesn't fit my hand," he said. "A camera fits my hand." The air force allowed him to test into the photography area. He passed the test—by one percentage point over minimum.

But the air force job didn't keep him busy enough, so he went downtown to look for a job and found one at the Montgomery Advertiser. He would get off work at his air force job at 4:30 p.m. each day and put in 38 hours a week taking photos and writing stories for the newspaper. The military job was fairly quiet, but he was shot at a couple of times on the newspaper job.

When he and the air force were through with each other in 1974 after a four-year enlistment, Mitch headed for Florida and a job with the Tampa Tribune in its Hernando county bureau. In 1978 he got called to work downtown and became section editor for a year, writing heads and stories for a year. He then became director of photography for the paper, overseeing 37 people and handling a million dollar budget. While at Tampa he was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize in photography in 1977 and 1978.

During his newspaper work in the South he "covered everything from Presidents to axe murders—literally," he said.

In 1981 he became picture editor of the Minneapolis Star, assigning photographers, placing photos and looking for ways to effectively illustrate stories. He was then made assistant director of photography under chief photographer Earl Seubert, a job which gave him "a car, a camera and a credit card." He left the paper in 1982 when the carrot of six month's pay was dangled in front of him.

Kezar, Inc., was born of necessity, nourished on a good reputation in the newspaper business and contacts around the country, and seasoned by experience.

"All I knew was news photography where the action dictates the shot," he said. "Now I was in a field where you often had to made the action to get a photo and quality was the key. I didn't have any technical training like others in the field had, so it was off to the library to get as much information as I could from books."

While reading, however, he was also taking pictures with no little degree of success. He had done some freelance work for "National Geographic" in prior years and done a couple of covers for the society's "World" magazine, so he started writing proposals to the editors of that magazine.

Working off and on over two and a half years, a total of 90 days on-site, he did a photo essay of Michigan's Isle Royal which was published in 1985 in "National Geographic" and included 28 of his photos.

He built on his collection of "stock" photographs—pictures which are rather generic in nature and can be used in many different ways for many different purposes. These are filed with an agency which deals in providing photos for a fee and pays a royalty for their use. Kezar's stock photos now

On the plains of Tanzania, Africa, photographer Mitch Kezar found this lioness among a pride which had just fed and was relaxing in the long grass. The photo was taken with a 300mm lens from an open safari car at a distance of about 20 feet. "She didn't appear to be disturbed and the guide seemed to be quite familiar with the behavior of the animals," Kezar said, "but I got to thinking that we were encroaching on her territory and were very vulnerable if she took exception to our being there. As soon as I shot the photo we backed away and left the area."

INSURANCE Update

SAFELY SEATED

Every state now has laws requiring use of approved safety seats for infants and toddlers. These seats greatly reduce the likelihood that a child will be injured or killed in an auto accident. Statistics from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) bear out this fact. According to the NHTSA, the use of child safety seats reduces infant fatalities in traffic accidents by 69 percent and 47 percent for toddlers, ages 2 to 4. The use of adult safety belts by toddlers is illegal in some states, and only about 36 percent as effective as using a child safety seat.

Everyone, regardless of age, should use seat belts when riding in a car. No one knows when a mishap will occur. It is also important to be adequately protected by insurance. NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is available to discuss your insurance requirements. Our office is conveniently located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon.-Fri., 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

Speaking Of . . .

. . . Blame It on the Flu

Did you watch the inauguration? I got to see most of it, too. (Since I was home from work with that flu that is going around and was often closeted in the little room down the hall, I didn't get to see every minute of it. Oh, no, I did not stay home from work on purpose to watch the inauguration—I really had the flue bug!)

Anyway, it was very exciting and inspiring. What a wonderful tradition we have in our country. I was moved to tears when the new president took his oath of office, not so much by Mr. Clinton, but by the fact that such a tradition and such a profound promise had been made by every new president, no matter how great or small his contribution to the country, for over 200 years. Such a solemn time, and such a solemn oath.

I couldn't help but notice President Bush's face as Mr. Clinton took his oath and wonder just what he was thinking at that moment. He had such a bitter-sweet expression on his face.

Was he thinking of four years ago when he stood in that place? Was he thinking that if things had turned out differently he might have had four more years in office? Was he thinking of what was left undone? Was he thinking of what he will be doing in the future?

As well as all of the traditional stuff that went on Wednesday, I also enjoyed looking at the women's clothes. Yes, we females sometimes do that, or at least this female does. Well, I was interested in what the baby boomer generation wore to an inauguration—there's nothing wrong with that, is there?

I wonder if Mrs. Clinton and Mrs. Gore and Mrs. Bush talked to one another about what they would wear to the inauguration. I am still trying to figure out if their inaugural clothes were very well-coordinated or if they were terribly uncoordinated.

In case you have forgotten, Mrs. Clinton wore a royal blue coat and hat, Mrs. Gore wore a royal purple coat and hat, and Mrs. Bush wore a lavender coat and no hat at all. Mrs. Bush looked fine without a hat. Frankly, she looked the best of all, if you ask me—very neat and nice and comfortable.

Mrs. Clinton's hat was rather strange, to say the least, or so I thought, but what do I know about fashion, anyway. That type of hat will probably be sold in every store from now on and called, "Hillary's Hat," just like Mrs. Kennedy's pillbox.

Mrs. Gore's hat was a lot like Mrs. Clinton's, except that it dipped a bit on the side, a little jaunty. The hat seemed to epitomize the difference between Mrs. Clinton and Mrs. Gore.

Sometimes they are so much alike it is hard to tell who is who, so I have gotten to know one from the other because I've noticed that Mrs. Gore is just a little more lively and sporty-appearing, and she wears clothes that are a little more…interesting.

It really didn't appear that Mrs. Gore and Mrs. Clinton had compared notes on what they would wear. Didn't you think it looked as if they had both been to the same coat shop and bought the same coat in different colors? Maybe it was just my eyes that "flu-ey" day.

Speaking of colors, wasn't it "cute-sey" how Mrs. Clinton wore blue for the inauguration ceremony and purple for the inaugural balls and Mrs. Gore wore purple to the inauguration ceremony and blue for the balls? Do you suppose they planned that? Do you suppose I had nothing better to do that day than notice such a thing?

Nevertheless, despite all of the criticism, I am glad to see that Mrs. Clinton isn't going to be one of those "clothes horse" first ladies and that she had better things to do than spend all of last month deciding what she would wear the day of the inauguration.

Mrs. Gore, on the other hand, appears to be more frivolous and fashion-conscious, but that will be fine. It will be fun to see what she wears to all of the fancy functions and events. It will give us critical ladies someone to criticize too, right?

Well, now that I have shown you just how trivially critical I can be, I will expect that you won't hold it against me. After, all, you know I had the flu bug.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

by Gretchen Beito

It is hard to imagine what logging days were like in Thief River Falls, a place far from the white pine stands. But a century ago the Meehan Saw Mill was the big industry in Thief River Falls and logging was prime local news, even in the wintertime.

The Thief River Falls Times reported that in mid-January of 1895, 25 men at Lennon's Camp had completed cutting 4,500,000 feet of timber and that Lennon was banking $225 a week. Bourdon and Ralph, "hustlers," had cut one and a half million feet, James Wiley a half million feet, and Steenerson two million feet of timber.

James and Patrick Meehan bought logs from Indians at $6 a thousand board feet. They bought a few logs from settlers but they were so small it took 16 trees to make 1000 board feet.

T.B. Walker and A. Wright were buying logs and would drive them down the same streams as the Meehans. Walker processed his logs in Crookston.

By the end of March, the ice in the Red Lake River was over three feet thick. Even so, the ice in the Thief River Falls Mill Pond was removed in order to redrive the piles that would confine the logs. The Thief River Falls Boom Company had a crew of men driving piles and making sorting works to handle logs destined for points below the dam.

S.C. Bagley, the veteran lumber man of Fosston, had just completed his contract of cutting and hauling 4 million feet of logs for the Red River Lumber Company, the Grand Forks Herald reported. "Ten million feet of timber will float down the Red Lake River the coming summer" was the prediction on March 14, 1895. Over 100 log drivers would be needed at Blackduck that spring.

The cutting of timber 100 miles away necessitated many trips for people from Thief River to the logging stands. Appearing in the Times were notices such as, "Sandy Miller left for the woods yesterday where he will stay until spring" (January 17, 1895).

On March 14, 1895, the Times reported that James Meehan had traveled via the Red Lake Agency for the logging camps and that Patrick Meehan had left for business with the White Earth Indian Agent.

No information on their trip was given, but the Times reprinted a travel account that was probably similar to the Meehan' trip. In early March 1895 Frank Gravel told a Crookston Times reporter that he left Fosston with F.A. Krib, a veteran timber agent. They traveled by wagon hitched to a team of horses—sleighing was already out of the question.

After a day's travel he and Krib stopped for the night at Howes' stopping place for supper and lodging. They were given the bridal suite which was also occupied by the driver and Indian Chief Needle-Through-His-Nose.

The party left Howes' at 7 a.m. and "pushed on the lines" until they got to the Clearwater dam for dinner. The menu was boiled pork with burnt potato, salad, yellow dog, minced, sprinkled with pine knots. Dessert was iced snow balls and water sauce. Tea was brewed from boiled hay, coffee from boiled brown potato peelings. "The milk was still with the cow and the cow was 60 miles away," Gravel joked.

Feeling much refreshed after this noon meal and a good wash in Clearwater Lake, they pushed on to the Agency where they stayed overnight. Many men were at the Agency waiting for the drive to start.

In the morning they left for Blackduck where they had dinner with the loggers and looked over the winter cut of logs, a big one—"finer pine no man ever looked at," Gravel said.

When they returned to the Agency for the night they met two of the oldest Red Lake Chiefs, Chief Nail-Off-Big-Toe, age 89, and Chief String-Around-Wife's-Neck, age 87.

Gravel revealed how he coveted the timber on the Reservation, saying it could not be too soon to take the Indian land. He said much timber was "wasted" because he passed through miles and miles of blown down and burnt pine, "a part of which could be utilized if Uncle Sam doesn't wait too long to throw Red Lake open to settlement."

On the trip, Gravel said, he felt out of the world—they could drive 40 miles without meeting any person. The trip was a hard one, one that he wouldn't care to repeat more than every 10 years.

In April the Meehans put in a dam and flooded logs out of O'Brien Creek. A little rain would ensure a clean drive. A crew of men was dispatched to work seven miles upstream to drive down a million feet of logs left there the previous fall.

By April 18th, the Meehan Mill had commenced work and had hired 30 new men. However, the Times reported the demand for lumber was falling because only 12 car loads of lumber were shipped that week.

On Sunday morning, April 25th, the new steamboat, the "Alice," designed to run in low water, was successfully launched.

But the logging industry, like farming, was dependent on rainfall. By May 23rd T.B. Walker's mill at Crookston had not yet started up. Logs were still high and dry on the banks of small streams and the company hoped for heavy rain at the head of the Clearwater River. And the Meehan Sawmill closed for at least three weeks on June 13th until they could get a new supply of logs.

U.S. to count business firms in economic census

More than 3.5 million American businesses will receive 1992 Economic Census questionnaires from the U.S. Census Bureau in December.

The due date for returning the completed forms is February 15. Firms receiving census forms are required by law to respond.

This is the most comprehensive Economic Census ever undertaken. For the first time, activity in finance, insurance, real estate, communications, and utilities will be measured, in addition to sectors traditionally covered: retail and wholesale trade, service industries, transportation, manufactures, mining, and construction industries. Censuses now measure nearly 98 per cent of all economic activity in the nation.

Taken every five years, the economic census identifies trends in business activity that are vital to measuring and encouraging growth in the American economy.

The Federal Government relies on census data to develop important measures of economic change, such as monthly retail sales and the gross domestic product. State and local agencies use the Economic Census in regional planning, economic development, and in efforts to attract and keep business activity in their areas.

While Economic Census data are used extensively by governments, associations, and news media, businesses receiving census forms should be aware that they too can benefit. Businesses use the data to develop business plans, calculate market share, and compare themselves to industry averages. The Economic Census also is important for business-to-business marketing: the locations of retail outlets and the design of distribution systems frequently are influenced by the results.

Information requested in the economic census includes number of employees, annual payroll, and the value of goods and services provided during calendar year 1992.

To simplify reporting, the Census Bureau has designed over 500 versions of the basic census questionnaire, each tailored to a particular industry or size of firm. Many very small businesses will not receive a census form.

The information provided in the census is absolutely confidential. By law, only sworn Census Bureau employees may see individual responses, which are also exempt from the Freedom of Information Act.

Statistics from the 1992 Economic Census will be published in more than 500 printed reports and in formats for computers, including compact discs (CD-ROMs). Both printed reports and CD-ROMs will be available in hundreds of libraries across the nation, or may be purchased inexpensively from the Government Printing office.

Dear Readers,

The death of a child is one of life's cruelest blows. It goes against the laws of nature. Those who have not experienced a loss of this magnitude cannot begin to fathom the anguish. There is little you can say or do to help a grieving parent - they must heal in their own time, and in their own way.

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Family History

Young children are always interested in photographs and their families. They also need to have a sense of their own history, who their grandparents and extended family members are and what these people look like. This is important for the child's own self-concept and sense of identity.

An effective way to give your children this history is to make a family album for them. You will need a photo album or scrapbook, or just pages of colored paper that you can lace together. Collect pictures of them when they were younger, pictures of parents at various stages in their lives, grandparents and other members of the extended family. Be sure to write the names of the family members and the approximate date of the picture or the age of the individuals in the picture. For younger children, these pictures may be covered with clear contact paper so the child can see, hold, touch and enjoy his own personal history.

SCAVENGER HUNT

BOOK OF THE WEEK

Sample some new selections that contain a bit of "country" from the Thief River Falls public library:

Singer, Marilyn. Chester, the Out-of-Work Dog. Chester, the border collie, is faced with finding a new job when his family moves from the country to the city. After deciding that he can't make the adjustment, he discovers a nice surprise.

McGregor, Meredith. Cowgirl. Casey will give you a complete tour of her ranch. Along the way, she will explain a lot of the chores involved with ranching.

VIDEO VARIETY

Old MacDonald's Farm. Four live action, fully animated cartoons including "Old MacDonald's Farm," "Coming Round the Mountain," "Gobs of Fun" and "Wild, Wild West."

(Contributed by the Northwest Regional Library.)

PARENTING TIPS

Working Mothers

One of the most important trends in recent years has been the increasing number of women in the work force. Today nearly half of all preschoolers have mothers in the labor force.

The average mother spends 35 to 40 hours a week on her paying job and an additional 40 hours on home and family care. If you are an employed mother, whether by choice or necessity, you may feel overwhelmed at times trying to juggle your roles of wife, mother and worker and you may feel guilty about how your job is affecting your family life.

Studies show that a mother's employment does not in itself have a negative effect on children. Going to work does not automatically make you a bad mother, just like staying at home does not automatically make a woman a good mother. In both cases what is important is:

1. the quality of care your child receives when you are gone and
2. what you are like when you are with your child.

You must make choices: your time and energy are limited. You will not be able to do everything. Do not feel guilty about what you cannot do, but instead set priorities and do the things that are the most important for your family and yourself. Your sense of well-being is also important.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Take time to focus on your child in an unhurried manner. Have a real conversation with your child. Take time to talk and to listen.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are just a mish-mash of things that I would like to cook on one of these cold winter days. Of course, I would also like to eat these things on a cold winter's day, or any other day, for that matter.

This savory main dish meat is very low in fat, but don't try it if you are watching your sodium:

HAM AND BEAN CASSEROLE

1 package (10 ounces) frozen lima beans
1 can (21 ounces) baked beans
1 can (15 1/2 ounces) kidney beans, drained
3/4 cup cubed smoked ham (fully cooked-type)
1/2 cup ketchup
1 tablespoon packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mustard (dry is fine)
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, chopped

Heat oven to 400 degrees.

Cook lima beans as directed and drain. Mix lima beans, baked beans and kidney beans in ungreased 2-quart casserole or bean pot. Stir in ham.

Mix remaining ingredients; stir into bean mixture. Bake, uncovered, for 40-50 minutes, until hot and bubbly.

(Recipe serves 6 and each serving contains 245 calories, 15 g protein, 44 g carbohydrate, 2 g fat, 10 mg cholesterol, 1040 mg sodium and 810 mg potassium.)

Turn boring old round steak into something special tonight—serve on French Bread or noodles—and put candles on the table:

BEEF BURGUNDY

4 pounds beef round steak
1/4 cup oil
5 large onions, sliced
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup beef broth
2 cups red Burgundy wine or other dry red wine

Cut steak into 1-inch cubes and cook in oil in Dutch oven over medium heat until brown. Remove from Dutch oven and set aside.

Cook onions and mushrooms in same Dutch oven, stirring frequently, until onions are tender. Remove onions and mushrooms, cover and refrigerate.

Return beef to Dutch oven and sprinkle with flour, salt, marjoram, thyme and pepper. Stir in broth and wine and heat to boiling.

Reduce heat, cover and simmer about 1 1/4 hours, or until beef is tender. (Liquid should just cover beef. If necessary, stir in additional broth and wine, 1 part broth to 2 parts wine.)

Add onions and mushrooms and heat through, stirring occasionally.

(Recipe serves 8 and each serving contains 440 calories, 42 g protein, 13 g carbohydrate, 19 g fat, 125 mg cholesterol, 470 mg sodium and 710 mg potassium.)

What about these yummy "Biscuits" with one of the above main dishes:

HERB POPOVERS

2 eggs
1 cup flour
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground sage
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Heat oven to 450 degrees.

Generously grease six 6-ounce custard cups.

Beat eggs slightly in medium bowl. Beat in remaining ingredients with hand beater until just smooth (do not overbeat).

Fill custard cups about 1/2 full.

Bake 15 minutes at 450 degrees, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 25 minutes more, until golden brown. Remove from cups immediately and serve hot.

(Recipe makes 6 popovers and each contains 115 calories, 5 g protein, 17 g carbohydrate, 3 g fat, 75 mg cholesterol, 220 mg sodium and 100 mg potassium.)

Grygla SWCD offers RIM and PWP contracts

Staff members of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District in Grygla are available to discuss enrollment of lands in the Reinvest in Minnesota (RIM) reserve program or the Permanent Wetlands Preserve (PWP) program.

A change in the enrollment process allows the Marshall-Beltrami office to accept applications on a continuous basis although the state office has three deadline periods ending February 1, June 1 and October 1. Applications received after any of those dates will be held over to the next period.

The RIM program allows land owners to retire marginal agricultural lands, protect riparian lands, restore wetlands or protect existing wetlands, according to Cheryl Sistad of the SWCD staff. The program is designed to protect and improve water quality, reduce soil erosion and enhance fish and wildlife habitat.

The PWP program is a new plan to enroll existing Type 1, 2 and 3 wetlands. The whole wetland basin must be enrolled and 70 per cent of the wetland must be Type 1, 2 or 3 wetland.

Both programs pay a percentage of the average market value of the land in the township covering that easement. The easements are perpetual and are permanently recorded on the title of the enrolled land and are transferred when the land is sold. The land owner still holds title to the land and retains the right to control the public's access to the land.

For more information contact the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District at 294-6144.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

This past week our government began its era of being run by those of us in the baby-boom generation. We of this generation have been notorious for our rebellion. We have also been known to try to affect change wherever we could. We of this generation have been the ones who have protested wars. We of this generation have been the ones to dally in all kinds of behavior which generations preceding us could not have fathomed being a part of. We of this generation have tried the established ways of religion and government. We have tried the established family unit.

In all of our rebelling and hoping for change we have not always been successful in bettering our world. We have seen the disintegration of families and the resulting confusion and hopelessness that has created for our nation. We have seen our children going off to war, even as we protested war. We have seen those who laughed at the establishment become a part of that very same establishment.

But, in our rebelling and hoping for change in our world, we have also succeeded. We have succeeded because we have been able to dream. Our dreaming has afforded some changes. Our dreamings have caused consciousnesses to be raised. Our dreamings have caused established organized religion and government to look at themselves and see ways in which they could better help the peoples they serve.

My husband and I have been good basketball parents these days as we have found ourselves sitting through many games supporting our son and his teammates. As I sat at a recent game, I was impressed by the people around me, and especially the youth. Looking into the faces of the players and their supporting friends—from both teams—I noticed their enthusiasm and their determination and their hope even against defeat. I noticed the times when they helped another team's player to his feet. I noticed the cheers for plays well executed. I noticed the energy of youth.

I thought of my youth and realized that I too had the same amount of enthusiasm and energy and hope and determination that I see today in the faces of my sons' peers. I know that I no longer have the same energy I once had. I no longer have the same faith that my enthusiasm can change the whole world. I would guess that most of us adults would feel much as I do.

But, then I think, once again of this new era of governing in this great nation of ours. And, I think of the youthful energy that still needs tapping. I think of the lessons our generation has learned even as it rebelled. I think of the hopes and dreams we are instilling in our children. And then I realize that with the experience we baby-boomers have lived through and with the sometimes battered dreams we have had which have emerged into good helpful projects I can perhaps feel that maybe just maybe the youth of our nation will have a chance to live challenging lives.

We must not forget the youth, even as this youthful government governs. Protecting, challenging, channelling the energies of our youth is one of the responsibilities of government. Our country's future lies not in this current administration, but in her youth. Those of us in the baby-boomer generation were noted also for our self-centeredness even as we rebelled against other's self-centeredness. We must not forget that our country's future lies not in our selves, but in the future we can insuro for all of that yet untapped energy of the next generation. Our youth are watching us. They will see our errors—even as we saw errors in our days of youthful rebellion. We can only pray and hope and dream that the world this new government will govern will be one in which our children can thrive even as they are cherished.

The Good News in Education

At a Catholic school, your child will get an education for both mind and soul.

On the one hand, Catholic schools do what schools should do: Educate. Year after year, Catholic school students score the highest in national tests for reading, math and science. They're also the most likely to graduate and go to college.

On the other hand, Catholic schools do something else: Build character. Catholic schools' emphasis on faith, discipline and values benefits children of all backgrounds.

Kezar photo subjects are varied in nature

[illegible] First Bank Systems, [illegible] Magazine, Fortune Magazine, [illegible] Gannett Company Inc., [illegible] Health Inc. [illegible] American Express [illegible] Magazine, Lund Boats, [illegible] Corporation, The Miami [illegible] News Magazine, National Geographic, National Geographic [illegible], Newsweek Magazine, Northern States Power, Northwest [illegible], Norwest Corporation, [illegible] Sports Illustrated, Successful Farming Magazine, 3M Company, Time Magazine, USA Today, U.S. News & World Report, Woman's Day Magazine and Yamaha.

Kezar just returned from more than two weeks in Wyoming where he was shooting photos for the 1994 line of Yamaha snowmobiles, clothing and accessories. He said he shot about 300 rolls of film on the assignment and has been working with the art director to select them for the catalog, posters and advertising.

He returned to Minneapolis (he lives and works out of his home in Minnetonka) last Thursday and after two hours in the airport was on his way to Arizona to do a photo job for a life insurance company.

Kezar said he likes to travel and a [illegible] year is not unusual. He recalls one job for the H. B. Fuller Company to photograph its new facilities. In 11 days he went from St. Paul to northern California, southern California, Seattle, WA, Hong Kong, People's Republic of China, back to Hong Kong, Germany, Italy, Rio de Janeiro, southern Brazil, Puerto Allegre, back to Rio and return to Minneapolis.

One of the jobs that he is particularly proud of is a 100th anniversary book for St. Olaf College in Northfield. He did all the color photography for the hard cover, coffee table volume, which sold out its [illegible] edition.

One of his most used photos, however, is one he took while in the newspaper business. It is of a waterskiing squirrel. The photo was used in "LIFE" magazine, circulated by Associated Press, printed in "Time" magazine and a couple of books. "It's been published well over 300 times in just about every country that has a printing press," he said.

Although he owns only six camera bodies—three 35mm Nikon and three 6x7 Pentax bodies—he has lenses from 16mm fisheye to 500mm f4 telephoto. But it's the creation of lighting that often makes the picture and Kezar usually has 16 cases of gear with him when he travels on assignment.

His newspaper work required a 35mm camera and black and white film. Now he takes mostly transparencies with Ektachrome 64 and recently had three 35mm transparencies made into 10x20 foot murals for a Federal Cartridge Corporation trade show booth.

Kezar has two sons, eight-year-old Ben and six-year-old Nick. He likes most aspects of his work, including going out and finding it. Among the rewards is a product that is proof of ability and talent—two qualities that he has in abundance.

When Mitch Kezar says he will go almost anywhere there is a photo to be taken, he has few reservations. This photo of two divers from the Submerged Cultural Resources Unit of the National Park Service mapping the sunken freighter "Chester Congdon" was taken 180 feet below the surface of Lake Superior. Equipped with a camera and lighting supplied by "National Geographic" magazine, Kezar used scuba gear to descend to that depth—about the limit for diving without pressurized equipment. Water temperature at that depth in June was 34 degrees. "I would spend about 10 minutes on the bottom taking pictures," he said, "then it would take about half an hour to decompress while coming back to the surface." Twenty-seven dives resulted in two photos used in the "National Geographic" magazine.

When photographer Mitch Kezar was working as a newspaper photographer the action dictated the photo. It was a question of being in the right place at the right time and having the presence of mind to press the shutter release at the right moment. Kezar took this photo of a bullfighter rushing to the rescue of a fallen rider during a rodeo in Crystal River, FL, while working for the Tampa Tribune. It was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize in spot news by the Tribune in 1977. In his present photo work, Kezar says he is often required to create the "action" that he shoots and the key is often arranged lighting and realistic poses.

Typical of African wildlife are large herds of wildebeest such as these animals at a water hole in the Ngora Ngore Crater in Tanzania. The photo was taken by Mitch Kezar on a photo safari to Africa three years ago. The animals are a favorite prey for lions.

A photo like this may not seem unusual, but taking it has an element of risk involved. Mitch Kezar took this photo of an Arctic Cat at Moran, WY. "When a snowmobile is coming at you at high speed in soft powder, and intended to be airborne, you're never sure of which way it's going to go," he said. When shooting such photos, Kezar wears a harness to which a rope held by an assistant is attached. While Kezar concentrates on the camera, the assistant can yank him out of harm's way if the machine changes course. "It's an eye-opener," Kezar admits, "but it beats getting run over."

Photographer Kezar goes where the photos are

This is natural feeding posture for the gerenuk, a small African antelope. Mitch Kezar made the photo in Kenya on a self-assignment to Africa three years ago. He said the trip to photograph the country and wildlife was not at all a disappointment and that wildlife photography there was much as it is elsewhere. Some days you may see nothing to photograph and other days you may be taking photos constantly. Much of Kezar's wildlife photography is recreational and to supply stock photos.

On "self-assignment" to Africa three years ago, Mitch Kezar took this photo of elephants crossing a road in Kenya. The contrast of the ponderous pachyderms which have existed for centuries with the modern safari car and well-traveled roadway is a wordless commentary on today's Africa. The photo was taken in the Sanburu Game Reserve and is one of Kezar's thousands of stock photos in the files of an agency in London. He says animal photos are the "hardest of the hard" for a photographer to take.

Corn and soybeans formed this pattern for a photo taken by Mitch Kezar for a cover of "Successful Farming" magazine. The Kodak company also made a large backlighted transparency of the photo which was on display at Epcot Center in Florida for a number of months. Although the scene is quiet and serene, Kezar said it was one of his more dangerous photo efforts. He took it while hanging to the top of a very rickety ("and I mean very rickety") old grain handling system between gusts of a strong wind which threatened to sweep him from his perch or cause the system to collapse. He says he is more cautious now.

This peaceful scene looks natural but is anything but natural. To create the warm glow of a lantern and shimmering moonlight on the water, photographer Mitch Kezar had to use a good deal of ingenuity. The boat was securely attached to shore. A strobe light was torn down and installed in the lantern which was also wrapped with an orange gel. Another strobe light on a dock nearby was aimed at the water but produced only a small hot spot on the calm surface. This was solved by having several assistants toss pebbles and sand into the water to create ripples as the exposure was made. This "natural" shot took about two and a half hours to set up and shoot.

How many photos of a similar nature have you seen in hunting magazines or tourist promotion brochures? How often have you wondered how a photographer could be ready to capture such a dramatic moment? Despite its realism, this photo by Mitch Kezar was done the way most of the similar photos are done. It was taken on a game preserve with a positioned shooter and the pheasant in a spring release trap which tosses the bird into the air. Nevertheless, it is a good photo for its effect—and no one knows how the dog and the bird will react to the situation. The bird can—and often does—fly in any other direction. This photo was used in a brochure for the Minnesota Horse and Hunt Club south of Minneapolis and in other publications.

Prowlers win at overtime buzzer

Lisa Ulrich beat the buzzer by drilling a 25-foot shot while on the run, shattering a tie and giving Thief River Falls a 53-50 girls high school basketball win over defending Section 8A champion Kittson Central Monday – in overtime.

The 6-9 Prowlers trailed the 10-2 Wolfpack by nine, 41-32, with 3:55 remaining in regulation time, but came back to tie it at 45-45 and force a three-minute overtime.

A three-point basket from the corner by Kelly Skeim made it 45-43 with 1:06 left, and after Karen Larson of the Wolfpack missed the front end of a bonus free throw opportunity with 35 seconds showing, Amy Adams of the Prowlers dropped in a 15-footer to produce the deadlock with 21 seconds remaining.

A Kittson Central turnover with seven second to go presented the Prowlers with a chance to win it in regulation time, but Adams' drive to the basket at the buzzer was off the mark.

Thief River Falls took an early lead in the three-minute overtime when Carrie Lawrence scored on a drive off the jump, then added a free throw for a 48-45 edge.

Kittson Central guard Rachel Olsonawski connected on a three-point basket from the corner for a 48-48 tie before Lawrence cashed in on a nifty dish underneath by Adams to put the Prowlers back on top 50-48 with 1:13 showing.

It stayed that way until Larson scored from underneath with just nine seconds to play.

But that was enough time for Ulrich to get down the court and position herself for the game-winner that hit nothing but net as the buzzer sounded.

Thief River Falls had its usual trouble shooting – until the end when the Prowlers suddenly found the target. They shot only 36 percent from the field for the night (21/59), but finished by hitting eight of their final 12, five of their last six, and all three overtime shots. Four of those final eight field goals were three-pointers – the Prowlers' only treys of the night.

"We're not a very good shooting team," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We just tell them to keep putting them up, and maybe enough will fall in for us."

Neither side could find the range in the first half when the Prowlers went 9-for-25 and the Wolfpack checked in at 10-for-36. But that kept it close. The lead changed hands seven times and a three point margin was the biggest spread. Thief River Falls led 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, but Kittson Central had a 21-20 halftime edge.

A six point Thief River Falls run in the middle of the third quarter was fueled by a turnover-producing full-court press, but Kittson Central solved the defense with a handful of press-breaking lay-ups as the Wolfpack came right back with a 10-point run of their own to take charge.

"Our press forced them to turn the ball over," noted Wiltse, "but it also broke our backs when they made those lay-ups."

A 33-28 third quarter lead developed into the 41-32 spread before the Prowlers regrouped for the stretch run.

"I was really happy with the way they came back," offered Wiltse. "Amy (the Prowlers' lone senior) really took charge out there."

Adams finished with 19 points, and until the final baskets started to fall, represented the only steady supply of offense the Prowlers could muster. Ulrich came on to finish with 11, a figure matched by point guard Toni Chiodo before she left with an ankle injury in the final two minutes of regulation time. The five overtime points by Lawrence upped the sophomore's total to 9 for the game.

Larson, a 5-10 senior, dominated the inside for the Wolfpack with a 22 point game that elevated her to the ranks of the 1,000 point career scorers. She joined the club with a rebound basket midway through the second quarter. Teammate Krista Bowman, a 5-8 sophomore, added 10 points to the Wolfpack total.

Remarkably, the 21-for-59 Kittson Central shooting for the night was the identical figure turned in by the Prowlers. And with both teams hitting seven free throws (Thief River Falls 7/13, Kittson Central 7/19), the Prowlers wound up winning with a 4-1 edge in three-point baskets.

The Wolfpack out-rebounded the Prowlers 38-28, including a 14-7 advantage on the offensive end, but Kittson Central also had more turnovers, 22-17.

Roseau 3-1 hockey winner over TRF

A season-long Thief River Falls streak that found the Prowlers bouncing between the won-loss columns on an alternating game basis finally ended Saturday. Unfortunately.

Roseau scored three times in a five-minute span late in the second period en route to a 3-1 Section 8 high school hockey win in front of a large Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center crowd, dropping the Prowlers to 7-9 and making amends for a 4-2 loss at the hands of Thief River Falls earlier this month. Combined with a 6-3 setback at Warroad Tuesday, the defeat gave the Prowlers their first two-game losing streak of the 1992-93 season. They have yet to win two-in-a-row.

Thief River Falls put together a solid first period and took a 1-0 lead when a quick ice-hugging shot from the slot by Jason Svir skipped under Roseau goalie Ross Boldt for a power play goal at 10:52.

The 1-0 edge stood up until Jason Lovejoy gathered in a loose puck during a 4-on-4 a scramble in from of Thief River Falls goalie Trevor Haugen, slipped across the goal mouth and hit an open net from point-blank range at 8:52 of the second period.

That opened the doors for the Rams, who went ahead 2-1 at 12:53 when Shane Bengston finished off a perfect 2-on-1, and made it 3-1 just 48 seconds later when Todd Hagen picked up the puck near the blue line and came in alone.

Thief River Falls, handcuffed in the personnel department by penalties and an injury, never challenged that two-goal spread down the stretch. The Prowlers lost forward/defenseman Nathan Knutson to a game misconduct penalty for butt-ending just 3:29 into the contest, and saw defenseman Joby Looker go down with a shoulder injury late in the second period.

"It was like a chess match out there, trying to get people in the right places," said Thief River Falls coach Glenn Chiodo. "Five minutes into the game we had to make wholesale changes. We have people we use on all of our specialty teams, and when your take them out it takes a toll. You just hope the other kids have the stamina."

Both goalies finished with 24 saves in a game that featured 17 penalties – 10 called against the Rams and seven on the Prowlers.

"The loss hurts, but I'm not unhappy with the effort," said Chiodo. "The kids worked hard. I'm not going to criticize their play. I thought we played a decent hockey game against a quality opponent for the situations we found ourselves in."

Scoring

Second period - Roseau, Jason Lovejoy (un.), 8:52; Roseau, Shane Bengston (Todd Hagen-Scott Severson), 12:53; Roseau, Hagen (Lovejoy-Tony Hammer), 13:41.

TRF boys lose to Crookston, 49-40

Crookston ended Thief River Falls' winning streak at one game Friday when the visiting Pirates beat the Prowlers 49-40 in boys high school basketball.

A season-long 10-game Thief River Falls losing streak ended last week with a 57-49 win over Tri-County, but the Prowlers weren't able to add to that win total against a Crookston team that beat them 60-59 in the 1992-93 season opener.

"We out-rebounded them (32-22), and we kept our turnovers down (12), but we didn't shoot very well," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke, pointing to an 18-for-46, 39 percent night from the floor for the Prowlers. "We just can't seem to put it all together."

Thief River Falls had a 10-9 first quarter lead and managed to hold on to a 17-16 halftime edge before Crookston came on to take a 35-30 third quarter lead.

"We played even with them for almost three full quarters, then they hit a couple of three-point shots to pull away," explained Brekke. "We had some chances early, but we missed some easy lay-ups. You've got to capitalize on those opportunities if you want to beat the good teams."

Crookston was 19-for-45 from the field (42 percent) and matched Thief River Falls' 12 turnovers. The Pirates were 4-for-7 at the free throw line, where the Prowlers went 2-for-4.

NCC men beaten by Vermilion

Shooting, which has not been a Northland strong suit this winter, cost the Pioneers again Saturday afternoon in a 68-55 Minnesota Community College men's basketball loss to Vermilion in Thief River Falls.

Northland shot just 24 percent for the day, connecting on only 19 of 81 attempts in dropping to 3-11 for the year. The Pioneers have yet to pick up a win in four MCCC starts. They will face their first Northwest Division foe Saturday at Brainerd.

"We played good enough defense to win, but we just did not move on offense, said Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "We didn't get the good shots, and when we did, we didn't hit them. We work on shooting every day in practice, but we get in a game and can't get it done."

Vermilion led only 29-24 at halftime, but increased the spread through the second half.

Chip Carter led Northland with 17 points, while Mike Swanson had 12 and Parrish Tatum netted 10. Earl Foster pumped in 30 points to lead Vermilion.

The winners were 23-for-57 from the field (40 percent) and cashed in on 21 of 35 free throw opportunities. Northland was 13-for-25 at the line.

Northland had a 25-24 rebound edge and turned the ball only just 13 times to 24 turnovers for the Ironmen. But those figures couldn't cover the Pioneers' poor shooting.

Northland comeback beats Mesabi 68-52...

Chaplinski rallies NCC women

Jodi Chaplinski scored 16 of her 20 points in the second half in leading Northland to a come-from-behind 68-52 Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball win over Mesabi Friday.

The Pioneers struggled early, trailing 31-24 at halftime and falling behind 40-30 six minutes into the second half before they went on a 13-0 run that turned the game around. Chaplinski, a 5-6 guard from Roseau, got eight of those points – two long jumpers, a short-range basket and two free throws – as Northland took a 43-40 lead with 10:40 remaining.

"Jodi is capable of doing things like that," noted Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "When she gets going like that, she's unbelievable."

Mesabi regrouped and caught Northland at 49-49 on a three-point basket by Sara Schleppegrell with 6:46 left, but the Pioneers closed it out in style by out-scoring the visitors from Virginia 19-3 down the stretch.

Another long jumper by Chaplinski got that game-ending kick going, but several other Pioneers got in the act, too, as 5-7 forward Renae Blazejewski added to her game-high 21 points, Kim Peterson came up with a big three-point play to turn a narrow 53-50 edge into a 56-50 spread, then shook herself free for another basket underway, and Holly Gram contributed three free throws and a fast break lay-up.

"We had a couple of offensive surges in the second half," acknowledged Nikunen. "The first half was pretty ugly, but as a coach there wasn't anything I really wanted to change, except for the girls to do a better job passing the ball, catching the ball and shooting the ball – better execution. They know what they're capable of doing, it was just a matter of going out and getting it done."

Niki Belpedio, a 5-9 forward, led Mesabi with 18 points, but only four of those came in the second half. Schleppegrell scored 17 before picking up her fifth foul with 3:09 left.

Northland shot a solid 48 percent from the field for the night (26/54) and cashed in on 16 of 23 free throw opportunities. Mesabi shot only 37 percent from the floor (25/65) and had a quiet 2-for-6 night at the line.

The Pioneers finished with a big 42-23 rebound advantage, but they also had more turnovers, 25-19.

MCC defense nets victory over Bears

Strong defense made up for some offensive shortcomings Friday as Marshall County Central beat Lake of the Woods 67-46 in a boys high school basketball game played at Baudette.

The Nordics held the Bears to 14 first half points, but could only come up with a 10-point halftime lead. Both offenses came alive in the second half, with the winners opening up a 48-32 third quarter spread.

"Neither side shot very well in the first half," noted Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "Offensively we just didn't click all night, but we did a decent job on defense."

Tim Olson was a bright spot on offense for the Nordics with a 24-point, 11-rebound game. Dean Engen also had two double figure efforts with 11 rebounds and 11 points as Marshall County Central improved to 7-4.

Darren Mans and Brody Willis led Lake of the Woods with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Marshall County Central was 26-for-66 from the field (39 percent) and 13-for-23 at the free throw line. Lake of the Woods went 18-for-48 from the field (38 percent) and 7-for-14 at the line. The Nordics had a decided 43-23 rebound advantage. The Bears had more turnovers, 21-17.

Pioneers shut down in second half...

Strong Mesabi finish beats Northland men

A 19-point second half Mesabi run carried the Norsemen past Northland 79-65 Friday in a Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball game played in Thief River Falls.

Led by a 19-point first half performance by 6-0 guard Mitch Bernstein of Grygla, Northland emerged with a 34-32 halftime lead.

The game was tied on ten occasions and the lead changed hands seven times in a see-saw first half that ended with a string of eight straight points by Bernstein – a pair of three-pointers and a drive to the basket with 1.4 seconds left.

"I can't say enough about Mitch," offered Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "He really carried us in the first half, not only with his scoring, but with his hustle, his passing and his rebounding."

However, Bernstein never added a point to his total in the second half. A fast break basket by Mike Swanson, a tip-in rebound by Dan Hoffard and a bucket from underneath by Parrish Tatum did stake the Pioneers to a 40-34 edge with just 1:46 gone, but they went the next 5:21 without scoring and found themselves trailing 53-40 by the time Antonio Parker ended the drought on a fast break basket with 12:53 to play.

Five different Mesabi scorers had a hand in things as the Norsemen ran up those 19 unanswered points. Things really took off when Northland was hit with a technical foul for hitting the backboard on a Mesabi fast break. Two free throws by Randy Gray and a short jumper by Trevor Toratti on the ensuing in-bounds possession turned a 47-40 lead into a 51-40 gap.

Northland never recovered, falling behind by as many as 20 at 71-51 with 3:57 showing.

"I was happy, especially with our defense, in the first half," said Dannhoff. "But we've had trouble staying focused, and when things start going bad, we have a tendency to point fingers. It becomes a domino effect. Until we mentally can get through those kinds of things, we're just not going to be successful."

Matt Boswell, a 6-4 forward, led Mesabi with 18 points, while 6-3 guard Pat Harrington and 6-4, 230-pound senior Tuwon Clayton both netted 11. Derrick Carter scored 14 points and Tatum had 11 to join Bernstein in double figures for the Pioneers.

Northland shot only 38 percent from the field (29/77), while Mesabi shot 48 percent (26/54). The Norsemen, who scored their final 11 points at the line, had a busy 22-for-37 free throw night. The Pioneers made four of 10 free throws.

Scoring

Wolverines come back in 42-39 win

An early Goodridge/Grygla lead disappeared Monday, but the Wolverines held on to beat Lake of the Woods 42-39 in a girls high school basketball game played at Grygla.

The Bears trailed 16-7 at the end of the first quarter, but pulled within 26-23 at halftime and took a 31-30 third quarter lead.

Goodridge/Grygla finally took the lead for good on a drive to the basket by Kristy Johnson with 22 seconds left, making it 40-39, and after a Lake of the Woods turnover, Johnson was fouled with 11 seconds to play. She made both free throws for the final three-point spread.

Goodridge/Grygla, 5-9 for the year, was 19-for-61 from the field (31 percent) and 3-for-8 at the line. Lake of the Woods went 18-for-43 from the field (42 percent) and 3-for-6 at the line, while finishing with a 28-26 rebound edge.

Gators win overtime game

An 8-for-9 showing at the free throw line in overtime helped carry Badger/Greenbush-Middle River past host Stephen 57-51 Monday in girls high school basketball.

The Gators had an 11-8 first quarter lead and a 21-19 halftime edge before foul trouble opened the doors for the Tigers, leading to a 38-30 third quarter Stephen lead.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River still faced a nine-point deficit with 3:40 left in regulation time, but an effective half-court trap produced two steals apiece for Sara Melby and Raquel Kilen that led to four baskets, including a key three-pointer by Ali Hietala as the Gators rallied for a 46-46 tie.

A three-point basket off the jump by Krissi Super to start the overtime gave the Gators a lead they did not surrender.

Super, in foul trouble much of the night, scored 16 of her team-high 19 points in the fourth quarter and overtime. Jessica Borgen, who kept the Gators close when her teammates were picking up the fouls, finished with 15 points and Melby had 10. Rachel Kazmierczak of Stephen led all scorers with 20 points.

"We were lucky," admitted Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neihauer. "The fouls really hurt. But Jessica had a great game, and our half-court trap was really effective."

The 12-3 Gators were 20-for-52 from the field (38 percent) and 11-for-16 at the free throw line. The Tigers made 11 of 20 free throws.

Win streak ends for RLCC boys

Red Lake County Central saw its season-opening 11-game winning streak come to an end Friday in a 69-53 boys high school basketball loss to Clearbrook/Gonvick.

The defending Section 8A champion Bears led at the quarter stops 20-14, 37-33 and 47-42. It was still a three-point game midway through the fourth quarter before the visiting Mustangs lost ground.

"We can play with them, but we just didn't shoot very well," said Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore, whose team struggled through a 17-for-56, 30 percent shooting night from the field. The Mustangs were just 5-for-31 in the second half and did not connect from three-point range, normally a big part of their offense.

"I was happy with our defense, but we just couldn't get our offense going," said Fore.

Aaron Chaput and Jacob Melby led the Mustangs with 18 and 17 points, respectively. A group of five Clearbrook/Gonvick double figure scorers was led by Perry Torgerson with 16 points.

Clearbrook/Gonvick was 29-for-56 from the field, a 52 percent figure that included some success on the inside.

Red Lake County Central stayed close by hitting 19 of 24 free throw attempts. Clearbrook/Gonvick was 9-for-13 at the line, coming up with some key free throws at the end to break it open.

The Otters finished with 166 points, followed by Thief River Falls with 127, Crookston/Tollefson Home School 125, and Detroit Lakes/Frazee 75.

Thief River Falls came up with two wins – in the meet-opening 200-meter medley relay, where Prowlers coach Ryan Lokken employed Matt Carlson, Adam Jacobson, Daryl Kiesow, and Brad Cota, and in the 100 backstroke, won by Carlson. Jacobson had second place finishes in both the 50 and 100 freestyle.

"The kids did a nice job," noted Lokken. "We swam a lot of off-events, just to see what they could do."

Nordics' free throws key win over Argyle

Marshall County Central outscored Argyle 28-13 in the second half Monday as the Nordics posted their fourth straight win, a 47-29 girls high school basketball decision in Newfolden.

Argyle stayed within 8-7 and 19-16 at the first two quarter stops, but fell behind 32-21 in the third quarter and lost more ground over the final eight minutes.

Neither team shot well, but the Nordics' 17-for-22 free throw shooting helped make up for a 15-for-53, 28 percent effort from the field. The Eagles had an even tougher 19-for-50, 20 percent showing from the floor and had a quieter 6-for-12 night at the line.

"We had good shots; they just wouldn't go in," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "But we were aggressive enough on offense to draw the fouls. We won the game at the free throw line."

Sara Lokstad scored 12 points, while Shanon Magner had a strong 10-point, 11-rebound performance for the winners, who improved their record to 8-6. Tricia Tulibaski led Argyle with 13 points.

Marshall County Central had a 36-27 rebound advantage. The turnovers were even at 15-apiece.

Huskies hold on for a 48-47 win over RLF

Goodridge saw a 10-point fourth quarter lead disappear down the stretch, but the Huskies managed to hold off Red Lake Falls 48-47 Friday in boys high school basketball.

The two teams were tied at 11-11 when the first quarter came to a close. Goodridge went ahead 22-19 at halftime and had a 36-31 third quarter lead before opening it up.

Red Lake Falls pulled rallied to within 41-40, but a three-point basket by Mitch Srnsky padded the Goodridge lead with one minute left, and two sets of free throws by Brady Wiseth and Travis Kotrba iced it.

"We're happy with the win," said Goodridge coach John Rahn, whose team is 4-8. "We haven't had too many (wins) this year, we we'll take whatever we can get."

Eldon Quam had a 19-point night for the winners and Wiseth, who missed much of the early part of the season, had 12.

Goodridge shot 38 percent from the field (18/47) and had a 9-for-17 night at the free throw line. Red Lake Falls shot 39 percent from the floor (15/38) and went 5-for-9 at the line. The Huskies out-rebounded the host Eagles 31-29.

TRF girls win 55-33 game with Falcons

Third quarter problems that have plagued the Thief River Falls girls throughout much of the 1992-93 high school basketball season never surfaced Friday as the Prowlers put together four solid quarters in beating host Fertile-Beltrami 55-33.

Amy Adams, a 5-10 senior, turned in a 25-point, 20-rebound performance as the Prowlers ended a four-game losing streak. Lori DeLap joined Adams in double figures with 11, but several others played major roles in other areas, pointed out Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse.

"Amy had a great night, but everybody contributed," said Wiltse. "We played real well."

Thief River Falls had a 9-8 first quarter lead and a 22-16 halftime edge. But the Prowlers have been there before, only to come out slow in the third quarter on numerous occasions. This time, however, the spread grew to 40-21 as they outscored the Falcons 18-5 immediately after intermission.

"They (Fertile-Beltrami) came out in a zone in the first half, but then switch to a man (defense) in the second half," explained Wiltse. "That was fine with us. We did a good job against it. We put the ball in the basket."

Kristen Jacobson led Fertile-Beltrami with 17 points.

The Prowlers were 23-for-56 from the field (41 percent) and 7-for-16 at the free throw line. The Falcons went 13-for-58 from the field (22 percent) and 5-for-11 at the line. Thief River Falls had a 43-34 rebound advantage. Fertile-Beltrami topped the turnover charts 21-18.

College women...

Tired NCC beaten by Vermilion

Friday night/Saturday afternoon series format utilized by the Minnesota Community College Conference is going to take its toll on a shorthanded Northland Community College women's basketball team – shown in the weekend results where the Pioneers rallied for a 68-52 Friday win over Mesabi, but fell to Vermilion 65-42 the next day.

The seven-member Northland squad simply ran out of gas, acknowledged Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "There's not a whole lot you can do with the number we have," he said. "We had a real tough game the night before and we were tired against Vermilion."

Thirty-one turnovers and a 6-for-20 showing at the free throw line reflected the Pioneers' fatigue Saturday. "We just didn't take care of the ball," said Nikunen, whose team missed the front end of seven bonus opportunities at the line in the final 10 minutes when Vermilion pulled away.

Only Northland double figure scorer was Holly Gram with 10 points.

Northland was 18-for-50 from the field (36 percent), while Vermilion turned in a 27-for-48 showing from the floor (56 percent) and had an 8-for-15 free throw game. The winners, who led 29-20 at halftime, finished with a 41-37 rebound edge and had 16 turnovers.

The Pioneers are now 6-6 overall, 2-2 in the MCCC.

Several thefts reported to Law enforcement in TRF

Several thefts were reported to the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls last week. In one report, a valuable French horn reported missing last week was found. It had been misplaced.

Thefts. As a result of an investigation into the theft of several items from the girls locker room at Lincoln High school recently, a juvenile girl was contacted. The girl admitted taking the items which she returned. The 17-year-old girl of Thief River Falls faces charges of theft.

A French horn reported missing last week was located. As a result of a clerical error, the item was misplaced.

On January 20 at 9:10 a.m. the C'Mon Inn reported that sometime overnight someone had taken a six and one half foot tall tree from the pool room. The theft was estimated at $200.

On January 22 at 9:09 a.m. Myron Petruszewski, Stephen, reported that while his vehicle was parked on South Tindolph in Thief River Falls, someone broke a side window and took a radar detector. The damage loss was estimated at $100.

On January 23 at 12:35 a.m. Mike Carter, route 5, Thief River Falls, reported that someone had taken his 1993 Arctic Cat Cougar which was parked in back of the Best Western. He reported seeing someone drive it away. The $4,000 snowmobile was later located at 2:55 p.m. January 23 in Rocksbury township. The left front ski was damaged. The snowmobile was impounded.

On January 23 at 7:18 p.m. DeWein Lappegaard, route 1, Newfolden, reported that he gave some people a ride to a residence on North Spruce. While he was inside the residence, someone took his 1987 Chevrolet four-door vehicle. On January 23 at 7:45 p.m. the vehicle was recovered by Deputy Ben Kuznia at a rural residence. Following an investigation, Miles Corneillie, 40, Thief River Falls, was arrested. He faces charges of theft. Charges are pending against Linda Lou Hendrickson, 37, route 6, Thief River Falls, for aiding in theft of a motor vehicle.

On January 21 at 4:04 p.m. J.C. Penney reported a possible shoplifter. Someone was attempting to return some items that had not been sold. Following an investigation, charges are now pending against Elizabeth Schmidtgall, 29, Thief River Falls, for theft under $200 and Denise Beito, 21, Thief River Falls, for aiding in theft under $200.

Accidents. On January 22 at 4:05 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident at the intersection of County road 61 and 78. According to the accident report, Lavon Dorene Sunram, Thief River Falls, was driving north on County road 78 when her car slid through a stop sign and hit pickup driven by Neil Kevin Hanson of Thief River Falls. Hanson was driving east on County road 61 at the time of the accident. Both vehicles were considered a total loss. Sunram complained of a sore leg.

On January 22 at 3:30 p.m. the law enforcement center received a report of a snowmobile accident. According to the report, two snowmobiles collided at Hughes and an alley between Maple and Merriam. Shawn Maslowski, Thief River Falls, was traveling west on Hughes and Jason Breiland, Thief River Falls, was coming out of an alley when the snowmobiles they were driving collided. Damages were estimated at $400 to the Maslowski snowmobile and $10 to the Breiland snowmobile. There were no injuries.

On January 22 at 11 a.m. police received a report of an accident on Eighth and Horace. According to the accident report, Rick Adams was driving a van owned by Adam's Appliance west on Eighth street and was attempting to turn onto Horace when his vehicle was struck from behind by a pickup driven by Bradley Jorstad, Thief River Falls. Damages were estimated at $600 to the Adam's vehicle and $200 to the Jorstad vehicle. Adams complained of a sore right shoulder.

DWI. On January 21 at 12:45 a.m. police observed a subject traveling at a high rate of speed on a snowmobile near the downtown district. The snowmobile was stopped at Sixth and Atlantic. Chad Kenneth Munson, 20, New Rockford, ND, and Thief River Falls, faces charges of driving a snowmobile while intoxicated.

On Jaunary 20 at 9:58 p.m. the sheriff's department stopped a vehicle in St. Hilaire. Dennis Duane Bushie, 49, Crookston, faces charges of aggravated driving while intoxicated.

On January 24 at 2 p.m. police received a report of a car in a ditch and two people inside who were unresponsive. An ambulance was called. When deputies of the sheriff's department arrived, William Wayne Stately, 22, Redby, was charged with aggravated driving while intoxicated. No one was injured.

Snowmobile checkpoint held in TRF on Friday

Law enforcement officials from the Pennington County Sheriff's department, Thief River Falls Police department and Minnesota Department of Natural Resources conducted a sobriety checkpoint in Thief River Falls last Friday.

Unlike most sobriety checkpoints, this checkpoint was for snowmobile drivers. The law enforcement officials involved in the checkpoint in Thief River Falls Friday set up the checkpoint near the dam, which serves as a natural funnel and a popular crossing.

The purpose of the checkpoint was not to net as many offenders as possible, but to educate. In all, 39 snowmobile drivers were stopped and only two violations for no registration were written.

Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said everyone was very cooperative and everything went very well.

Once a snowmobiler was stopped they were provided a handout which explains that they were stopped by an officer who is participating in an area field sobriety checkpoint. The handout further explains that officers are attempting to remove impaired operators from the trails. The goal is not to restrict movement or place an unusual burden on citizens who are not under the influence.

In addition to the explanation, the handout provided a blood alcohol concentration chart. The chart helps provide an insight into what is required to be over the legal blood alcohol limit of .10.

There were 15 fatalities as a result of snowmobile accidents in the 1991-92 season. Of those accidents, 12 involved alcohol, 13 occurred at night, 12 were individuals between the ages of 17 and 35, 13 were males, six hit a tree or post, and six hit or were hit by another snowmobile.

Nature Conservancy acquires 7,148 acres in Kittson, Roseau

In the largest land acquisition in the history of the Minnesota chapter of The Nature Conservancy, the chapter recently acquired 7,148 acres of land in 18 tracts located in Kittson and Roseau counties in extreme northwestern Minnesota.

"It is an unprecedented conservation opportunity—to protect such a large-scale, functioning, dynamic ecosystem," stated Nelson T. French, state director of The Nature Conservancy.

An international, non-profit conservation organization, The Nature Conservancy works to preserve plants, animals and natural communities that represent the diversity of life on Earth by protecting the lands and water they need to survive. In December the organization bought the land at what it terms "fair market value" from Lenadrich, Ltd., a Missouri-based land management company.

The land consists almost entirely of holdings within the Beaches Lake Wildlife Management Area (WMA). Approximately 6,900 of the 7,148 acres acquired by the Conservancy will be sold to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources under the Reinvest In Minnesota (RIM) Critical Habitat Matching Program.

George Davis, area wildlife manager at Karlstad, said that 95 per cent of the total wildlife lands in this project area have now been secured. "It's taken a lot of cooperation among the Kittson county board, Lenadrich representative Richard Finn, the DNR and The Nature Conservancy," Davis said.

Public hunting will be allowed on the lands purchased by the DNR from The Nature Conservancy, according to Kim Hennings, wildlife land acquisition manager for the DNR's Section of Wildlife.

"Wildlife watchers can also enjoy the variety of animals found within the management area, such as moose, deer and sharptail grouse along with the less common yellow rails and sandhill cranes."

In May of 1992 the Kittson county board of commissioners approve the sale and transfer of 6,900 acres to the DNR as an addition to Beaches Lake WMA. Davis said that board chairman Randy Swanson "was especially helpful in conveying the importance of protecting these tracts." He said the cooperative protection effort insures that future generations of Minnesotans will be able to enjoy part of the state's natural heritage.

Acquisition manager Hennings said that the aspen parkland ecoregion covers five northwestern Minnesota counties and extends into southern Manitoba. It is a mosaic of aspen groves, prairies, sedge meadows and fens. Beaches Lake WMA will increase to 25,000 acres, protecting from fragmentation the habitat of moose, fox, coyotes, sandhill cranes and even timberwolves.

According to nancy Sather, plant ecologist with the State Natural Heritage Program, just over 115,000 acres of aspen parkland in Kittson county remain in 12 large blocks with more than 59,000 acres in public ownership and the remaining nearly 56,000 acres in private ownership. Plants like the Western prairie fringed orchid, listed on the federal government's threatened species list, may be found in the area along with more typical prairie species such as big bluestem, slender wheatgrass and dropseed.

The Minnesota County Biological Survey, a state program that is inventorying natural features on a county-by-county basis, has been at work in the aspen parklands since 1990. That summer, a new species of willow, "Salix maccalliana," was discovered in the area. "Much of the private land is threatened by agricultural development and wetlands are at risk from the drainage that accompanies nearby land conversion," Sathre said.

Kay Wedul-Steiger sets open house at new office building

Lutheran Brotherhood representative Kay Wedul-Steiger will hold an open house at her new office building at 1544 Highway 59 Southeast Thursday, January 28, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Friday, January 29, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Coffee and cookies will be served, tours of the building conducted and registration held for free door prizes.

After 12 years in business at 108 Oak Avenue North, Wedul-Steiger moved into the new building November 13. The structure was built by RAM builders of Thief River Falls and features a brick facing and front windows. There will be surfaced parking area for 14 cars.

The Wedul-Steiger staff also includes Eldonna Holte, now licensed in health, annuities and mutual funds; Barb Odette and Lana Anderson. Kay's sister, Linda Steinhoff, will also have her accounting office in the building.

Jon Rusten, who deals in estate and advanced planning, will be at the office on a regular basis each Wednesday.

Wedul-Steiger was the first woman representative in Lutheran Brotherhood to earn placement in the Top Club in 1983—a recognition given to the top five per cent of the company's more than 1,700 field force in sales. She has been in the top five representatives in the company three times and in the top 10 five times.

She has led the Don Johnson Agency of Fargo, ND, in sales in eight of her 12 years in the business and been top producer in the Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota area four times.

The public is invited to visit the offices during the open house.

Members of the Lincoln High School freshman class deliver food to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf. Students collected around 10,000 food items for SnoFest competition.

Money management course

To help women of this area with financial management, the Pennington county extension service and American Association of Retired Person are combining to offer a seven-week workshop beginning Tuesday, February 23, and continuing for seven consecutive Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Franklin middle school library in Thief River Falls.

Cost is $15 and registration forms are available from the Pennington county extension office in the courthouse in Thief River Falls or by calling 681-2116.

"Financial management concerns affect women of all ages," stated Deborah Zak, Pennington county extension educator. "Insurance, budgets, investments, legal matters, real estate, social security and pensions are only several of many areas that involve management of money."

This women's financial information program will include sessions on how to get organized, to identify where you are now and where you want to be, Zak said. They will show how to know where your money is going and why, to help build financial security from the ground up. Information will be presented on how to create a budget, not just for necessities but to allow for savings and a little more.

The program will teach participants how to conduct financial inventories; how to design personal cash flow systems; how to make decisions about credit and loan institutions, insurance programs, investments, real estate and savings; how to plan for retirement; and much more.

Guest speakers will include accountants, attorneys, business managers, financial advisors, insurance representatives and an insurance advocate, bank personnel and a Social Security representative.

Supporting organizations and agencies for the financial management workshop include the following:

- Northwest Regional Development Commission Area Agency on Aging;
- Small Business Development Center;
- Community Education department of School District 564;
- Crossroads Displaced Homemaker program;
- Violence Intervention Project;

BIBLE STUDY

Walk in the light

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

What does the expression "walk in the light" as found in 1 John 1:7 mean? Light and darkness have always been used to represent good and bad, right and wrong, righteousness and lawlessness. Walking in the light is doing good, whereas walking in the dark is doing evil.

Avoiding doing what is bad is not being good. Refraining yourself from doing evil is good only when it is connected with a life of doing good for God.

You see, to overcome character weakness, you must be engaged in building character strengths because you overcome evil by doing good (Rom. 12:21). Now, God knows human nature is lazy, indifferent, contentious, slothful and evil. It wants to do what is good but is unable. This is because the pull for evil inside is greater than the pull for good.

So a plan had to be devised in which all could have an opportunity for salvation—the lonely, the rich, the noble, the lame and the blind—everyone! The god of the carnal heart, Satan, had to be crushed and removed from the heart to be put under the heel or controlled, and only God could do that (Rom. 16:20). The desire to do good had to be strengthened, and only God could do that. Godly character had to be built, and only God could do that. Human nature had to be perfected, and only God could do that (1 Peter 5:10). But what could man do for his part? Repent!

Repent means be willing to change your ways. Change your ways to God's Ways. How? By disciplining yourself to perform acts which are pleasing to God daily. Is it hard? Jesus Christ said His Way is easy and pleasant and a child would not have any trouble performing it daily (Matt. 11:30).

When you walk in the light as Jesus Christ did by only living to please the Father, you are obeying Jesus Christ and will be sprinkled with His blood (1 Peter 1:2). The blood of Jesus Christ will then cleanse you from all your sins (1 John 1:7). Jesus Christ bore our sins in His body so we might die to our sinful natures by living a righteous life (1 Peter 2:24). We prove that we are God's children by practicing righteousness daily for God (1 John 3:7, 10).

The one who does good daily for God is of God (3 John 11). This good is done daily by sharing food and clothes with widows and orphans (Heb. 13:16; Luke 3:11; James 1:27). This good is done by acts and words of kindness and charity—to the blind, the lame, the old, the young, your wife, your children, your folks—all done in the name of our precious Lord and Master, and soon to return King, Jesus Christ (Acts 9:36; Col. 3:17).

Farmers' Share Of Food Dollar Shrinking

To nobody's surprise in this part of the country, the farmers' share of the U.S. food dollar continues to shrink. Back in 1950 the American farmer received 47 cents of every dollar that a consumer spent on food. Today the farm value of a supermarket food dollar is 27 cents, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

The 27-cent figure is based on 1991 retail prices and, the ag statistics service says, "shows that farm values dropped while a moderate rise in retail prices occurred."

A large part of the seeming disparity results from the processing of agricultural products into convenience foods with increased processing, transportation and packaging costs. A rule of thumb is that the more a food is processed, the smaller the farmers' share of the consumer dollar spent to purchase it.

As an example, the producer receives about 60 per cent of the dollar a shopper spends for eggs. For corn syrup, however, the farm share drops to four per cent. Foods connected with animal products have a higher share (56 per cent for choice beef in 1991, for instance) of the consumer food dollar than do foods that come from grains and oilseeds.

A common comparison made in the nation's wheat belt is the farmers' share of the wheat in a loaf of bread. In 1991, according to the ag statistics service, a one-pound loaf of bread cost an average of 71.1 cents and the share for farm-derived ingredients—including flour, lard, soybean oil, high-fructose corn syrup and soy-whey blend was about six cents.

The point wheat farmers make frequently—and it appears to be a valid one, at least as it relates to making bread—is that wheat prices could be substantially higher without having to have much impact on the price of bread.

All along the line from acceptance of wheat at the elevator to sale of bread at the supermarket, all handlers set the price for their service or product and establish that price to provide a profit margin. The only point where the entity handling the product doesn't control the price is at the farm, and that doesn't make a lot of sense to us.

With the shrinking farm share of the food dollar continuing to put the squeeze on farmers, we're surprised that there hasn't been a greater interest in pricing product at the farm. It would seem that survival would depend on that sort of combined effort.

Schwandt Not Enthused About Browner As Head Of Federal EPA

Now chairman of the Minnesota Agri-Growth Council, former Minnesota Secretary of Agriculture Russel G. Schwandt is less than enthusiastic about President Clinton's appointment of Carol Browner as head of the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Writing in his Agri-Growth column, Schwandt considers the description of the 37-year-old Browner as a classic liberal activist with no experience in the private sector to be a troubling one. Her first Washington job was with Ralph Nader's Citizen Action group.

"Ms. Browner says she always errs on the side of environmental caution and that effectively makes her an extremist who rejects proper research on any market-oriented solution to environmental problems," Schwandt writes.

"Her track record is arbitrary and when asked by farmers under the public records law to examine the rule making process behind her decision on the Everglades, which will cost up to 30,000 farming jobs, Ms. Browner refused. Two state and two federal courts have ruled against her and even ordered her to pay the legal fees of the farmers. It is difficult to imagine someone with her radical background being appointed head of the EPA.

"It certainly points to the power that Al Gore is going to have in the environmental area," Schwandt continues. "Unless Clinton will ultimately put his foot down and demand common sense and the rule of reason from his department heads, we in agriculture can expect to spend the next four years under a bureaucracy that will endeavor to obstruct and severely curtail our ability to produce food in abundance. The United States already spends $150 billion a year on environmental regulations. How much more of a burden can we afford to place on our economy?"

Schwandt's question is a proper one. While we must all be aware of hazards and actual damage to the environment that could be irreversible, we must also be be aware of the needs of people—who are, after all—a part of the environment. To find the proper balance between preservation and utilization is not always easy, but it must be sought constantly, especially by those who are politically positioned to influence action. Unfortunately, not all public officials are so motivated, and therein lies Schwandt's concern.

Mark Hanson's dairy herd tops county DHIA

Mark Hanson dairy herd topped the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement Association records for the month of November, according to supervisors Mel and Randy Rasmussen.

Hanson had 91 per cent of his herd of 54 cows in milk and averaged daily production of 73.1 pounds of milk and 2.30 pounds of butterfat. Hanson's herd is milked three times a day.

Mylo Carlson herd was second with 91 per cent of the 65 cows in milk and averaging 66.4 pounds of milk and 2.26 pounds of butterfat.

Lyle Swanson herd was second with 82 per cent of the 42-cow herd in milk and averaging 58.9 pounds of milk and 2.20 pounds of butterfat.

Number of dry cows in the herd affects the individual average since production is averaged over all cows in the herd, including those not in milk. This method of accounting gives the producer a record of his herd's earning power for the month.

Other herds in the top 10 include the following with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk, average pounds of milk and average pounds of butterfat listed respectively:

L&R Dairy, 98, 98%, 57.9 and 2.00; Ben Kleinwachter, 42, 86%, 53.8 and 1.85; Warren Hamrick & Sons, 101, 91%, 53.4 and 2.10; Walter Bros., 139, 80%, 52.4 and 1.72; Kelly & Gary Lundeen, 44, 89%, 48.3 and 1.67; Orlan and Joel Stolaas, 41, 90%, 47.5 and 1.79; and Andy and Karen Peterson, 32, 78%, 45.7 and 1.68.

There were 24 official DHIA and three owner-sampler herds on test with the Pennington association during November.

and the blast comes straight from the Pole.
And the cold is cruel
And we need some fuel,
So bring us in a good load of poles.

If our delinquest subscribers don't want to be afflicted with more of this, they had better bring us in a load of wood quick."

County Division

"The county division boomers are in full force again at St. Paul but are having a hard time of it. The new constitutional amendment which does away with special legislation, stops a special bill being introduced and they have prepared a general bill which will be introduced. The bill provides that a special election may be called to divide a county if sixty per cent of the voters of the county so petition. The bill will meet with considerable opposition from other parts of the state and it is extremely doubtful if it will pass."

Council takes step in hiring safety director

Thief River Falls city council has approved of taking the next step in hiring a safety director for the city. Tuesday night, the council heard from a city employee who has been filling in as a temporary safety director.

At the request of the Labor committee, Dana Klos, who has been filling in as a temporary safety director, developed estimates as to how long it would take a safety director to write all of the policies mandated by the federal government and to conduct required training courses. Klos estimated that it would take a grand total of 6,954 hours to write all of the mandated policies. There wasn't an estimate in hours for training, but nearly every department in the city is required to conduct some training.

Klos also reported that the labor committee had decided to expand the position to include the mandated responsibilities of an environmental director.

Various committees of the city have discussed the issue for some time. Differing opinions as to whether the position should be full-time or part-time have been debated, but so have many other issues, issues such as:

- where the money to pay for the position will come from;
- whether there are any other communities in the area with a safety director;
- what department will the safety director report to;
- what will be that persons job duties; and
- what jobs skills will be needed and what will be the salary requirements.

By expanding the job title to include the responsibilities of an environmental director, the labor committee was recommending that the position be filled by a full-time employee.

Mayor Robert Reeve has made his position clear on the issue. Because the position has not been included in the 1993 budget, Mayor Reeve would prefer that the position be filled by a part-time person, at least for the first year. Mayor Reeve pressed the issue further by asking Alderman Dale Wennberg, a member of the labor committee,

Jennifer Vad wins third spelling bee title at Goodridge

Eighth grader Jennifer Vad outlasted 11 other contestants, including sixth-grade challenger Andrea Johnsrud who finished second, to win the annual Goodridge school spelling bee Friday in the school gymnasium.

It was Jennifer's third school championship, as she also won the contest as a fifth and sixth grader before losing to eighth grader Mandy Brandt last year.

The daughter of Lynn and Laurie Vad, Jennifer stumbled only once, but was able to recover. In the final head-to-head competition with Andrea, the daughter of James and Kim Johnsrud, she correctly spelled assassination, ignorance, schedule, crystal and beneficially while Andrea breezed through luscious, emergency, authority and precision.

When Andrea misspelled assault, Jennifer spelled it correctly but misspelled the next word—sarcasm—giving Andrea a chance to win. But Andrea missed on tolerance which Jennifer corrected, then spelled doubtfully correctly to win the spelldown.

Third place in the contest went to seventh grader Kristin Halvorson, daughter of Brenda Dahlen.

Cash prizes of $10 for first place, $7.50 for second and $5 for third, provided by the Goodridge Area Development Corporation, were presented by John Lovly, president of the association's board of directors.

Jennifer's name will also be inscribed on the winners' plaque for the third time and she will compete in the regional contest March 6 at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

Kurt Krueger pronounced the words for the contest and judges were Duane Kjono, Rob Brown and John Rnhn. Helen Davidson was coordinator for the spelling bee.

Drevlow rabbits win honors

by Mark Olsoo
Staff Writer

Hippity hoppity, hippity hoppity, hippity hoppity. Rabbits mean business to Guy Drevlow.

Hippity hoppily. Especially the French Lop rabbit (or just "French" to enthusiasts).

Eight years of rabbit-breeding led to national honors for Guy, a junior at Lincoln High School.

Guy's passion for rabbits rubbed off on his mother and father and now it's a family affair.

Rabbits surround the Drevlows — in their basement, a heated shed in the backyard and, occasionally, hopping around the house.

Most of their rabbits are French Lops. Full-grown French Lops weigh 12 to 14 pounds and are characterized by a back which slopes up from their neck, long floppy ears, heavy loins and wide shoulders.

According to Guy's mother Sande, a prize-winning rabbit should form a cube with the same width, height and depth. The rabbits don't train for rabbit shows and grooming is minimal.

Some rabbits can perform simple tricks. Guy said Tulsa, one of his older rabbits, will roll a pop can back if it is rolled to him. Tulsa also loves football.

"You can potty train them with a litter box," Guy said. "Only for urinating though," added Sande, who said the droppings were hard, odorless and easily collectable.

Guy's current primary prize winner, "Smoo" (Guy's Souffle is its legal name), possesses a family line leading back to breeders in Virginia and Texas. Smoo is a broken chestnut agouti doe. Agouti denotes three rings of color on each hair strand.

Guy's Lop Hoppery is the name of his rabbitry.

His rabbits have gained popularity. A couple from Ecuador visited the Twin Cities asking about French Lops. Someone recommended Guy's French Lops and the couple traveled to Thief River Falls and bought two rabbits.

Guy refuses to sell some rabbits. He received four $200 offers from Arizona rabbit breeders for his French Lop "Sebastian," but turned them down because "Sebastian is special."

The prices of Lops vary: $10 to $15 for pets; $35 to $50 for a "decent show animal" and $200 to $300 for prize winners with good breeding background. But Sande calls the rabbit the "poor man's horse." "You have as good a chance of winning with a $10 rabbit as a $200 rabbit simply because of breeding. Two scrubs may produce an excellent show rabbit," Sande said.

"If we went into it (rabbit breeding) as a business, we'd be shut down awful quick, because there's no money in it," Guy said.

In 1992 Guy made $7,000 in the sale of rabbits, but expenses were $9,000. Most money goes for feed. In a week and one-half the rabbits eat 150 pounds of rabbit food.

Caring for the rabbits takes the Drevlows about one hour each day. Once each week every water holder and feeder is disinfected. The cages require cleaning once every ten days and they disinfect every cage a couple times each year.

Speaking Of . . .

. . . Super Bowl

After reading an article in the Grand Forks Herald, I watched the Super Bowl. As most of you are probably aware, after reading my column for the past five years, I am not an avid sports fan, and it was rather unusual to find my little television set tuned to a football game on a Sunday afternoon, whether it was the Super Bowl or not.

I watched the Super Bowl because the article in the Herald said that incidents of family abuse skyrocketed on Super Bowl Sunday. I wanted to know what it was about the game that would cause someone to become abusive.

I also watched the Super Bowl because I wanted to see the "commercials" against spousal and family abuse that were supposed to be aired as a public service during the game. I wanted to see how such a subject would be presented.

I must admit, I didn't watch the game very closely, especially after the Cowboys pulled ahead and looked like they were going to stay there. Actually, I was reading a book and dozing a little while keeping an eye on the game.

I watched the commercials quite closely, however, and I didn't see anything about family abuse. Was there one that I missed? Was I napping when it came on? It was very disappointing not to see anything at all that dealt with the subject of spousal or family abuse. It was sad to think that the companies who presented the commercials were more interested in making money than presenting a public service for the benefit of their viewers.

After watching the numerous commercials, I decided that I didn't like them at all. The commercials seemed to be mostly about things that men would want, "macho" trucks, "macho" beer, "macho" deodorant, "macho" aftershave.

It seemed as though every one of them was aimed at a particular type of male audience, too. To me, the commercials appeared to be aimed at bolstering the egos of an audience of young men with low self-esteem and even lower intelligence.

Now don't tell me the entire Super Bowl viewing audience was composed of stupid, "macho" or want-to-be "macho" young men.

I know there are plenty of women who watch football games. I may not be a football fan, but I have two daughters who enjoy the sport (one of them is obsolutely crazy about it) and I know lots of women who were looking forward to watching the Super Bowl. Looking at the Super Bowl crowd, there were plenty of women who appeared to be enjoying the game at the stadium.

I also saw plenty of men in the audience who looked intelligent, self-confident and "macho" enough not to need to have their egos bolstered with beer and pickup trucks, either, and I am sure that many of the men watching at home were the same.

I found the Super Bowl commercials offensive, sexist, juvenile and boring. Do the sponsors actually think such drivel would coax Super Bowl viewers to rush out and buy the products advertised?

Watching the football game, itself, I saw nothing that should cause a person to abuse someone. Oh, sure, there might be a large amount of money bet on a losing team, or too much consumption of the liquid refreshment advertised on so many of the commercials, or some other extenuating circumstance that might cause someone to become upset enough to become violent, but the actual game itself was not so wild and brutal that it should have such an effect.

The half time show by Michael Jackson wasn't extremely violent, either, although that young man certainly looks as if he should buy himself some new underwear. It appeared that he was having some serious trouble with whatever he was wearing. Wasn't he taught that some behavior just isn't acceptable in public, no matter how uncomfortable things get?

So, I guess you might say I was somewhat disappointed in my once yearly viewing of a football game. I didn't like the commercials, I didn't hear anything speaking up against family abuse, I didn't care for Mr. Jackson's underwear problems, and, besides all of that, the team I wanted to win didn't.

Oh well, I still plan to watch the Super Bowl again next year. I want to see if the sponsors of those commercials have gotten the message that there is more to a football fan than "macho" and if they can present a half time show that won't make me feel like telling the entertainer to mind his manners. Maybe next year I will not root for the underdog, either, for a change.

Soupçon

NO EGG CHOCOLATE CAKE

- 3 cups flour (or if you have cake flour, use 3 1/3 cups)
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup oil
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups cold water

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 2 round pans.

Mix flour, sugar, cocoa, soda and salt in large bowl.

Mix oil, vinegar and vanilla.

Stir oil mixture and 1 cup of the water into flour mixture until smooth. Stir in remaining water and beat vigorously one minute. (Some lumps will remain.)

Pour immediately into pans and bake 30-35 minutes. Cool 10 minutes and then remove from pans. Cool completely and frost with Creamy Almond Frosting, if desired, or your favorite frosting.

CREAMY ALMOND FROSTING

- 4 cups powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter, softened
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1 teaspoon almond extract

Beat all ingredients with mixer until smooth. If too stiff, add teaspoonful of milk.

(Recipe serves 16, and each serving contains 440 calories, 2 g protein, 75 g carbohydrate, 15 g fat, 0 cholesterol, 350 mg sodium and 75 mg potassium.)

With a little juggling of fat and calories, even the dieters in your family will be able to enjoy this dessert:

CHIFFON SPICE CAKE

- 2 1/4 cups cake flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup oil
- 7 eggs, separated
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tatar

Heat oven to 325 degrees.

In small bowl, mix flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and cloves. Beat in water, oil and egg yolks until smooth.

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar in large bowl until stiff peaks form.

Gradually pour egg yolk mixture over egg whites, folding with rubber spatula until just blended. Pour into ungreased tube pan.

Bake 55 minutes at 325 degrees, then increase oven temperature to 350 degrees and bake about 10 minutes more, until top springs back when touched lightly.

Invert pan over funnel and let hang until completely cool. Remove from pan and frost or drizzle with glaze.

GLAZE

- 2 cups powdered sugar
- 1/3 cup margarine or butter, melted
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2-4 tablespoons hot water

SETTING THE RIGHT EXAMPLE

"Don't play with matches" is an admonition that adults must stress to children. Since five year olds learn almost all habits by watching parents and siblings, setting a good example is imperative. Logically, when there are young children in the household, there must be a special awareness of the dangers we might overlook as adults. For example:

- Never leave a cigarette unattended.
- Never leave something cooking on the stove unattended.
- Gas grills must be operated properly and charcoal barbecues never left unattended.

Residential fire statistics are devastating:

- A fire in a home, condominium or apartment occurs more than once a minute across the United States.
- Some 5,000 deaths occur annually as a result of the residential fires.
- More than 20,000 injuries a year result from residential fires.

There are many effective ways to prevent fires. Among them are smoke detectors, a family escape plan, and fire drills.

Another means to protect your family and loved ones is through adequate insurance. NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is available to review your insurance needs. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon. - Fri. 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

Dear Readers,
A widow met an old friend whom she had not seen since her husband's death. As they talked, the friend began to recall a humorous story about the deceased. Immediately, tears came to the widow's eyes and the friend quickly apologized for being inconsiderate of her feelings. "Please don't say you're sorry", the widow replied, "it is comforting to remember the good times". Conversation about the deceased is vital, and need not be avoided. Sharing memories helps heal the broken heart.

Respectfully,
Larry Belmont

Did any of you see the brief article in the paper recently which told about a school district in California that wanted to make life insurance a part of its budget? This life insurance was not a part of the benefits package of its employees. This life insurance is to cover the cost of funeral expenses for the school children. The article stated that so many of the families were experiencing financial hardship caused by the funeral expenses they had for their children. The gang wars, ride-by shootings, and just being in the wrong place at the wrong time was taking this large a toll on the students.

We shake our heads at news like this and say to ourselves that we certainly are glad WE don't live in a large city. For in a large city our children—and also we adults—would be exposed to so much danger. In a large city we would have to worry about us or our children being at the wrong place at the wrong time. In a large city we would have to worry about our children being involved in gangs. In a large city we would be exposed to so many evils, and so would our children.

So, we mutter our thanks that we are not living in a large city and that we don't need to worry about these large city problems.

Did you also read the article, or perhaps you saw the ad on television, about abuse on Super Bowl Sunday? Super Bowl Sunday is the time when more calls for help reach the domestic violence centers across our nation than any other time of the year. I did not notice that this was an affliction of only those who live in the city. Domestic abuse is everywhere. And it is everywhere rampant.

For much of my married life I have lived in small towns. As we in small towns mutter our thanks that we don't have to put up with the violence of the city, we perhaps forget that even in small town America, violence is rampant.

Children are illtreated in large cities, and they are also illtreated in the families of rural America. Spouses mistreat each other in large cities, and they also mistreat each other in rural America. Simply living in rural America does not guarantee domestic peace.

I have known children in other places in which we have lived who were surviving in miserable conditions. Lack of care, in spite of financial ability to provide that needed care, was common. The mindset of adults that children are little adults and must reason and feel and behave as adults, even when they are merely toddling infants, is an all too common mindset.

I have known wives in other places in which we have lived who needed to consult with their husbands over every minute detail of life—even as to what kind of cake they may or may not bring to a church social. Fear of displeasing the husband was so great that even minutia needed to meet with his approval.

But what always amazes me is the resilience of humans. The children who lacked the basics of life, could see beyond what they lacked physically and see that what truly they missed was love. One child said that what he wanted most for Christmas was love like he saw in our family. Wives, in fear of spouses, have somehow been able to live. They have been able to analyze their situations and try to better their lives.

We are truly amiss when we think that domestic abuse is only for those living in the cities. It is in rural America also. In rural America, we need not fear the drive-by shootings or the gang wars, but we do need to make sure that we each treat the other decently.

The problem is enormous. Not one of us can fix it. It is bigger than any of us. But, we can, one by one, and family by family, treat each other with respect. We can love each other. We can provide our children with secure environments. We can see to it that as far as each one of us is individually responsible, we can live peaceably with each other.

Transportation meet Feb. 11

To seek public input on future transportation priorities for Minnesota, the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is sponsoring a meeting Thursday, February 11, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The session is one of seven being held across the state and is intended for all interested persons in the northwestern part of the state.

According to Steve Baker, engineer of Mn/DOT's northwest district, the department's goal is to become more responsive to customer needs and more strategic in future transportation choices. This past summer and fall, he said, business and community leaders were asked to provide advice on the future and identify key transportation issues that Mn/DOT should address to achieve long term goals.

"Based on the strategic directions that were identified," he said, "Mn/DOT has prepared potential actions considering funding assumptions, barriers, benefits and feasibility. The next step is to receive public response and input on the chosen strategic directions."

Persons wishing to receive additional information or to request special meeting accommodations are asked to contact Mark Anderson at Mn/DOT's Bemidji office, phone 755-3819.

Drake earns PhD degree from UND

Dr. Olane Drake, who says she likes to collect degrees like some people like to collect stamps, added her fifth one recently with a PhD degree in English from the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

Orake previously had earned a BA degree in English and BS degree in Spanish from Augustana College and MA degrees in English from Middlebury College in Vermont and South Dakota State University.

One-fourth of the faculty members at Northland now have doctorate degrees. Orake said she has been working on hers for the past four years. Her dissertation was on Nebraska author Mari Sandoz, whose work she has followed since Drake's father introduced her to books written by Sandoz in 1985.

Student reaction to using the title of Dr. Orake was provided in a poem written and presented to her by student Patrick Mylhrer of St. Hilaire:

For those who have done dissertations
And added PhO to their name,
One offers his congratulations
And wishes for fortune and fame.

English can equal anesthesiology
But your students stay wide awake.
No more fumbling with Miss,
Ms. or Mrs.
We can now calmly say,
"Or. Drake."

Several emcees share duties at choir telethon

With Maryel Anderson anchoring the emcee duties for the duration of the Lincoln high school choir telethon Sunday, February 7, five other local residents will share in emcee duties during the six-hour event. The telethon may be seen and heard on cable channel 13 in Thief River Falls from 1 to 7 p.m.

Joining Mrs. Anderson at the microphone during the afternoon and evening will be Sharon Fuglebeg, J. J. Womack, Curt Quesnell, Ed Walseth and Jane Mattson. In charge of the technical aspects of the telethon at Northwest Technical College Thief River Falls will be Don Jorstad.

Approximately 65 acts have been scheduled for the program and 32 business places took advantage of the choir's videotaping of commercials. The commercials will be aired in six groups during the telethon, according to Darcy Reese, vocal music instructor at Lincoln.

"We want to thank the business places which participated and we had a lot of fun taping the commercials," she said. "But our efforts are strictly amateur and we hope no one is expecting professional results."

The choir needs to raise $13,000 to meet its goal prior to traveling to New York City for its concert at Carnegie Hall on Easter Sunday. The telethon is expected to be the major producer toward that goal as only one fund-raiser remains after the telethon.

Serving as telethon co-chairs for the Thief River Falls Choir Boosters are Maryel and Cecil Anderson, Vern and Kathy Treat and Mark and Linnae Enge.

Others assisting with various aspects of the advance arrangements have been Ron and Judy Lindberg, Janet Hoffard, Leonard and Milly Furuseth, Jean Lane, Diane Hanson, Carol Gustafson, Mike and Becky Stickler, Boyce and Gloria Lee, Peggy Kraemer, Sue Krause, Cindy Krankkala, Pat Duncan, Dean and Joann Keushagen, Al and Sharon Peggen, Barb State, Ed and Mary Walseth and Linda Goulet.

Sixth grade band program a success

Now in its fifth month at Franklin middle school, the sixth grade band program is an overwhelming success, according to Mike Lehrer, director.

"The students have learned quickly and are about to equal the performance level of last year's sixth graders who had band in fifth grade," Lehrer states in a letter being sent to fifth graders and their parents early this week.

"This is all due to a group of outstanding students, band rehearsal every day and very good attendance at after school sectionals."

Lehrer said the intent had been to provide team teaching with Lincoln band instructor Bruce Felt this year but that scheduling in Lincoln and Franklin schools did not permit that to happen. It is being considered again for the next school year, he said, and will be discussed at an informational meeting for parents and fifth graders Monday, February 8, at 7:30 p.m.

At that meeting for students and parents interested in enrolling in the sixth grade band for next year, Lehrer will give a brief presentation and Joel Kezar of Kezar Music will be available to explain instrument rental and/or purchase.

For people unable to attend the meeting, Lehrer will be available from 3 to 4 p.m. at the school band room Monday through Thursday. He also invites calls at Franklin any time during the school day and he will return the calls as soon as possible and answer questions about the band program.

Fifth graders and their parents are also invited in the letter to attend the annual pop concert at Franklin Tuesday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. "...to get a first hand idea of what our band program is all about," Lehrer said.

Included in the concert will be the sixth, seventh and eighth grade bands, "Morning Darkness" jazz band and "Sunrise Singers" jazz choir.

ACTIVITIES

Fairy Tales

Fairy tales are stories that have been told for generations. These stories or tales originated in various countries and cultures.

For young children to get a perspective, not only on the story, but also an insight into another culture and time, it is interesting to read these fairy tales. If you do not have a favorite tale, or you would like to explore some new ones, the public library is an excellent resource.

The use of a world map is also important so you can show the child where the story came from. You should also point out where we live. Then all you have to do is settle down and enjoy a fairy tale with your favorite youngster.

SCAVENGER HUNT

BOOK OF THE WEEK

New selections at the Thief River Falls public library include:

Brown, Craig. My Barn. This "look and listen" book about all of your favorite barnyard animals is a great one to be read aloud.

Kraus, Robert. Phil the Ventriloquist. Phil's family was so embarrassed when he learned to throw his voice -- everywhere! Things take a turn when a burglar breaks in and Phil becomes a hero.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Snowman. This video casts a spell of enchantment as a boy's snowman comes to life and takes him on an unforgettable trip to the North Pole.

PARENTING TIPS

Television = An Extra Parent In Your Home

Is there an extra parent in your home? This parent doesn't help cook meals or help dress your children. It sits in your living room telling stories and showing all kinds of strange and interesting events to children.

Children can learn a lot from the television. Next to parents, the television is the most important teacher children will have. Television can become a window on the world. It can broaden our children's knowledge and interests by introducing them to people, places and things they know nothing about. The TV parent can also become an excellent teacher. This teacher can impart and improve skills such as reading, counting, spelling and problem-solving. It can aid in the development of attitudes and behavior patterns we want our children to have. If monitored by adults, the TV parent does offer programs that will help our children build sound moral characters.

If we help point out to our youngsters that certain programs are trying to teach honesty, fair play, truthfulness and a sense of duty, they will remember the lessons longer because they can both see and hear as these qualities are demonstrated.

Faith Rud, who shares instruction in a course in American Government and Politics with State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls at Northland Community College, watches a monitor in the college's ITV room during a class session. Sen. Stumpf was participating from the State Capitol in St. Paul in NCC's first attempt at a live broadcast between Northland and the Twin Cities. Despite some sound difficulty, the experiment went well.

Students in the American Government and Politics class at Northland Community College watch television screens during interactive television transmission from the State Capitol in St. Paul. Sen. LeRoy Stumpf had a guest speaker in the broadcast from St. Paul.

Stumpf teaches from Capitol

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls is teaching a class in American Government and Politics at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls from the State Capital in St. Paul.

Sen. Stumpf taught the class in person during December, then left for his duties in the Minnesota Senate. Faith Rud is the instructor during his legislative service and will finish out the quarter.

At the Capitol in St. Paul, Sen. Stumpf lines up the guest speakers and they broadcast live via interactive television to the ITV room at Northland.

Last week Sen. Stumpf's guest was Pat Canley, a lobbyist for the Association of Minnesota Counties. The class was discussing how to lobby and the ITV hook-up provided a good opportunity for the members to hear first hand what a lobbyist does.

Jeny Stumpf, the senator's daughter, is a member of the class. When the senator asked if anyone in the class had lobbied his or her senator, Jeny raised her hand up high!

Having the ITV technology available has added to the impact of the class. This was Northland's first attempt at a live broadcast to the Twin Cities area. Some difficulty with sound was experienced but the class was able to manage and the experiment was considered a success.

Sen. Stumpf mentioned the possibility of getting former U.S. Senator and Vice Presidential candidate Walter Mondale as the next guest speaker. Mondale has been mentioned as a possible candidate for U.S. Attorney General.

Perennials to be studied at program

"Practical and Permanent Perennials: Planning a Perennial Garden" is the topic of a program to be sponsored by the Pennington county extension service Friday, February 5, at 1:30 p.m. in the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls.

The session is intended to help gardeners with the selection and care of a variety of common long-lived flowers to enhance the landscape and provide them with information on what to expect from the plants. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Perennials are plants which, after having produced flowers and seeds, live on to repeat the process from year to year. Some of them are extremely long-lived. For example, the gas-plant and peonies often outlive the gardeners who plant them.

The majority of perennials, however, if left to themselves, soon form clumps of numerous offspring, becoming so overcrowded that they produce small, inferior flowers or no flowers at all. From the start, a gardener should realize that a perennial garden is going to take more or less perennial care, according to the county extension staff.

Jr. Great Books program starts

In preparation for student [illegible] the Junior Great Books program at Thief River Falls elementary schools, more than 40 volunteers and staff members underwent training recently in sessions at the Best Western Inn.

Janice Cody, trainer with the Junior Great Books Foundation, conducted the training sessions in Thief River Falls, saying she is pleased with the interest and enthusiasm in the project locally.

"It is important for discussion leaders to have some background in interactive learning before they begin to discuss literature," Cody said.

"The vocabulary can be difficult and some of the terms are unfamiliar to elementary students. We want the children to be challenged, but reading should always be stimulating and fun. Everyone should come away from the experience with a new perspective, including the discussion leader," she said.

Students in grades three, four and five at Washington elementary school and grades three and four at Knox and Northrop elementary schools will share in a variety of literature through the 12-week program, according to Carol Ihle, volunteer coordinator for School District 564, who is working with volunteers in the program.

"Junior Great Books is a study of outstanding literary works," she said, "and the study is led by the trained volunteers with coordination through the school district's volunteer program. Adult discussion leaders attended a two day training session with Janice Cody, with advanced training provided for volunteers who worked with children in the program last year."

Funded with grants from the federal Title II program and the Thief River Falls Education Foundation, the Junior Great Books program is in its second year in the local school district.

Last year's volunteer discussion leaders found the children eager to share their view of the stories and discuss areas where they agree and disagree, Ihle said. They were also pleased that readers of every ability level were able to participate and that everyone had something to add. "That was surprising," Ihle noted, "because the stories are not typical of reading material chosen by students in this age group."

Guy Drevlow's rabbits earn major awards

The rabbits eat alfalfa pellets, and the Drevlows also treat them to dried molasses, apples and dry bread. "Every time there's a Cheerios sale we buy as much as we can get of it," Guy said.

Guy names the does after cheeses and the bucks have French names. Guy has run out of names for does and now the rabbits carry names such as Mozzarella II.

Each rabbit requires a separate cage or else they'd fight and multiply like — rabbits. The rabbits gestation period is 27 to 32 days. A doe is capable of 11 litters a year, but Guy doesn't let his does birth more than two litters each year.

"The only way to get a prize winner is through breeding," Sande said.

Years of selective breeding paid off and Guy's French Lop "Zep" earned "Best Colored" award in the youth division at the American Rabbit Breeders Association convention last fall in Columbus, OH. His rabbit "Smoo" currently holds the most points in the national French Lop sweepstakes.

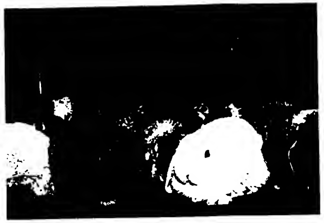
Competition at rabbit shows can be tooth and nail. "Some people have no ethics as far as sportsmanship," Sande said. She said she has seen owners pluck white hairs out of black rabbits and paint rabbits' toenails.

The rabbits must learn poise and decorum to become a prize winner. "If your animal urinates on a judge or bites a judge, you can plan on being at the end of the line. They're not supposed to give that any consideration, but you can almost count on not winning," Sande said.

Rabbit competition begins in March. The Drevlows travel from show to show on weekends, often leaving Friday evening and returning Sunday evening. Many of the shows are in the Twin Cities and Wisconsin.

Guy takes 25 to 33 rabbits with him for shows, packing them three cages high into a truck.

Rabbits are the great equalizer at shows. "There is every walk of life in the rabbit industry," Sande said. "No one lords over anyone else because of employment, because you all have one thing in common and that's rabbits."



A group of bunnies surround their mother Ale. Ale is third place in total number of sweepstakes points in 1993. (The rabbit show year begins in the summer.)

Ale is a two-year-old chinchilla agouti French Lop doe. Guy Drevlow of Thief River Falls owns the prize-winning rabbit.

This bunny is a two-month-old French Lop. Its parents are Zep and Ale, both prize-winning rabbits. When the rabbit is full grown it will weigh from 12 to 14 pounds.

TRF Council takes steps in hiring safety director

how the city will pay for the position.

Wennberg responded by saying that the committee had discussed the issue and had concluded that each department should be billed for the work the safety director does for them.

Alderman Frank Hammerlink noted that there appears to be a lot of work to be done, according to the information the council received. He added later that it appears that the mandated requirements are currently being fulfilled by each department. He suggested that if one person handled the responsibilities of safety for all of the departments, it would remove some duplication of effort among the departments. Elimination of some of the duplication, therefore, represents a cost savings and could possibly justify hiring a safety director.

Alderman Wennberg said that the information should be provided to Ernst and Young for a job evaluation. The job evaluation would help define job responsibilities and determine the pay scale.

Alderman John T. Anderson said he believes the city is taking a risk by not having anyone responsible for keeping up on all the mandates created by OSHA. Of course, Anderson said the city could slide by for some time, but once caught the price could be very high.

Council member Jean Heinrichs proposed that the council take the next "little" step. She proposed that the city submit the information to Ernst and Young to determine the grade level of the safety director, check out insurance costs and find out how many other communities have safety directors. Her motion was unanimously approved.

■ The council approved a resolution of support for a proposed riverbank stabilization project below the dam.

Lowell Enerson of the Red Lake Watershed District explained to the council that the design had been approved and that the Soil and Water Conservation District had half of the funds for the project in the bank. Enerson said he would like permission to pursue state approval for a canoe landing, and funding for the remainder of the $96,000 project cost. Enerson said he has already begun approaching local clubs and organizations for funds.

As presented, the proposal calls for stabilization to 750 feet of riverbank on the east side of the river. If the canoe landing is approved it would add another 300 feet to the total length of the project.

Enerson wanted a resolution of support and permission to enlist the assistance of the city's engineering supervisor, Ron Lindberg.

The council gave its approval to Enerson's requests.

■ The council approved recommendation from the CDAB to allow Northern Pride Inc. to defer principal payments for 1993.

According to information released by the Community Development Advisory Board (CDAB), representatives of the CDAB, Northwest Regional Enterprise Fund, met and had conversations with the general manager of Northern Pride on a number of occasions during the past eight weeks. In 1992 the council approved a request to allow Northern Pride to defer principal payments until December 31, 1992, at which time it was to be made current. On January 6, 1993, the city received a payment for 1992 interest in the amount of $30,975. Interest payments for 1992 were also made to the other two public lending agencies.

Because of very difficult market conditions, Northern pride again requested that payments on the principal be deferred for 1993. Interest will be paid monthly throughout 1993.

The council approved the recommendation.

In other business, the council: approved a preliminary plat review for the Barnick and Kordel properties; approved a zoning amendment request by Jeff A. Johnson (Servicemaster), and Heidi L. Burstad, 114 Sixth Street East, changing the property description from R-2 to C-4, downtown fringe district; noted that J.J. Womack had been re-elected as chairperson of the CDAB for 1993 and Roger Reuter re-elected as vice-chairperson; called for advertising of Revolving Loan Fund applications; set a hearing date for Enterprise Zone Tax Credit applications on March 23; approved overtime payment to Mark Borseth; added First street to Second street on Duluth avenue to the MSA system; adjusted the community development director position from grade level 12 to grade level 13; ratified the contract between the city and Jaguar Sport for testing at the regional airport; approved the purchase of a used mini-van by the utilities department; approved a change order (extension) for re-roofing the old arena; and approved two dance permit requests.

85 on average play Bingo at Heritage center

An average of 85 players participated in the 49 charitable Bingo sessions conducted on Tuesdays during 1992, according to Harry Oen, Bingo manger for the center.

Total attendance was 4,174 players who purchased $32,409 worth of Bingo papers for an average purchase of $7.76 per player per session. Return in prizes totaled $23,548 or an average of $5.64 per player per session.

Monthly reports are given at the regular meetings of the Heritage Community Center on the second Monday of each month, Oen said, and the members decide how Bingo profits are allocated to various charities. Last year $5,760 was donated to local charitable purposes.

"Bingo is only one of many entertainment events and services offered to the community in return for generous community support," Oen said. "The congregate mail program and other services offered wouldn't be possible without our wonderful volunteers. Anyone who would enjoy being a part of activities is invited to visit with our director, Janet Wilson, and the volunteers."

He invited those interested to attend the center's meetings on the second Monday of each month at 1 p.m. and as members have a part in the operation of the center and distribution of Bingo profits.

Adams sparks TRF girls

Amy Adams woke up a sluggish Thief River Falls offense by scoring 17 of her game-high 21 points in the second half Friday as the Prowlers pulled away from Crookston for a 52-36 girls high school basketball win.

The young Pirates, who had two freshmen and a sophomore in their starting line-up, had 16 turnovers and were trounced 11-0 on the offensive boards in the first half, yet trailed only 19-15. That was mostly because the Prowlers shot an anemic 24 percent (9/38) through the first 16 minutes.

And the only reason the Prowlers had a four-point halftime lead was because of a 5-0 finish over the final 50 seconds – a basket from the corner by Lori DeLap, plus a free throw, then a bucket from the side by Jami Dehnert with four seconds left.

Adams, a 5-10 senior, started her second half tear by scoring six points in a 2 1/2-minute 8-0 Thief River Falls [illegible] that [illegible] 21-[illegible] [illegible] a 29-20 cushion with 1:48 left in the third quarter.

Crookston never recovered. The Pirates began the fourth quarter trailing 31-24 and could not get the margin below six the rest of the way. It was a 38-29 game when Thief River Falls finally put it on ice with a three-pointer by DeLap, an inside move by Adams and a basket from the side by Dehnert for a 44-29 gap with just 3:46 left.

Dehnert and DeLap, a pair of juniors, joined Adams in double figures with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Dehnert, a 5-6 guard, supplied a bulk of what Thief River Falls could muster offensively in the first half with nine points before intermission. DeLap, a 6-0 center, was back in the line-up after missing a 53-50 Monday overtime win against Kittson Central because of illness.

Jenny Bruun, a 5-8 freshman forward, led Crookston with 15 points.

Both teams shot 36 percent from the field for the game, but the Prowlers' 22-for-61 performance included a 13-for-23, 56 percent second half. The Pirates were 16-for-44.

The Prowlers were 8-for-15 at the free throw line, where the Pirates were 4-for-8. Thief River Falls' 34-23 rebound advantage included a 15-4 edge on the offensive end. Crookston wound up with 30 turnovers. Thief River Falls had 21.

First Thief River Falls three-game winning streak of the 1992-93 season has improved the Prowlers' record to 7-9.

Free throws lift Brainerd by Pioneers

Brainerd went to the free throw line 55 times Saturday afternoon, cashing in on 40 of them en route to a 98-83 men's community college basketball win over visiting Northland.

"Fifty-five free throws. That has to be some kind of a record," offered Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "They spent the entire game at the free throw line. I felt we out-played them. If it weren't for the free throws, we might have won big. But they called it close on one end, and not so close on the other end. It was frustrating. I thought we played well defensively. I thought we had good position, but anytime we were close to the shooter we'd get called for a foul."

The Pioneers had opportunities at the line, too, but made just 8 of 27 free throws.

"They made their free throws, and we missed ours," acknowledged Dannhoff. "If we would have made our free throws we would have won the game. We just didn't take care of business at the line."

Brainerd's offense included a 29-point game by Greg Hurt and a 23-point effort by Andre Bellfield. Northland scoring featured Mike Swanson with 17 points, Mitch Bernstein 14, Ryan Walseth 13, Chip Carter 13, and Dan Hoffard 11.

Northland shot 45 percent from the field (34/75), while Brainerd shot 43 percent (26/61). The Raiders had a 32-20 rebound edge, but they also had more turnovers, 16-14.

The Pioneers fell to 3-12 for the year, 0-5 in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northwest Division.

Prowlers challenge Spuds, but lose 4-2

What started as a shoot-out wound up as a hard-hitting, close-checking affair Saturday when once-beaten Moorhead held off Thief River Falls 4-2 in a Section 8 high school hockey match-up played in front of a large Moorhead Sports Center crowd.

Most of the scoring occurred in the opening period, with four of the game's six goals coming in the first 6:19 as the Spuds jumped to an early 3-1 lead. But strong goaltending by the Prowlers' Trevor Haugen and the Spuds' Troy Brekke, along with a steadily increasing series of body checks converted the offensive show into a defensive battle.

Haugen turned in his third straight solid performance with a 34-save effort that included several key stops in one-on-one confrontations with Moorhead shooters. Brekke, too, turned in a big-play performance, although he had a quieter 21-save night.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 7-10-1 and extended their winless streak to four games, but it was nevertheless a victory of shorts for a team that had been blitzed by the defending Section 8 champions 13-3 four weeks earlier.

"We played well," said Thief River Falls coach Glenn Chiodo. "We got the goaltending we needed to win a game like this, and the kids played hard. They didn't give up when they fell behind at the start. They stayed with it and played a quality team tough to the end."

Scoring began just 17 seconds into the contest – even after Haugen came up with a great game-opening save on Greg Salvevold. The puck wound up behind the net and Salvevold's ensuing centering pass appeared to carom off someone and into the net for a 1-0 head start.

Thief River Falls came back to tie it at 2:32 when Ryan Kraemer tucked a point-blank shot under Brekke.

But Moorhead went up 3-1 when Salvevold and Ryan Frisch both came in on Haugen alone for breakaway goals at 5:37 and 6:19, respectively.

The first period scoring continued then Corey Olson put a rebound past Brekke at 11:01 for his first varsity goal and a 3-2 game.

It remained a one-goal affair until the Spuds' Josh Arnold walked out front and stuffed the puck into the corner on a Moorhead power play at 5:03 of the third period.

Johnson leads Wolverines by Cougars 41-27

Developing into a consistent late-season outside scoring threat, junior Kristy Johnson came up with another double-figure performance Monday with a 14-point effort that helped carry Goodridge/Grygla past host Kittson County North 41-27 in girls high school basketball.

The win put the Wolverines at 6-11.

Kittson County North led 8-6 at the end of the first quarter, but Goodridge/Grygla went ahead 18-14 at halftime, had a 27-22 third quarter edge and pulled away over the final eight minutes.

"We played okay," said Goodridge/Grygla coach Mike Gast. "Nothing special, but we played well in spurts."

Otters beat Prowlers second time, 76-53...

Fergus Falls runs past TRF

Fergus Falls duplicated a 74-58 Jan. 15 win in Thief River Falls with a 76-53 Friday night boys high school basketball victory over the visiting Prowlers.

A first quarter shoot-out produced a 26-21 Fergus Falls lead. The Otters maintained a 42-35 halftime edge, then opened up a 60-45 third quarter spread as the Prowlers fell to 1-13 for the year.

"We played a pretty good first half of basketball," noted Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "Both teams shot well early-on. We were still getting the good shots in the third quarter, but they didn't drop, and we didn't get back on defense. They beat us down the court with their transition game. It got away from us there."

Ryan Retzlaff and Fritz Skinner provided the Otters with a strong 1-2 scoring punch by netting 23 and 19 points, respectively. Retzlaff scored 10 of the Otters' 18 third quarter points in leading their fast break offense. Tony Greene led the Prowlers with 17 points, while Preston Treat had 12 and Kyle Sanden 11.

"We played well at times, but we just can't seem to put a full game together," said Brekke. "We've got to put four quality quarters together. Until we can do that, we'll have a tough time winning basketball games."

Thief River Falls shot 41 percent from the field (23/56), but had an unproductive 1-for-8 night at the free throw line. Fergus Falls shot 55 percent from the floor (33/60) and went 6-for-10 at the line. The Otters had a 31-26 rebound edge. The Prowlers topped the turnover charts 14-11.

Strong start lifts RLCC to 56-32 victory

Red Lake County Central used a strong start to beat Ulen-Hitterdal 56-32 Saturday in a girls high school basketball game played at Oklee.

The Mustangs grabbed a 17-5 first quarter lead, had a 27-9 halftime cushion and maintained a 41-20 third quarter spread.

"We played a real nice first half," reported Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "You've got to be pleased with the win."

Angel Mickelson had a 14-point, 11-rebound game for the winners, while teammate Dawn Bachand netted 13 points. Mindy Braseth led Ulen-Hitterdal with 14 points.

The Mustangs shot 45 percent from the field (22/49), while the Spartans shot only 27 percent (14/52). Red Lake County Central went 11-for-20 at the free throw line, where Ulen-Hitterdal was 3-for-10. # Nordics sweep EGF teams

It was a familiar combination – big-time offensive numbers supplied by Tim Olson, along with a point-denying defensive performance – that carried the Marshall County Central boys to a weekend home court high school basketball sweep over East Grand Forks teams.

The Nordics beat East Grand Forks Senior High 61-48 Friday and added a 50-36 Saturday victory over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Saturday to go 10-4 for the year.

Earlier in the week Marshall County Central stopped Warroad 61-41.

"It was a great week defensively for us," noted Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "We played awfully good defense in those three games."

Along with the defense, Olson, picking up the slack for injured front line teammate Ivan Hirst, had a 28-point game against the Green Wave and a 24-point effort against the Eagles.

"Tim has been fantastic," said Ueland. "He scored the quietest 24-28 points you'll ever see."

Marshall Co. Central..........61
East Grand Forks ...............48

Small scoring edge in each quarter added up to a 13-point, 61-48 Marshall County Central win over East Grand Forks.

The Nordics had quarter leads of 16-10, 36-26 and 48-37.

A 28-point game by the Nordics' Tim Olson was complemented by a 16-point game by Jake Rantanen and a 12-point effort by Dean Engen. Cy Monley led the Green Wave with 17 points, getting 13 of those in the first half. Pat Whitty joined him in double figures with 14.

Marshall County Central shot 46 percent from the field (24-52) and went 12-for-18 at the free throw line. East Grand Forks shot only 38 percent from the floor (21/55) and had a 4-for-11 night at the line. The Nordics out-rebounded the Green Wave 33-24, and topped the turnover charts 14-13.

Defense got the offense going Saturday as Marshall County Central stopped East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 50-36.

The Eagles led 8-4 at the end of the first quarter, but the Nordics were able to speed things up with their pressure defense in the second quarter when they took a 25-18 lead. The winners maintained a 37-29 third quarter spread.

Almost half of the Marshall County Central offense was represented in Tim Olson's 24-point game. Dan Zavoral led Sacred Heart with 13 points. Defensive effort by Dean Engen limited the Eagles' Ben Brickson, who carries a 20-point average, to just 8 points, and Jerry Tallum contributed by drawing four charging fouls from the Eagles.

Marshall County Central had a 22-for-56, 39 percent shooting performance from the field while struggling with a 5-for-15 effort at the free throw line. Sacred Heart shot 47 percent from the field, but was limited to 16-for-34 production, along with a quiet 3-for-4 night at the line.

The Nordics had a 31-25 rebound edge. The Eagles had more turnovers, 15-13.

Itasca, Brainerd beat NCC

Itasca and Brainerd handed Northland a pair of weekend losses on the road in Minnesota Community College Conference women's basketball.

The Pioneers had hoped to come out of the Friday/Saturday trip in position to challenge for a top-two Northwest Division finish and an MCCC state tournament trip over the final month of regular season play, but instead find themselves at 6-8 overall and 2-4 in conference-counting games.

"That's the worst we've played all year," reported Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "It was really frustrating. We didn't do any of the things we're capable of doing. Losing twice like that really puts us in a hole as far making the state tournament. We really have our work cut out for us now."

Itasca.................................62
Northland...........................51

Northland fell behind 20-6 at the start and never caught up in the 62-51 loss to Itasca in Grand Rapids.

The Vikings led 32-21 at halftime.

Both sides had three double figure scorers, led by the Vikings' Melanie Hill with 18 points and the Pioneers' Holly Gram with 14.

Northland shot 46 percent from the field (24/52) while Itasca hit at a 57 percent clip (25/44). The Pioneers were 3-for-10 at the free throw line, where the Vikings went 11-for-22. Itasca had a 29-26 rebound edge, and Northland had more turnovers, 26-9.

Northland..........................34

Poor shooting cost Northland a 50-34 game at Brainerd.

The Pioneers shot only 21 percent on a 14-for-66 showing, and to make matters worst, a bulk of those shots were close-in attempts.

"We got great shots," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen, "but we just couldn't get them to go in."

Brainerd, up 22-13 at halftime, fared only slightly better in the shooting department on a 18-for-53, 34 percent effort. And both teams had a tough time at the free throw line, where Brainerd went 12-for-25 and Northland was 6-for-17.

The Raiders had a 33-32 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 15-11.

Jenny Line of Brainerd led all scorers with 13 points. Jill Brantl paced the Pioneers with 11.

Nordics drop rematch against Roseau, 63-40

Megan Taylor took charge down the stretch Monday to insure a 63-40 Roseau win over Marshall County Central in girls high school basketball.

Marshall County Central beat Roseau 46-40 in a North Border Conference-counting game last Thursday, but the Rams bounced back for the non-conference win. Both games were played at Roseau.

"We shot better than they did the first time and won the game," explained Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "This time they shot better than we did, and they won."

The Rams were 25-for-58 from the field (43 percent), while the Nordics went 17-for-53 (32 percent).

Roseau jumped out to a 23-14 first quarter lead, had a 37-20 halftime cushion and carried a 43-31 advantage into the fourth quarter.

Down 10 with seven minutes left, the Nordics had a chance to get it under a double-digit deficit, only to see Taylor take over with a seven-point burst in a 45-second span that settled the issue.

"She (Taylor) is by far the best player in the section," said Mjelde.

Taylor finished with 28 points. Teammate Teresa Gotziaman had 17. Sara Lokstad led the Nordics with 19 points.

Marshall County Central was 6-for-8 at the free throw line, where Roseau went 7-for-11. The Rams had a 38-29 rebound edge. The Nordics had more turnovers, 17-15.

The Nordics are 9-8.

The 12-1 Mustangs bounced back from their lone loss of the year – a 69-53 defeat at Clearbrook/Gonvick the week before – by posting quarter leads of 16-10, 35-22 and 51-38.

Jonathan Sundrud and Ryan Salberg joined Chaput in double figures for the winners with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Erik Hamre led the Patriots with 21 points.

"It wasn't too bad," was the way Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore described the Mustangs' performance. "We shot well."

Red Lake County Central shot 53 percent from the field (27/51) and went 16-for-23 at the free throw line. Win-E-Mac shot only 34 percent (24/70) and was 7-for-18 at the line. The Patriots had a 33-31 rebound edge, and the Mustangs topped the turnover figures 13-11.

Wrestlers lose to EGF

East Grand Forks pinned a 50-22 high school wrestling loss on visiting Thief River Falls Saturday, dropping the Prowlers' dual meet record to 3-11-1.

Lone Thief River Falls winners were senior Lee Nieland with a pin at 152 and sophomore John Davis with a 20-10 decision at 160, along with forfeits going to Billy Fogarty at 103 and Jason Homme at 171.

Nieland and Davis are the Prowlers' top winners this winter with 12-5 and 11-6 records, respectively.

Thief River Falls coach John Anderson said despite losses, younger wreslers like Luke Davis (112), Sam Lane (125) and Kevin Bakken (140) turned in solid performances.

"The kids are going out and doing the best job they can," offered Anderson. "The reason we're getting clobbered right now is because injuries and illness have forced us to fill in with eighth graders at several weights. Those kids are doing a real nice job, but they just aren't strong enough or experienced enough to beat the juniors and seniors they're facing."

No other scoring details were made available.

Eagles edge Huskies 58-55

Second meeting of the year between neighboring rivals Grygla-Gatzke and Goodridge was practically a repeat of a December match up [illegible] a late game rally to pull off a come-from-behind win. However, the roles were reversed this time. The Huskies pulled off the final minute magic in Game 1, but the Eagles did it Saturday in winning a 58-55 home court decision.

In the first meeting Goodridge erased an 11 point deficit in the final 2 1/2 minutes and wound up winning 46-45 on a pair of Travis Kotrba free throws with two seconds left.

This time it was the Eagles were down nine with two minutes left before tying it on a trio of three-point shots, first by Mike Jelle, then on back-to-back treys by Jamie Lunsetter.

A Goodridge turnover on an in-bounds play gave Grygla-Gatzke a chance to win it, and the Eagles made the most of the opportunity as Jeremy Engelstad completed a three point play with a basket off the glass and a free throw with three seconds left.

"It was just like the first time we played, only the outcome was reversed," pointed out Goodridge coach John Rahn. "It was a good game all the way through. They just ended up beating us at the end."

The results left the Eagles at 7-6 and the Huskies at 5-9.

"I was really proud of the kids the way they came back," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "We had a tough game the night before (a 73-71 loss at Roseau), and you could see we were tired. But the kids found some reserve down the stretch and somehow got it done. We played really good defense at the end, and made some big baskets."

Goodridge sophomore Brady Wiseth led all scorers with 21 points. Engelstad led the Eagles with 18.

Grygla-Gatzke was 21-for-50 from the field (42 percent) but just 6-for-17 at the free throw line. Goodridge went 20-for-50 from the floor (40 percent) and, like the Eagles, had trouble with at the line with a 10-for-21 showing. The Huskies finished with a 30-22 rebound edge.

Open volleyball for adults is arranged at Northrop School

Adult open volleyball will be offered Feb. 5 and 19 beginning at 7 p.m. in the Northrop School gym, under the sponsorship of the United Methodist Church.

The competition is strictly friendly, and there are no concrete teams, note program organizers. Adults of all ages are welcome, free of charge. Child care will be provided for a minimal fee by calling the United Methodist Church office at 681-4388 to make arrangements (they appreciate as much advance notice as possible so adequate child care staff is on hand).

Names added to Weight Club

Lincoln High School recently completed its second weight-testing dates for the 1992-93 school year, and weight room supervisor Jeff Mumm said he was excited about the number of student-athletes who have made "tremendous" strength gains.

During the tests, student-athletes can earn t-shirts in a variety of different lifts, pointed out Mumm, including bench, press, squat, leg press, back squad, seated power press, and barbell curl.

There are also Bump Boards, where the top three lifters are listed in each grade for the bench press, seated power press, squat, leg press, and back squat, along with a Top Five All-Time listing.

Most prestigious listing, according to Mumm is the Big 3 Club, where members must lift a required amount of weight according to how much they weigh. "This is the toughest club we have," pointed out Mumm. Newest members include freshman Jason Breiland, along with sophomores Jason Hruby and Brian Howe.

"These incentives have given our student-athletes something to shoot for each and every testing date," said Mumm, who gave special thanks to the weight room support provided by the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club.

Kittson Central tops Wolverines by 78-41

Goodridge/Grygla got off to an 8-2 start, but then lost ground in a hurry Saturday as the Wolverines fell to Kittson Central 78-41 in girls high school basketball at Hallock.

The Wolfpack had quarter leads of 21-11, 43-22 and 58-31.

"They (Kittson Central) have a nice team, but defensively, that was the worst job we've done all year," reported Goodridge/Grygla coach Mike Gast. "We did not play well defensively at all. We didn't contest their shots. I wasn't happy with our effort defensively."

The winners had three double figure scorers, including Rachel Olsonawski with 18 points, Karen Larson 17 and Krista Boman 15. Kristy Johnson had a 15-point game to lead the Wolverines, with Brandi Stratton netting 10.

"Kristy Johnson played very well," noted Gast. "She got some points for us, and she worked hard on defense."

The Wolverines shot 33 percent from the field (16/48), while the Wolfpack shot 49 percent (34/70). Goodridge/Grygla went 5-for-8 at the free throw line, where Kittson Central was 10-for-17. The Wolfpack finished with a 31-22 rebound edge.

Gators post win at Lake of the Woods

Ryan Rislow scored 23 points, and Matt Kuznia had a 20-point, 10-rebound game Friday as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River overcame a slow start to beat Lake of the Woods 73-50 in boys high school basketball at Baudette.

The underdog Bears had an 18-15 first quarter lead and trailed only 35-30 at halftime before falling behind 53-38 in the third quarter.

"They (Bears) played a good first 10-11 minutes," noted Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "They played aggressive basketball, their shots were going in and they were getting the free throws."

However, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River turned it up a notch on defense in the second half and the game turned in the Gators' favor as they moved to 13-1 for the year.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went 33-for-77 from the field (43 percent) and 2-for-6 at the free throw line. Lake of the Woods had a 20-for-49 game from the field (41 percent), but struggled with an 8-for-20 free throw showing. The Gators had a 47-28 rebound advantage, with the Bears topping the turnover charts 18-15.

Ruffed Grouse Projects

Lake of the Woods Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society has awarded Red Lake Wildlife Management Area (Norris Camp) $8,500 for two habitat projects in the Warroad/Roseau area.

Both projects may or may not be completed this winter, depending on frost conditions which dictate how well heavy equipment can operate on wet sites.

Goodridge balance downs Valley North

Four Goodridge scorers hit double figures Friday as the Huskies beat Valley North 64-52 in boys high school basketball at Oslo.

Brady Wiseth led the balanced Goodridge attack with 18 points, while Travis Kotrba netted 15, Mitch Smsky 13, and Eldon Quam 12. Quam and Kotrba also reached double figures in rebounds with 15 and 1B, respectively, as the Huskies out-boarded the Raiders 44-35.

Goodridge led 10-9 at the end of the first quarter, but fell behind 29-15 at halftime. The Huskies went on a 21-8 third quarter scoring run to cut the gap to 37-36, then kept the offense coming over the final eight minutes to finish a 49-23 second half scoreboard advantage.

"The first half we stunk it up," admitted Goodridge coach John Rahn. "We did a much better job in the second half.

Travis Boman led the Raiders with 12 points.

Shooting was not a Goodridge strong point. The Huskies were only 21-for-60 from the field (35 percent) and just 16-for-30 at the free throw line.

Valley North also had trouble from the field, matching the 35 percent Goodridge figure with a 19-for-55 showing. The Raiders had better success at the line, but it was a quieter 8-for-10 effort.

Scoring

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | T |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Goodridge | 10 | 5 | 21 | 28 | 64 |
| Valley North | 9 | 20 | 8 | 15 | 52 |

Goodridge - Ryan Kriel 6, Brady Wiseth 18, Travis Kotrba 15, Mitch Smsky 13, Eldon Quam 12.

Valley North - Jared Sande 8, Larry Dauksavage 11, Travis Boman 12, Ken Vasek 7, Jeremy Boman 2, Jason Morberg 4.

Grygla-Gatzke beaten by Roseau rally, 73-71

Unable to hold onto a 20-point first half lead, Grygla-Gatzke wound up in a down-to-the-wire shoot-out at Roseau Friday, losing a 73-71 boys high school basketball game.

"We had a great first half, but a lousy final 12 minutes," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson.

The Eagles enjoyed a 22-10 first quarter lead and had a 45-29 cushion when halftime arrived, but were out-scored 44-26 in the second half.

Roseau cut the difference to 55-51 by the end of the third quarter and converted a Grygla-Gatzke turnover with 15 seconds left into into a 15-foot game-winning basket by a heavily-guarded Jason Boroos with four seconds showing.

A desperation half-court toss by the Eagles' Scott Rindahl was in-and-out at the buzzer.

"It was a frustrating loss," acknowledged Johnson. "It was a real roller-coaster ride."

Both sides had four double figure scorers. The Rams were led by Jeff Taylor with 23 points, while Rindahl and Rick Warne netted 17 apiece for the Eagles.

It was a banner shooting night on both sides as Grygla-Gatzke hit 27 of 39 attempts from the field (69 percent) and Roseau sank 31 of 52 (60 percent), and yet each side had trouble at the free throw line, where the Eagles were 15-for-23 and the Rams went 11-for-23.

Grygla-Gatzke finished with a 24-19 rebound edge. The turnovers were even at 16-apiece.

Scoring

|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Roseau - Jason Hammerback 3, Dustin Flaten 11, Jason Boroos 2, Scott Lunos 13, Dave Pankratz 13, Greg Pladson 8, Jeff Taylor 23.

Two area bars searched for illegal gaming

Last week, investigators of the Gambling Enforcement division of the Minnesota Department of Public Safety, executed a search warrant at a Thief River Falls bar and at a Middle River bar and lounge in order to obtain evidence of illegal gaming. Information and evidence collected from investigations and search warrants will be turned over to the county attorneys for determination of whether formal criminal charges will be filed.

Dan Boykin of the Gambling Enforcement Division said that at 10:15 a.m. on Friday, January 29, 1993, a search warrant was executed at the Wagon Wheel bar in Middle River. During the search, 25 number boards and $3,856 was seized along with evidence of previous illegal gaming.

At 11:30 a.m. on the same day a search warrant was executed at the Rusty Nail in Thief River Falls. According to Boykin, nothing was found. Evidence and information pertaining to the search and investigation, however, will be turned over to county attorneys in Marshall and Pennington counties for possible prosecution of formal charges.

An examination of the search warrant application for the Rusty Nail shows that the state was after gambling paraphernalia and devices consisting of, but not limited to, 100 number sports boards, U.S. currency, cashier and personal checks, money orders, savings account passbooks, safe deposit box keys, miscellaneous paperwork which tend to show constructive possession to the above listed articles and miscellaneous paperwork which shows ownership of the premises and employee work schedules. The application for a warrant at the Rusty Nail also alleges that prior to execution of the search warrant, a special agent for the Gambling Enforcement division was able to place a $5 bet on a sports board and while at the bar had noticed other sports betting paraphernalia.

One of the most common questions asked of Boykin's department is, "since it's okay for Indians to provide gambling on reservations why isn't it okay to have gambling off reservations?" Boykin said that from his department's perspective, gambling on Indian reservations under the approved state and federal compacts is legal. Unapproved gambling off a reservation is illegal. It is his department's duty to maintain the integrity between lawful and unlawful gambling.

Boykin said this is a busy time of the season for his office because so many make bets on the outcome of the Super Bowl. Gambling on the outcome of a sporting event (professional or amateur), however, is a federal and state offense. The monetary amount is not a consideration but Boykin said his office has gone after the ones that involve substantial sums of money.

As of Monday afternoon, Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin had not received information on the search warrant executed in Pennington county.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota has made Dakota Medical Center part of an exciting new way to deliver high-quality, high-value health care. We've been selected as one of 10 facilities to provide cardiac care under the new Project HealthVision Cardiac Network, involving patients covered by the Blue Plus® plan.

Under the Project HealthVision Cardiac Network, patients will be referred to a select provider, such as Dakota Medical Center, for five designated procedures in our comprehensive cardiac program.

Dakota Medical Center is the only medical facility in North Dakota named to the network, joining hospitals in the Twin Cities, Duluth and Sioux Falls.

We've Proven Our Ability To Deliver High-Quality Care.

The Project HealthVision Cardiac Network uses patient outcome data and other quality care measurements to determine where patients will receive the highest quality care. It's part of a "new generation" in managing health care, built on a framework of cooperation to achieve consistently excellent care.

We'll Network With Other Institutions To Provide Optimum Care.

The network will enable us to share the latest cardiac information in partnership with other network providers, which is valuable in recognizing factors that affect prevention, diagnosis and treatment for cardiac patients.

As more cardiac patients are treated at Dakota Medical Center, our doctors and staff acquire even more knowledge and expertise, leading to optimum patient care.

We're Proud Of The Quality Care We Strive To Deliver Every Day.

Everyone at Dakota Medical Center is proud to be part of this new cardiac care network. We believe our designation reflects the high quality of care we strive to deliver every day, in every department and in every aspect of health care.

Newfolden bank earns MBA award

Marshall County State Bank of Newfolden is a first place winner in the third annual Community Relations award program of the Minnesota Bankers Association. The bank won the award in the division for banks with less than $50 million in assets.

According to the MBA, the Newfolden bank is being honored for founding an alumni association and support group for Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden after a tragic fire destroyed the school building. The school was replaced and serves the communities of Newfolden, Viking and Holt.

Winners will be honored at a special luncheon February 4 in St. Paul during the MBA senior bank management conference. They are also featured in the MBA Community Relations Report which highlights the community contributions of the banking industry.

Second place in the division was won by the First National Bank of Herman and third by the Security State Bank of Mankato.

Mr. and Mrs. Curdis Nelson of Thief River Falls came back from Mazatlan, Mexico, with a big fish story to tell. While on a Bergan Travel cruise the two participated in a deep sea fishing contest on January 25 with Star Fleet. Curdis said they left at about 9 a.m. and were about 30 miles out in the ocean when at about noon something struck the line. He said it took him about one hour and 15 minutes with 60-pound test line to land this 205 pound, 9 and one-half foot long striped Marlin. They were the only ones on their boat to catch anything. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are both retired and say it was quite a time. When the day was over they learned that they had won first place in the fishing contest.

Northwest Minn. unemployment rate increases

Northwestern Minnesota's unemployment rate was 6.6 per cent during November, up 1.9 percent from October and down 2.5 per cent from last November, according to the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training.

Pennington county had a 6 per cent unemployment rate; Kittson county was at 7 per cent; Marshall county was at 11.2 percent, up 4.1 percent since October; Norman county was at 6 per cent; Polk county had a 6.1 per cent rate.

Roseau county had the lowest unemployment rate in the region at 4.5 per cent, down from 9.7 per cent in November 1991.

Red Lake county had the highest unemployment rate in the region and second highest in the state at 13.4 per cent. This percentage was up from 10.7 in October, but down from 2 per cent a year ago.

Other counties with the state's highest unemployment include Clearwater, Hubbard, Carlton and Crow Wing. Clearwater was the highest at 15 per cent unemployed.

Minnesota's unemployment rate increased from 4 per cent in October to 4.7 per cent in November. The U.S. unemployment rate in November was 7 per cent up from 6.8 per cent in October. A year ago the unemployment rate in Minnesota was 4.9 per cent and nationally it was 6.6 per cent.

Seasonally adjusted, Minnesota's unemployment rate in November was 5.3 per cent, up from 4.6 per cent in October but below the year ago rate of 5.4 per cent. The state's unemployment rate has been below the year ago rate for five consecutive months. The U.S. seasonally adjusted unemployment rate decreased slightly for the fifth consecutive month from 7.4 per cent in October to 7.2 per cent in November, remaining higher than a year ago when it was 6.9 per cent.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area unemployment rate rose to 4.2 per cent in November from 3.8 per cent in October.

Counties in the Southwest and Southeast Regions had the lowest rate in November, averaging 4.1 per cent. Counties in the northern part of the state surrounding Bemidji had the highest unemployment rate in November, averaging 8.2 per cent. By county, November unemployment rates ranged from 3 per cent in Nicollet county to 15 per cent in Clearwater county.

The monthly survey of employers showed a decrease of 4,200 jobs from a month ago. However, after adjusting for seasonal factors, there was virtually no change in the number of jobs between October and November.

This marked only the second time in the past twelve months that there wasn't seasonally adjusted job growth. The strong seasonal influences in the November figures included an early winter storm in Greater Minnesota which curtailed construction activity, the completion of canning activity in food products manufacturing industry, and the end of tourism jobs in resorts, amusement and recreation services.

These job cutbacks more than offset seasonal hiring in retail trade and educational services. Beyond these seasonal movements, there were small job losses spread throughout the durable goods manufacturing industries and additional layoffs in mining and airline transportation.

The number of wage and salary jobs in Minnesota was up by 52,700 from a year ago, a 2.4 per cent increase. By comparison the number of jobs nationally was up by only .4 per cent in November from a year ago. Minnesota's annual job growth appears especially strong this month when compared to employment in November 1991 which was adversely affected by the Halloween blizzard.

Job growth over the past year in Minnesota's industries have led the job expansion, adding 28,800 jobs since last year, a 5.1 per cent increase.

Only the mining and the transportation/utilities industries have fewer jobs than a year ago. Both of these industries have about 100 fewer jobs than a year ago, but have experience increased layoff activity in recent months.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

Jesus is our example

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Jesus always did things that were pleasing to the Father (John 8:29). He did this by constantly doing the Father's Will instead of His own (John 6:38). He was constantly doing righteousness in regard to all His deeds (Psalm 145:17). He gave money to the poor (John 13:29). He helped those who had no helper. He gave money to people, expecting nothing in return (Luke 6:35). He was constantly giving and doing good for the Father and, as a result, He never gave in to temptation (Luke 6:38; 1 Peter 3:13; Matt. 4:10). Jesus was overcoming evil by doing good (Rev. 3:21).

Jesus told people they should repent and live the righteous life by glorifying the Father with good works and thus, be lights and examples to others (Matt. 5:16; Titus 2:14). He loved His enemies and proved it by doing good to them (Matt. 5:44). By living to please only God in His life, by doing God's Will instead of His own, He showed us how to be perfect (Matt. 5:48). Jesus did so many acts of kindness, it would be impossible to record all the good things He did (John 21:25). Jesus glorified the Father while He was here on earth by doing His Father's Will as it is done in heaven (John 7:17; 17:4; Matt. 6:10).

By performing these acts of kindness, Jesus overcame His fleshly nature (Rom. 8:3; 12:21; John 16:33). He was made perfect because He was involved in the perfection process—the process God gave Jesus Christ to show people how easily it could be done (Heb. 5:9; 12:23; John 5:19; Matt. 11:29-30). It had to be easy and pleasant because God is not calling many who are wise, but the lowly (1 Cor. 1:26-27).

Yes, where there is a will, there is a way. Now you know the Will, so now you know the Way. Follow the example of Jesus Christ and overcome (Eph. 5:1).

"We are pleased to state that at last our village is entirely free from diphtheria. We have had in all nearly twenty cases of the disease and all are to be congratulated upon the fact that only three deaths ensued. Had it not been for the prompt sanitary measures taken to stop the spread of the disease, it would undoubtedly have done much more damage. Upon the approach of spring, however, all must be exceedingly cautious and all refuse must be cleaned up in the strictest manner possible."

The Times' Editorial Opinion

Social Security Backlogs Building

Advocates of leaving it up to the federal government to solve the problems of health care costs, including prescription drugs and fees for medical service, would do well to pay close attention to the government's handling of another federal program—Social Security.

When all is going according to procedure and schedule, the Society Security system seems to perform quite well. But when there are questions to be answered and decisions to be made that require people instead of computers, the system bogs down and people suffer.

Ron Pollack, executive director of Families USA Foundation, claims that there are 6,700 too few Social Security employees and that waiting lines for service are growing. He says that cutting corners on Social Security has resulted in an unresponsive system simply because there aren't enough people to do the work.

"Here's how bad it is," he says. "Four months is the average wait for Americans to find out if the help they need is on the way when a disabling injury or illness strikes! And by the end of 1993 the average wait will increase to over six months! Cuts in Social Security staffing have create massive backlogs and outrageous waiting lines for aid.

"These people cannot afford to wait. Each day's delay is one more day without essential medication or income. In the worst cases, the delays can mean permanent disability. Or death. The pain, financial hardship and loss of life that these delays cause are disgraceful and inexcusable. The backlog could be easily relieved if we as a nation stopped cutting corners on Social Security staffing."

Pollack points to the specific case of a disabled veteran who spent most of his 20 years in the work force as a grocery clerk—paying Social Security every week—before his disabilities finally forced him to stop working. He applied for Social Security disability insurance—and the waiting began.

After six months of waiting he was informed his application had been denied. Convinced that he qualified for the benefits, he appealed the decision.....and the waiting began again. Two years have gone by since his first application and he is still waiting to meet with a judge to hear his case! During that time the man has lost his home and his savings.

"Why would someone who has worked for over two decades and contributed to Social Security the whole time be forced to wait two years for his appeal to be listened to?" Pollack asks. "In Larry's case, his application was lost by an employee in an over-burdened, under-staffed Social Security office. And his case is not unusual."

According to the Social Security Administration's own projections, the backlog of disability claims will reach 1.2 million by the end of next year, and the wait for a decision will average 189 days—more than six months! And if a rejected applicant appeals, handling of the appeal will take an additional 294 days! This degree of waiting is intolerable in situations where need is immediate, assistance is essential and money is available.

"The money for benefits is available," Pollack points out. "We all contribute. But corner-cutting on staff means that we don't get our money's worth when we need the help we have earned."

Certainly there will be claims that should be denied, but it should not take 14 months for a final decision. This is an area that should be addressed by the Congress and Administration before trying to move into new program areas.

Restaurants, Hotels And Resorts "Losers" In Gambling Explosion

Hotels, restaurants and resorts are supposed to be among businesses to benefit from gambling in Minnesota, but according to a survey of owners of these facilities it doesn't seem to be working out that way. A survey by the Minnesota Restaurant, Hotel and Resort Associations of its more than 2,000 member businesses resulted in a survey return of 45 per cent (908 returns)—an unprecedented indication of interest in a single subject.

Because of multiple ownership, the three associations represent more than 2,300 hospitality business units in Minnesota, the vast majority of which are small, family-owned and operated businesses. Of those responding to the survey, 76 per cent have fewer than 50 employees and 50 per cent have fewer than 15 employees.

Thirty-eight per cent of the respondents say business has been lost due to gambling while only 10 per cent say business is up because of gambling. Casinos are cited by 70 per cent as the primary reasons for these changes. Looking to the future, 53 per cent expect business to decline due to gambling, 32 per cent say they expect no change and 10 per cent say business will be up because of gambling.

Asked about the negative aspects of gambling most affecting their business, 62 per cent cited the loss of discretionary recreation dollars and 47 per cent said there is an unlevel playing field.

A total of 180 members of the association say they have eliminated nearly 1,100 jobs due to gambling while 16 members said they have created nearly 150 jobs. Projecting these figures to the entire membership would indicate a loss of 2,200 jobs and gain of 300 jobs in the state. As for the state's entire hospitality industry, it would seem likely that several thousand more jobs have been lost, primarily in the restaurant industry, where more than half of the job loss has occurred.

Slightly over half the respondents said gambling is having a negative affect on their community and 11 per cent said the affect is positive. Fourteen per cent said gambling is having no impact and 24 per cent say they don't know.

When given the choice of opening gambling to all businesses in the state or eliminating all forms of gambling in Minnesota, 37.5 per cent wanted to open it up, 37.4 per cent wanted to eliminate it entirely and 25.1 per cent had no opinion.

According to Revenue for Main Street Minnesota, a coalition of municipal\ business and charitable organizations, hospitality business owners, workers and suppliers seeking legislation to allow state-regulated, privately owned and operating video gaming in Minnesota's hospitality establishments, the hospitality industry has lost about $1 billion or 25 per cent of total industry revenues in recent years. The industry directly and indirectly employs about 400,000 people in Minnesota.

C of C says no to city sales tax

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce board of directors has voted not to support a city sales tax.

Regan Rohl, membership director, said that at a noon meeting on Friday, the board unanimously voted to not support the sales tax issue for the city. The board stipulated in its decision that it did not support the sales tax for the following reasons:

First, the initial bill brought before the state legislature included the twin objectives or purposes of economic development and development of tourism. When it came back from the legislature, economic development had been removed from the proposal.

Rohl explained that the main directive of the chamber, as this board sees it, is to encourage economic development. When that was removed from the original bill, the reason to support the bill disappeared.

Secondly, the board said that the proposal did not list one good project that the board could get behind or needed to get behind and support.

Third, they believe the proposal needs further study. Rohl said the board wants to know how it will impact communities outside of Thief River Falls. Rohl said Thief River Falls' trade area includes many communities.

Rohl said that if the bill was brought before the legislature and approved with the economic development clause, the chamber might support the proposal, but there would still have to be a clear project for them to support, and an economic impact study that would explain the impact on area communities.

Rohl said the decision of the board was unanimous.

Middle River student dies from gunshot

School officials in Middle River elected to continue school after a 14-year-old student shot himself in a school band room Monday.

A spokesperson for the Marshall County Sheriff's department said Tuesday that the sheriff's department had received a call from the principal of the school at 8:07 a.m. Monday, February 8. Principal Eldon Sparby reported that a student had been found shot in the school's music room. Sheriff Dennis Brekke and Deputy Herb Maurstad made the investigation at the school and after talking with a witness, school officials and after checking the scene, determined that Eric John Melby, 14, had died from a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Eric is the son of Linda and John Melby of route 1, Middle River.

Principal Sparby said that they had elected to continue school as usual. Sparby said that at the time of the shooting, there were three students in another studio and one piano teacher in the main room. The teacher heard the noise and went to investigate. She quickly secured the room. She told students not to go in the room and went to inform the principal of the shooting.

No student witnessed the shooting or was allowed in the room. Sparby said on Monday they brought in about a dozen counselors and social workers to help students. In the coming weeks the school plans to have additional staff on hand so that students will have someone to talk to.

Sparby said he had no idea why the student had a gun in the school.

Marshall county authorities did not state what type of gun was used nor did they speculate on the reason why a gun was brought to the school. In addition, there was no mention of a note.

A family service will be held 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 10, at Our Saviour's Lutheran church at Thief Lake. Visitation at Collin's Funeral Home in Middle River will be from 5 p.m. Wednesday, February 10.

Funeral services will be held 2 p.m. Thursday, February 11, at First Lutheran Church in Middle River.

Choir telethon raises grand total of $12,500

Lincoln high school choir's telethon to raise funds for its Easter Sunday performance in Carnegie Hall in New York City closed at 7 p.m. Sunday with an announced $10,800 pledged toward the $13,000 needed to meet all obligations for the trip.

Review of pledge sheets following the telethon, however, revealed that one sheet of recorded pledges had not been included in the total added during the event. Addition of these pledges, which totaled $1,700, boosted the total amount pledged to $12,500.

Vocal music instructor Darcy Reese expressed enthusiastic appreciation from the choir members, their parents, choir boosters and herself for the public support received during the telethon and throughout prior fund raising for the New York City trip. She said a formal thank-you will be published at a later date when the effort has been completed.

She said that persons making pledges during the telethon and others who would like to make a contribution toward the trip should send the money to LHS Choir, P.O. Box 267, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Receipt of funds as soon as possible would be appreciated, she said, since there are major expenses to be paid in the next week.

One more fund-raiser remains for the choir—a ham dinner to be served Sunday, February 28, with a price of $5 for adults and $3 for children. Tickets for the dinner went on sale by choir members on Tuesday.

Arrangements for the telecast on Cable Channel 13 in Thief River Falls were made in cooperation with Sjoberg's Cable TV and the Thief River Falls Technical College where the telecast originated. Don Jorstad of the technical college staff coordinated the telecast with assistance from a number of broadcasting students at the school—most of whom were getting their first experience behind TV cameras.

Maryel Anderson worked the six-hour telethon from 1 to 7 p.m. as emcee with assistance from Sharon Fugleberg (who also was the mystery pianist performing in costume at the end of the program), J. J. Womack, Curt Quesnell and Jane Mattson.

A number of local business places made donations to the choir in exchange for videotaped commercials which were taken by the choir members and director and broadcast during the telethon.

Freshman choir member Lise Swanson captured the rapt attention of listeners to the Lincoln high school choir telethon with a vocal solo that showed exceptional talent.

Darcy Reese, director of the Lincoln high school choir, added her talents to the choir's telethon Sunday, singing "Ain't Misbehavin'" and "Great Balls of Fire."

30 file for Co. sheriff's job

About 30 people have filed for the position of Pennington County Sheriff.

At the close of accepting applications, 4:30 p.m. Monday, February 8, the Pennington county auditor's office said they had received 30 applications for the position. The position became available on December 18 when Sheriff Bob Wold retired. At the time deputy sheriff Ray Kuznia was named acting sheriff, the county began advertising for sheriff.

Under state law, any unfulfilled term, other than for county commissioner, is appointed for the remainder of the term by the county commission. On Tuesday, February 9, the county board will review the applications and begin the process of naming candidates to be interviewed.

The term of sheriff expires at the end of 1994. The advertisement for sheriff requested applicants be able to meet qualifications outlined in state statute, have previous experience in supervision of employees, excellent communication skills; and excellent budgeting skills. The sheriff is also responsible for Civil Defense Duties. The salary range for the position is between $35,000 and $40,000.

"Lowell and Marjorie Swenson are again reaching back in appreciation to provide quality educational opportunities to others," Strinden said in regard to the donation.

"They remain uncommon in their loyalty and dedication to the University of North Dakota. This endowment will in future years motivate countless individuals to productive and fulfilling lives. ## Patrick Jaeger sentenced in Ninth District Court

Patrick Jaeger was sentenced in Ninth District court in Pennington county Tuesday on charges stemming from a domestic assault.

Jaeger, who was charged with felony terroristic threats, fifth degree assault and criminal damage to property following the incident, pled guilty to the charge of terroristic threats in the plea agreement Tuesday. The charges of fifth degree assault and criminal damage to property were dismissed.

Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy placed Jaeger on five years probation, sentenced him to six months in jail and ordered a fine of $1,000. The jail term and $750 of the fine were then stayed. According to the prosecutor, Jaeger was ordered not to have any contact with the victims, and to complete a "drug and a batterer's" program in Fargo, ND, where he now resides. In addition he is to pay the remainder of the fine and costs totaling $332.50 and have no further law violations in the county.

"AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION"

Woodburning stoves provide warmth, comfort, and attractive supplemental heating as well as a certain household charm. But make no mistake about it - woodburning stoves also constitute a fire hazard, particularly if there is careless installation or misuse of the unit. A checklist for woodburning stoves is always helpful.

-There must be proper clearances between the stove and floors, walls and ceilings.
-Place the stove on a noncombustible, fire resistant base.
-Burn only dry, well-seasoned wood.
-If possible, avoid extending the stove pipe through a wall or ceiling.
-Never connect a wood stove to a chimney serving another unit burning other fuels.

Awareness of the dangers of fire is critical - not only for young children, but also adults, who often can be less cautious than they should be.

If you have a woodburning stove, or are planning to install one, NORTHERN STATE AGENCY can provide you with specific guidelines for its safe usage. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon.-Fri., 8:30-6:00 Thurs.
